

IS IT LOCUST YEAR?

We've been reading a good deal in the daily papers for the past several weeks about this being "locust year", and we note reports of considerable damage from these pests in several States. We are told that the locusts are insects which are now in full development after lying for 17 years in the ground. The grubs of the locust do the singing. The male locust does the singing. The female locust does the singing. She lays the eggs in the bark of trees and the limbs of small trees which soon hatch into grubs and fall into the ground, often to a burrow depth. The grub then undergoes various changes, and sheds his coat, until in the 17th year he becomes a full-grown locust. They are very destructive to crops and are doing great damage to fruit trees and in many instances cut-ting into the smaller trees so deeply as to ruin them, or to stunt their growth for all time to come. So far we have heard of no great damage being wrought in this immediate vicinity, the invasion seemingly being confined to a few widely scattered sections.

PLANTS GROWN IN POTS ARE THRIFTY

Vegetable or Flowering Stalks Should Be Transferred Several Times.

Pot-grown plants, vegetable or flowering plants, first started in the flats then transferred to small pots, then to larger ones, give the best satisfaction, and afford a sturdy plant that can be set into the open ground when the time comes.

There is a knack in the handling of plants for the pot-grown variety, but it is not difficult to grow them and the satisfaction obtained, as well as the pleasure, is most gratifying.

The pots for growing such plants do not have to be of the store kind. Paper pots can be made at home; old cans, round oatmeal cartons, and the like, serve the purpose well.

The soil preparation should be about the same kind as in the flats, with coarser soil, pebbles, broken flower pots and such, to afford drainage; an opening at the bottom of each being necessary.

Plants grown in this manner are more easy to handle when they are transferred to the open; the roots need not be disturbed, if removed when the soil is slightly damp. This will be advantageous to the plant, and it will immediately take hold.

The transferring process should be begun with the stronger plants in the flats when they are about one inch high. Select the best plants for transplanting. The flat should be watered well before the plants are removed, thus allowing dirt to cling to the roots, which should not be torn or cut, if possible to remove them intact.

PRUNE THE TREES AND VINES

Trimming and Spraying Only Sure Way to Obtain Good Crops Free From Disease.

Fruit trees and vines must be pruned, as well as sprayed, at the proper time. Growers cannot hope to obtain fruit from trees and vines that are neglected in this respect—and such treatment is necessary every year.

The early springtime is regarded as the best time to do this job, which should be done with the greatest of care, to save injury to the trees and vines.

If one is not experienced in the art, it would be well to get information from someone who knows; otherwise a valuable tree or vine may be ruined, or put out of possible bearing.

Spraying requires equal if not more knowledge than pruning. There are so many diseases of fruit trees and vines that one must be well versed in the subject to apply the proper spray at the proper time. Many trees and vines fall to produce because of being thoroughly saturated with disease.

GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME HERE.

Many Events Chronicled That Will Interest Our Many Readers.

Brickhaven, July 30.—Everything seems to be going nicely in our little village these long, summer days. The farmers are having a breathing spell—so to speak—the melons are deliciously ripe, and we can truly say: "The good old summer time."

The school question is being discussed more or less heatedly, but we are sure everything will be settled with the interest of all at heart. It is well for all to remember that there are two sides to every question and that it always pays to take into consideration the views of both factors.

Little Miss Grace Harrington, after a few days stay here with her father has returned to Graham, where she is spending the summer with her aunt, Mrs. W. B. Greene.

Miss Lida Mims has accepted a position with the telephone company at Raleigh, and has been at her post of duty for two weeks. Her friends wish her success in her new work.

Mr. and Mrs. Dowd Boovey and little son, Dowd, Jr., and Mrs. Boovey of Charlotte, are spending some time here with Mrs. J. H. Overby.

Messrs Frank Johnson and Johnny Evans, of Raleigh, have been spending a few days here with Mr. O. C. Kennedy.

Mr. Carl Overby, of McCullers, a former employee of the Cherokee Brick Co., is here superintending the remodeling of Mr. Kennedy's residence. A sun parlor is being added and with the other improvements, the dwelling when completed will be very attractive.

Messrs Seawell and Hannon spent the week-end with relatives near Carthage.

Little Miss Elizabeth Stephenson and her sister, Esther, were week-end guests of Misses Eunice and Frances Thompson.

Mr. Zeb Utey spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Lee county.

Our popular superintendent of the Brickhaven Sunday school, Mr. T. J. Harrington, was unable to meet his class Sunday. We hope he will soon be out again, for none is missed more than he. Confusion reigns supreme when he is absent. The attendance was unusually large, but only a few were on time. Let us remember that the hour is 9:30 sharp. Several missed attending church services at Moncure, because we began Sunday school late.

SUNDAY AN UNLUCKY DAY.

Last Sunday was an unlucky day for automobilists and others. R. S. Taylor, editor of the Duplin Record, was run down and killed by a Coast Line train at Warsaw. Miss Eva Springs 17, was struck by a Southern train at White Oak Mills, near Greensboro, and killed. Ben Downer, of Lilesville, was instantly killed and Miss Webb, of Georgia, was struck by a Seaboard train and probably fatally injured at a grade crossing.

A Pennsylvania train near Terre Haute, Ind., struck an automobile and killed nine people. The same train at Highland, Ill., struck another car and killed four. While returning from Long Island to New York, a train crashed into a car and killed five people, one man and four ladies.

Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.

BILL BOOSTER SAYS

"SAY, FOLKS, I'M STARTING A HATCHET CEMETERY, SO IF YOU'VE BEEN LUGGING A LITTLE HATCHET AROUND, WAITING FOR A GOOD CHANCE TO SOAK SOME CERTAIN GUY IN THE NECK, SAID HATCHET IS HEREBY DECLARED DEAD AND READY FOR BURIAL IN BILL BOOSTER'S HATCHET CEMETERY!"

NOTICE TO PUBLIC.

The Bonlee Milling Co. has been sold to J. T. and C. C. Routh, Millboro, N. C. They come well recommended and are practical mill men. They are putting in a lot of new machinery, in keeping with the times. I thank you for your liberal patronage in the past and beg a continuance of same for my successors.

They will be prepared to serve you much better than I have done. Chatham county comes nearer being just one big family than does any county in America, and when you know these gentlemen, am sure that you will be glad to welcome them into this big family in this good old "State of Chatham."

They hope to have the mill in operation about the middle of August. Anyone having accounts against said mill please report to undersigned and same will be settled promptly. Any one owing said mill will please settle at once or we shall proceed to collect same.

Respectfully,
Aug. 2. ISAAC H. DUNLAP.

Persons You Ought to Know.

Do you have trouble in remembering names and faces? It is an affliction for many men and women are so sensitive. If these sensitive persons have once been presented to you, they expect you to remember them forever thereafter, and if you do not, they take offense. When they speak to you they give you a sort of challenge. They look you in the eye and seem to say, "Now, who am I? Fail at your peril to recall my face and name and the circumstances under which I met you." If you are embarrassed, they revel in it, and if your memory "throws you down" they never forgive you.

What a terror this must be to the politician.

But does it ever occur to such folks that there are two sides to the question? Does it ever occur to them that if they think other folks delinquent for not remembering them, other folks think them very disagreeable for embarrassing them? Once a smart Aleck met Nat Goodwin and slapping him on the back, said: "Hell, Nat, old boy." And as Goodwin did not reply in kind, added in an injured tone of voice, "Why, Nat, you don't seem to know me." Goodwin looked him over somewhat contemptuously and finally said, "I don't seem to recall your face, but your manner is quite familiar."

But there are honorable exceptions. Every now and then a bright-faced fellow comes along and offers you his hand, and the moment he sees that you do not recognize him, gives you his name in the most gracious sort of way and makes you feel so comfortable that your inclination is to embrace him. You are not apt to forget him after that, and every time you think of him it is with a sense of kindness akin to gratitude. "Jones my dear sir, Tom Jones, of Jonesville. Met you at the White last summer". Bless your heart, Tom Jones, of Jonesville. How did we ever forget one so thoughtful and agreeable? We folks with poor memory wish our chance acquaintances were all like you.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of

CARDUI

and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles, and was made so much better. I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you.

"From Sublime to Ridiculous."

Although this saying is generally attributed to Napoleon, it is to be found in the works of Tom Paine, before Napoleon's time. Paine says: "The sublime and the ridiculous are often so nearly related that it is difficult to class them separately. One step above the sublime makes the ridiculous, and one step above the ridiculous makes the sublime again."

Set Your Own Goal.

It's better to attempt and fail than have no failures to your credit. If you're afraid of the public estimate you can play the little game with your ideals. Set a goal and rate yourself on the percentage of success attained. It will spur you to greater effort and the public will never know how far short you often fall of attaining your own ideal.—Grit.
