This comes from a Union county farmer. "I formerly used my muscle and made 12 bales of cotton on 23 acres of land. Now I use my brain and muscle and make 12 bales on 12 acres and am getting the value of 12 bales from my cows. My milk checks are now 200 per month." County agent T. J. W. Broom says that the boll weevil isn't disturbing this man.

Hammock and Harper, wood and iron workers, whose place of business is on the eastern limits of Pittsboro, have enlarged their workshop 14x29 feet and are now better prepared to fill all order than ever. They have recently purchased a band saw, planer and other tools which will enable them to do their work more quickly. They are deserving the patronage of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Travis Moore have returned from Norfolk.

If all those people who are talking of building homes this fall carry out their plans, then Pittsboro will begin to look like there is going to be something doing. The Record man counted nine of our progressive citizens who propose to stop paying rent after this year.

Chatham School Trucks.

In Sunday's Greensboro News is a tabulated statement of the number of school trucks in the different counties of the State and the number of pupils these trucks carried. Chatham county is put down at one truck that carried 35 children to school. The truth of the matter is, Chatham has six trucks and they carry 235 pupils and return them home in the afternoon. And many days these trucks have to make two trips.

Mr. Jordan Returns.

Mr. E. H. Jordan, manager of The Hardware Store, Siler City, has returned from an extended trip through Georgia, having made the trip by auto. The distance from Siler City was more than 1,000 miles round trip and he had no misfortune.

Mr. Jordan spent most of his time in and around Rome, Ga., and he speaks highly of the section he visited. Mrs. Jordan and her sister, Miss Anna Davis, returned with Mr. Jordan and Miss Davis will spend some time in Siler City.

Mrs. Jordan has been spending several weeks with her father, Mr. I. F. Davis, in Rome.

Saint Swithins Day.

Sunday, July 15th, was St. Swithin's day. According to an old proverb, dated back to 868, "If on St. Swithin's Day it proves fair, a temperate winter will follow; but if rainy, stormy, or windy, then the contrary." In other words, if it rains on that day, then for forty days it will rain. On the other hand, if it is fair, it will continue fair for that length of time. We will now see if the old proverb is true. Not a drop of rain fell in Pittsboro Sunday.

The old saying was wrong. Pittsboro had a regular downpour of rain Monday which goes to prove that all old sayings are not true.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND

Mr. Henry Bynum, local dealer for the Case tractor, has shown us a copy of The Case Eagle, a magazine published at Racine, Wis., by the J. I. Case T. M. Co. In this issue is an interesting account of the production of the one hundred thousandth Case threshing machine. As soon as the machine was completed it was delivered to a farmer who had his order in for one of the machines. The efficiency with which these machines are made and the easy manner in which they are operated, yet of durable construction and so reasonably priced, makes them popular with the public.
