

WORLD MUST BE REDEEMED.

Former President Woodrow Wilson, writing under the caption "Road Away From Revolution," for the August number of the Atlantic Monthly, sounds a note of warning that our civilization cannot survive materially unless it be redeemed spiritually.

This is the first time since his illness that Mr. Wilson has made public his views upon present day problems in the United States and throughout the world. They will be preserved in permanent form between covers.

Causes of Distress.

"In these dreadful and anxious days when all the world is at unrest and look which way you will the road ahead seems darkened by shadows which portend dangers of many kinds it is," says the one who commanded the ship of state during the World War, "only common prudence that we should look about us and attempt to assess the causes of distress and the most likely means of removing them."

Then avoiding the partisan analysis of the existing state of American civilization the writer goes briefly to the root of the matter by making essentially what is a religious appeal for a better understanding between the "haves" and the "have nots."

"Real ground for the Universal unrest," he asserts, "lies deep at the sources of the spiritual life of our time, and leads to revolution."

WHITE SLAVERY CASE.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 28.—Mrs. Nina B. Allen is speeding toward Los Angeles with $2,500 to get her husband, Dr. Helon B. Allen out of jail.

Allen, known as the "father" of 57 children, mostly girls, was jailed in Los Angeles on a charge of violating the Mann act. He is being held on a warrant from Pittsburg charging him with bringing one of his "children" to Pittsburg from Sabot, Va., for immoral purposes.

Miss Gladith James Allen, the girl he brought to Pittsburg, is at present under the care of a children's service bureau. She will be the principal witness against Allen when he is returned here to face trial.

INDICT FOR INSCRIPTION.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 28.—Officials of Walker county, Georgia, have served notice that they will go before the Hamilton county grand jury here and seek an indictment against R. D. Baker for criminal libel, as the result of the erection over the grave of George Baker of a tombstone bearing an inscription to the effect that he was unjustly hanged by the state of Georgia for the murder of Deputy Sheriff J. W. Morton.

Local court officials expressed the opinion that it would be possible to secure an indictment under the Tennessee laws.

THE SUBJECT OF SIN.

Short Discourse by Olive on Disobedience of God.

Mr. Editor:—I want to talk a little on the subject of sin and I truly hope that what I say will be fully understood by all that may read it and I do trust that those who read it will gain some measure of profit from it.

Now, what is it and from whence did it appear, when God made the heavens and the earth and then made man and put him in the Garden of Eden, in a lovely, holy condition and gave him a commandment which they disobeyed. Therefore it was by disobedience to God, and it is so today.

Man wants success in business and wants to do well, yet he will refuse to serve and obey God. The heavenly father loves man but man refuses sinners, of course, being under nature while the unnatural man has been redeemed and is changed from nature to grace. Some believe that the body of flesh is the natural man, but they are sadly mistaken for our bodies are controlled by the inner man and the inner man being changed from all manner of sin both soul and body, is why he lives a different life from you. That is where the hypocrites express themselves and has not sense enough to know it, thereby exposing his ignorance.

Jesus well said that a corrupt tree cannot bring forth good fruit, that is the difference according to what Jesus said, and the hypocrite wants to divide man and to divide himself, and he is going on down to hell. Mark this: and therein he is a sinner, doing sinful deeds and we cannot wonder that the hypocrite thinks that everybody sins. Thank God it is not true, because the illustration of the tree proves otherwise.

God tells me in His word that I cannot sin and no human being can persuade me in any other manner. For what Jesus said is the truth, I have it and no man can take it away from me. I am determined to hold on to it.

Now in first John, third chapter and 9th verse we have the word. Dear reader look it up and read it and give God thanks. Therein it shows Christians that they are done sinning until Jesus comes and takes us home to rest. Let us look on the other side and what do we see? We see sin and nothing but sin. It is impossible for hypocrites and the sinners to live without sinning.

In John, 14th chapter, Jesus says He is coming again. Thank God, dear readers. He is coming again. If you question a sinner or a hypocrite as to whether he is ready to die, you scare him and he will say no, that he wants to stay here as long as he can.

Dear sinner, God loves you, but He says the time cometh when He will give you justice. Knowing this, I ask you to begin praying and begging God to forgive you of your sins, or else you will be lost forever and eternally.

Repent now and be born of God and be saved. J. T. OLIVE. Pinelevel, N. C.

LEAD, NOT FOLLOW.

The order of mind possessed by the man who steps out from the crowd and goes, is the order of mind that will recognize opportunities and grasp them. The man who will take no risk, usually. Like a child in the primary department, he is under the control of stronger minds, and he remains an underling until he wakes up to his conscious manhood and asserts his right of initiative.

Faith in one's own ability and the value of one's own ideas is the first requirement for notable achievement. Most men have enough originality to work out a successful career, but they don't believe in themselves. They will discard an idea that comes into their own minds but hail it with belief and interest if read in the paper or suggested by another. Like the case of the family physician; a mother may know perfectly well what to do for her sick child, but she does not apply this knowledge with assurance until the doctor calls and tells her to do so.

Twelve Things to Remember.

1. The value of time.
2. The success of perseverance.
3. The pleasure of working.
4. The dignity of simplicity.
5. The worth of character.
6. The power of kindness.
7. The influence of example.
8. The obligation of duty.
9. The wisdom of economy.
10. The virtue of patience.
11. The improvement of talent.
12. The joy of originating.

Magnetism was known 3,000 years ago. Ancient Greeks discovered blackstones in the vicinity of Magnesia in Lydia which had the power of attracting iron and were themselves attracted to each other by an invisible force. "Magnet" derives its name from its original point of discovery, "Magnesia."

Alvin M. Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, says, "It will take five years to write a sensible law to govern immigration and until that time the United States should bar those who are coming here seeking to avoid the consequences of a war which they brought upon themselves."

In Spanish cities at 11 o'clock at night the doors of all rooming houses are closed and locked. After that hour one can get in only by calling the guard or watchman of his particular block. This is an old Spanish custom which holds over to the present day in nearly all the cities of Spain. The watchman carries a lantern and the keys of all the houses under his charge.

A state law regulating aviation in Kansas supervises aerial flight, determines qualifications of pilots, prescribes uniform traffic rules and generally guards the interest of the public. The aircraft board has authority to issue licenses for airplanes at $20 and flyers at $10 a year. Cities are empowered to establish and maintain municipal aviation fields out of the city's funds.

"Candidate" is, originally, a Latin word which means "white." With the ancient Romans, at election time, those who were running for office were a "toga candida", a white mantle, emblem of the purity of their political intentions. A herald announced to the voters gathered in the forum: "tua res agitur" (your interest are to be attended to!) and then the tribunes took each candidate by the hand and led him around, presenting him to the crowd.

One of the world's greatest iron ore regions is located in the interior of Brazil. The ore-beds are pure and abundant and the only drawback to development lies in the lack of transportation. The natives smelt the ore and fashion it into utensils and farming implements by the crudest process known to modern man. With the abundant waterpower to develop current for electric furnaces, the economic development of this area will soon be solved. Brazil now imports large quantities of iron and sheet from other countries.

Labor recruiters penetrate to remote villages of Northern Argentine and with the promise of high wages induce Indians, their families to leave home. The laborers are transported on flat cars with accommodations worse than those provided for live stock. They are herded on estates under the open sky without sufficient food. They are hard workers, and their pay is practically nothing, their wages being in the form of orders, valid only at the plantation store, where they are charged exorbitant prices for the poorest quality of goods. If any balance is left at the end of the accounting, the workers are induced to spend it for liquors of which they are very fond. The national department of labor of Argentina is authority for this information.

Random Shots.

I shot an arrow into the air, it fell in the distance, I knew not where, till a neighbor said that it killed his calf, and I had to pay him six and a half ($6.50). I bought some poison to slay some rats, and a neighbor swore that it killed his cats; and rather than argue across the fence, I paid him four dollars and fifty cents ($4.50). One night I set sailing a toy balloon, and hoped it would soar till it reached the moon; but the candle fell out on a farmer's straw, and he said I must settle or go to law. And that is the way with the random shot; it never hits in the proper spot; and the joke you spring that you think so

BEING A MOTHER.

Dallas (Texas) News.

To be a mother, to be some man's inspiration, to live in the heart of the children, to be the center about which cluster life's holiest associations, surely this is the greatest blessing heaven can give, the greatest honor earth can bestow. When the sorrows and sacrifices, the loves and joys, dreams hopes, ambitions of prerogatives of motherhood are thine, woman, thou has come to thy kingdom.—Ralls Banner.

It is true. Being mother is about the biggest business woman can engage in. It takes about all of her time and engages her best talents. It fills her days with useful labor and often, her night with sleeplessness and dread. It demands of her sacrifices such as only women are brave and good enough to gladly make. It puts lines in her forehead and steals the pink from her cheeks. It brushes the curves from her figure and cheapens her raiment. It oppresses her in her eager young years. But it puts a song in her heart, it puts pride into her intelligence, it links her to eternity, and when the gray hairs come and age draws on apace it breathes solace into her spirit and sweetens the long afternoons of her life. The mother with worthy sons and daughters has been endowed by nature with companionship for her faltering steps and with a spiritual breadth and understanding that compasses the heights and depths of love—and love alone on this earth is worth while. Still, we do not believe that even motherhood should be overdone.

A Task.

To be honest, to be kind to earn a little and to spend a little less; to make upon the whole a family happier for his presence. To renounce when that shall be necessary and not be embittered. To keep a few friends but these without capitulation; above all on the same given condition to keep friends with himself. Here is a task for all that a man has of fortitude and delicacy.—Robert Louis Stevenson.
