SURE VICTORY.

Greater is he that is in you than he that is in the world.—I John 4:4.

WHO HAS THE PRIVILEGE.

Recently a sermon was preached in Pittsboro on the observance of the Sabbath day. Following this The Record had an editorial on the matter and cast a few remarks about the proposition. Both of these events have caused a good deal of comment, some adversely and many favorably.

We have a friend, however, who has talked with us on the subject in an entirely different light from that in which we viewed it. This man is a member of the Seventh Day Adventists. They observe our Saturday as their Sunday because it is the seventh day. This denomination has an abundant scripture to bear up their doctrine and beliefs.

Well, then, if these folks are devout on our Saturday, observing it as Sunday—the Seventh Day—as stated in the commandment, what are they to do on Sunday, our Sabbath? If they deprive themselves of privileges on Saturday, worshipping God, remaining at home, studying the Bible and observing to the letter the injunctions of the Scriptures while we enjoy every opportunity of working, buying, selling, trading and trafficking, traveling, what is to be their portion when their Sunday—their Seventh Day, has been exhausted.

If, within their hearts, they have devoutly served God on our Saturday, they feel disposed to some recreation and privileges on the day following, or on our Sunday. Suppose they should want a tank of gasoline, or a little smoking tobacco or other necessities, perhaps enjoyment that we had the day before.

This is indeed worthy of thought and the greatest force that had been made upon our minds in regard to the matter of the privilege of the liberty that should be given to everyone, more especially the religious liberty to which anyone and everyone is entitled to under the Constitution of the United States. We cannot legislate religion into anyone, but the preachers of every denomination should be forceful in telling folks the manner in which they should observe the laws of God. The laws of man are small in comparison and are not equal to the commandments issued to us.

SWEARS FALSELY.

Lester Pell, a confessed thief, who recently entered the Consolidated Mills, in Greensboro, and robbed it, was given a hearing last week in Greensboro. He implicated Arthur Supton, a 45-year-old man, saying that he had helped him rob the building. Supton was a watchman at the Mills.

Now Pell says that he has sworn falsely against Supton and that he had nothing to do with the robbery. He further asserts that William Lindsay, who is secretary of the Mills, had induced him to tell that Supton was in the thieving with him and that he would get off lighter by doing so.

Thus we have an example of swearing falsely and the incident came very near costing Supton a five-year term on the roads of Guilford county. Not only was the reprobate mean enough to do this but he has gone further and stated that Mr. Lindsay did do so and the two of them are guilty of a very violent breach against society.

It is not safe for anyone now to trust to the good fortunes of better living even. Some unscrupulous reprobate is likely to encourage an ignorant, worthless rogue to swear away your good name in a very few minutes.

The judge presiding and the solicitor have both expressed the belief that Pell should be given an additional sentence for his vicious sin.

CONTINUITY IN ADVERTISING.

Some eastern railway executives are publishing financial statistics over their names as railroad presidents.

Public utilities advertise more intelligently and more continuously and as a result people buy their securities and the values of gas, electric light power and traction properties are becoming prosperous.

There must be continuity in publicity. Keeping the public informed is a continuous job, as many move away or die and new ones take their places. In dealing with the public, the language the public can understand.

Railroads and public utilities cannot expect to advertise in flush times and live on the memory of it when they are hard up. They can't expect to advertise when they are in trouble or about to kick the bucket and expect to get anything in that direction.

Look here! If the officers of Craven county keep on destroying stills, where are the people going to get their egg nog liquor Christmas?

The ministers in Wilson county have found out that it pays to advertise. That's nothing. People in any kind of business have long since known that.

PUBLIC ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.

Friends, it is impossible to acknowledge every letter that we have received within the past few days in regard to giving us moral and financial support in the attack made on us, and we can't print all of them. However, we want to say that we highly appreciate them and the verbal messages that have been given us, as well as those who have communicated with us otherwise. We thank you, one and all, from the bottom of our heart.

Civil war is raging in Germany. It looks as if those people would get enough of war some time.

Strange things happen to people. A man driving a car near Mt. Airy came near having a serious accident the other day. His hat blew off and grabbing for it he lost control of the wheel and the car ran into a deep ditch.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Some Our'n—Some Their'n

An inflated compliment is always accepted at face value.

The world will never be fully civilized. There will always be undermining.

Ben Franklin once said: "Better a little with content than much with contention."

ing and lying scoundrels. Some folks pretend that they do not know how to lie because it is so much fun in learning how.

FAIRS AND PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Raleigh Times.

William Gibbs McAdoo, it appears, has refused the invitation of Kinston to "Kum Kum" to its Fair.

Of course he wanted to come. They all do; but of the many who are called to grace a Fair few choose to report in person. Regrets, regards and best wishes cost nothing; reporting for duty requires some effort.

But long after it has been pretty well established that the big gun requisitioned will not report such part of the public as interested in speeches—and there are far too many when one considers the quality of the product put out for their consumption—is still led to believe that Senator-So-and So or General What's His Name, will lead the procession and hold forth from the grand stand.

Very ordinary bunk, this. It isn't honest; it isn't decent. But really it makes little difference because the average speech at a Fair were better left to home or near-home talent, anyhow.

A Fair-going crowd is good-natured. Most of them aren't going to hear a speech. Most of them are out for relaxation pure and simple. But such as are seriously intent on the bull can go see an Ayrshire, Hereford or Polled Angus and receive greater benefit than from hearing a well-advertised

RECIPES AND ADVICE.

Restore Color.—If, due to an acid, spirits of ammonia will kill it, and apply chloroform to restore color.

Eyes Weak.—Wash carefully then open them in cold water will strengthen and protect them from disease.

Eyes—Cinder or dust in them. Remove with a silk handkerchief or round point of lead pencil.

Eyes are weakened by reading in a moving car, rocking chair or while lying down or stooping over.

Nothing To Freeze
Pumps freeze up. Watering troughs have to be chopped open. Water storage tanks are liable to burst. But a MILWAUKEE AIR POWER WATER SYSTEM has nothing to freeze. There is no water storage tank and the piping is carefully put beyond the reach of Jack Frost.
