NEWS FROM CAROLINA.

Cummock, Rt. 1, June 4.—Just a few lines to let the readers of The Record know that we are getting on so nicely. Our Sunday school is one of the best, and we are fortunate to have a good speaker nearly every Sunday to make a good talk for us.

We will have Children's Day the fourth Sunday in June, that being June 24th, Dr. J. D. Gregg, from Siler City, also Colin G. Shaw, of Pittsboro, and others will make speeches on this occasion. This will insure a good time for everybody and the public is invited to come. Dinner will be served on the ground.

There being something like 130 on the Sunday school roll, a good program by the children is anticipated. There will be good music and singing. C. T. Desern has promised to be present and lead the singing and to have others that will join in.

Mr. A. F. Hunter, who has been sick for a long while, is improving slowly, his many friends will be glad to know.

Mrs. G. N. Smith, who has been suffering from rheumatism is better and was an attendant at Sunday school last Sunday.

The planer, grist mill and blacksmith shop are all doing a good business. A store is expected to be established here shortly and soon Carolina will be a thriving little village.

Mr. Carl J. Rives has completed the painting of his dwelling and Mr. Clarence R. Gilmore will have his home painted in a few days. This helps the looks of these homes wonderfully.

Don't Always Blame Hens When Eggs Are Scarce.

Rats may be getting them—U. S. Government Bulletins prove they know how to get them. Break a cake of RAT-SNAP into small pieces and place where rats travel. If there, RAT-SNAP will get them—positively. Three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by W. L. London and Son, Chatham Hardware and Pilkington Pharmacy.

Alonzo Gibson, of Washington, Pa., is 35 years old but he never misses a circus. He was arrested for drunkenness but the judge let him off when he took an oath not to drink a drop in one year. He wanted to go to a circus next day.

The champion woman shopper has been found. Mrs. Emma Lee died at her home in Quilon, Ohio, and in a room was found $75,000 worth of unpacked goods such as 90 washtubs, 400 boxes of candy, baby carriages and an unpacked piano and many other things.

ABOUT COTTON CO-OPS.

Dear Editor:—Permit a few words for doings of the Co-ops. The cotton co-ops of district No. 6, met at Raleigh May 22 at 2 p. m. in the city court room and nominated on official ballot for its coming election June 11. This convention was composed of delegates who represented the co-operatives in the counties from which they came. Hence the ballot was named by the members themselves.

Only two men were nominated, one of which must be elected as director for our district for the coming year. The first man put before the house was James H. Mitchiner, of Franklin county, a young man who seemed to be very capable and to have a zeal to see the work go forward in North Carolina.

The second man was Felix M. McKay, of Harnett county, a man of mature years, who has spent his life tilling the soil. He had every appearance of being a worthy man for the office of district director. These two men were duly nominated and their names will be sent on official ballot to each member who will vote for the man of his choice.

The convention named a committee to write a brief history of the lives of the two men so members can choose wisely.

We were sorry that the condition of Brother B. O. Townsel's health, who is present director for our district, forbid letting us run his name again. We feel that the experience he has had this year might enable him to do more for us next year than he could do this year. The convention named a committee to draw up resolutions of respect and appreciation for Brother Townsel's loyal service. A copy of the same is to be sent to Brother Townsel, printed in the Co-Operator, and recorded in our minutes.

Harnett, Franklin, Wake and Lee counties were well represented with wide-awake enthusiastic members, while Chatham was represented by only one man. Brethren we need to wake up—we need to handle the marketing end of our commodities more intelligently. Perhaps I will tell you about some Hilltop speeches made at the convention later, especially one by Mr. T. E. Hoklen, of Wake Forest, on "Loyalty."

There are many things that I would like to talk to my brother farmers about along lines of co-operative marketing, showing achievements made so far, and pointing out tasks that lie before us, and so on and I may take time to discuss a few of these things during the summer through the county paper if the editor has space for us.

Yours in the cause,
N. J. DARK.
