OCTOBER OVER TWENTY-SEVEN.

Cotton Takes a Rise, Following Reports on Short Crop.

(By Savannah Cotton Factorage Co.) Savannah, Ga., Sept. 8.—The cotton market continued to advance this week, October contracts closing excited and irregular today at 27.60, or 2-1-2 cents for the week. The advance was due to covering by shorts and speculative buying of the small receipts outside of Texas.

One million, eighty-eight thousand and seventy-two bales were ginned in Texas up to September 1st, and only 53,265 bales were ginned in all other states during the same period. Official ginning figures to September 1st were given out today, as follows:

Alabama, 4,704 bales; Arkansas, 3,663 bales; California, 1,277 bales; Georgia, 19,756 bales; Florida, 803 bales; North Carolina, 445 bales; South Carolina, 2,327 bales; Mississippi, 1,457 bales; Louisiana, 12,820 bales; Oklahoma, 5,268 bales; Tex., 1,088,072 bales; all other states 745 bales.

Futures dropped a few points immediately after the report was published. Then a wave of buying set in and there was an excited advance to 27.90 for October, this month closing at 27.60.

Based on the ginning figures above Texas has ginned nearly one-third of her crop, while the other states have just begun.

There may be temporary dips from time to time, but we see no reason for selling cotton under thirty cents per pound.

SHOWS ELECTRIC SIGNALS.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 10.—Visitors to the Cincinnati Fall Festival and Industrial Exposition have been greatly interested by the exhibit of the Southern Railway System, consisting of a miniature passenger train, which shows how Southern trains are protected by electrically operated automatic block signals.

The exhibit shows the train in operation on an oval track, equipped with electric signals working just as in actual practice on the road. The train consists of three coaches, and is driven by electricity, taken from a third rail, though the locomotive is a model of the regular steam type.

Every day during the Exposition the Southern's boon has been surrounded by a crowd of interested spectators who were getting from it their first demonstration of how electricity is employed for the operation of signals and of the great degree of safety for trains which is afforded by this system.

Door Stop.

Take an empty spool and cover or paint it to suit the color of the carpet. Take a long brass-headed nail and nail through its hole to the floor about four or five inches from the wall behind the door. This will prevent the handle of the door injuring the wall.

MARITAL DIPLOMACY.

"Why," asked the Big-Hearted Enquirer, "do men call their better halves 'friend wife'?"
"Because," answered the Too-Soon Fella, who always knows everything right off the bat, "whenever folks is been married long enough to get reconciled to the big blunder they made they get on a polite footing where they say 'friend wife' or 'friend husband' because they know they might as well be diplomatic and make the best of it!"
