EXPORTS WILL BE LARGER.

Savannah Firm Says Cotton Reports Show a Decline.

(By Savannah Cotton Factorage Co.) Savannah, Ga., Sept 15.—The report of cotton consumed during August 1923 was given out yesterday as 491,604 bales as against 527,404 last year. This showed a decline of 35,800 bales, but was larger than the previous month. American mill stocks at the end of August were only 806,671 bales as against 1,024,994 last year. Foreign exports thus far this year amount to 362,000 bales as against 309,000 in 1922. There is also much more cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance now than there was at this time last year.

Foreign news continues to improve and it would not surprise us if exports this season prove to be larger than those of last year, provided more than five million bales are available from the present small crop.

Consumption of cotton by American mills is increasing as fast as receipts of new cotton will permit. Spinners are said to be declining orders for distant deliveries, fearing an advance in the price of raw cotton.

Heavy receipts and sales in Texas have failed to break the market down. The crop is so small outside of Texas that it can be marketed slowly, thus preventing a big decline. Crop news from the eastern belt is anything but favorable, and all signs point to higher prices.

WANT A SCHOOL TRUCK TOO.

Local and Personal News From Our Friends Around Browns Chapel.

Pittsboro, Rt. 2, Sept. 17.—Since there are so many school trucks over the country, it seems there should be one up this way to carry at least the high school pupils to Pittsboro. It is impossible for them to make a grade in six months, hence they are turned back two or three grades on entering a standard high school. It is, therefore, time and money wasted to try to run over the seven grades.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM

Keeping pace with the South

The first American locomotive to enter actual service was the "Best Friend" of 1830. Built in a New York foundry, shipped by sea to Charleston, it hauled the first passenger train on what is now the Southern Railway System.

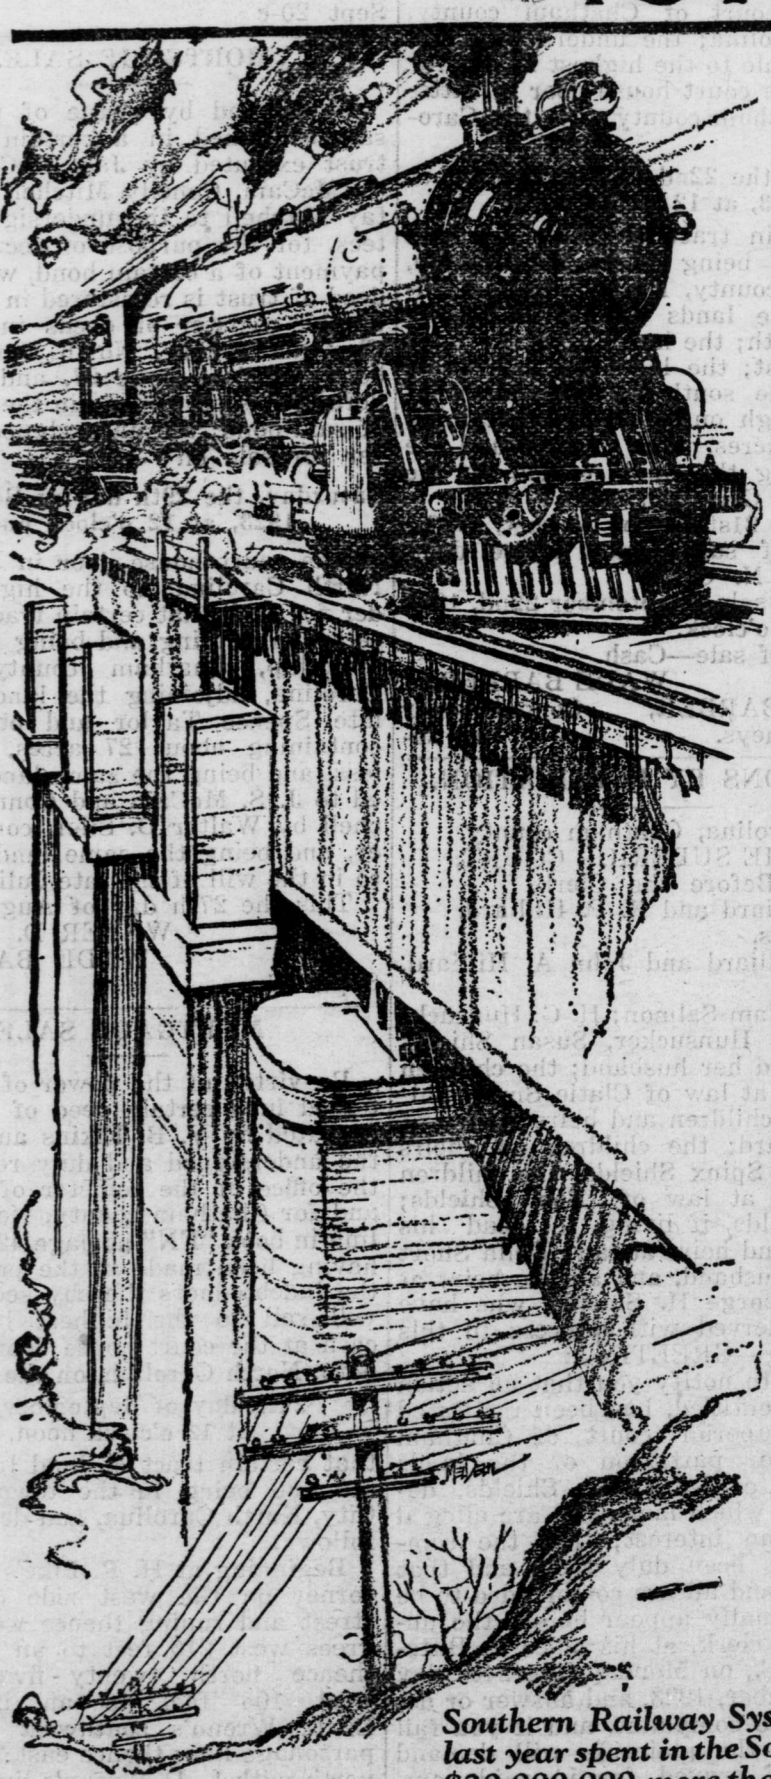

Twenty-two hundred locomotives, some of them fifty times as heavy as this famous pioneer engine, and 70,000 cars, operating on 8,300 miles of Southern Railway System lines, are now doing the work that was begun by the "Best Friend."

From the Ohio and the Potomac to the Gulf, from the Atlantic to the Mississippi, the far-flung rails of the Southern reach across twelve states with 40,000,000 inhabitants.

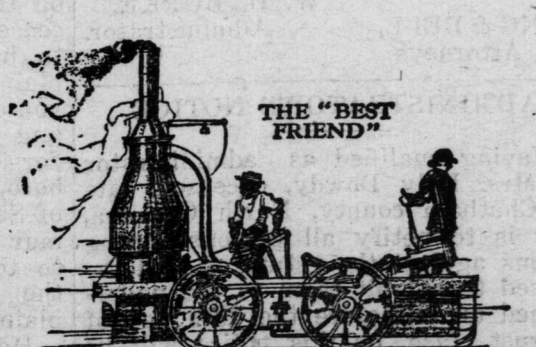

The Southern serves the South—from the northern gateways at Washington, Cincinnati and Louisville—and the western gateways at St. Louis and Memphis—to the ocean ports of Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville—and the Gulf ports of Mobile and New Orleans.

Operated by men of the South, who have been bred in its traditions to understand its problems and its needs, the Southern keeps pace with the South. The investment in its properties is now more than $710,000,000, of which $285,000,000 has been expended in the past two decades.

With the continued cooperation of the people of the South, we will be enabled to command the capital for the greater transportation facilities that Southern development will inevitably demand.

Southern Railway System last year spent in the South $20,000,000 more than it received from the South.
