MALLIE HERNS IS IN TROUBLE.
 Chapel Hill News, Oct. 18.
 Chatham county officers were searching Sunday for a young man by the name of Mallie Herns, a native of that county who resided in East Durham, and was a railroad foreman. Through a fit of jealousy Saturday evening shot Miss Annie Critcher, young East Durham woman, who is now in a hospital in a serious condition.

STRANGE AND CURIOUS.

Peculiarities That Will Astonish Almost Anyone.

Rattlesnakes commit suicide by biting themselves.

Louis Campbell, of Anderson, S. C., picked 86 pounds of cotton on his 79th birthday.

Thieves near Stanton, Minn., stole 70 hens from a farmer and left $750 in the coop.

A jury in a case in Muncie, Ind., asked for a Bible and a deck of cards to while away the time.

A Tennessee woman is 117 years of age and has smoked all of her life. Tobacco will get her yet.

Tenants in a preacher's house in Cleveland, Ohio., were arrested the other day for making liquor.

George Leisure, a farmer of Tipton, Ind., is exhibiting an ear of corn 16 inches long and 8 inches in circumference.

Grains of wheat taken from King Tut's tomb in Egypt, was planted and has been harvested. It is in excellent condition.

John Rawley, of a Pennsylvania town, refused to buy medicine for his sick child and the neighbors ran him out of town.

Burglars in a Wyoming town stole all the windows and doors of a house while the owner was away. They left the porch.

A chauffeur in Chicago took up a bobbed haired girl to give her a ride. She drew a pistol on him and robbed him of all the money he had.

His 25-year-old wife returned to her home when her 71-year-old husband, Jesse Underwood, of Birmingham, Ala., cut his throat and saved his life.

OBSERVATIONS.

By Rambler.

"Well," remarked a citizen yesterday, "the Fair is over and I am glad of it. Fairs, circuses and Christmas gets not only me but everybody else demoralized and it looks as if no one was fit for anything."

"We farmers have had no excuse this fall not to gather our crops," said a gentleman from the country the other day. "It has been the wettest fall I have seen in many years, and if they have not gathered their cotton and corn there's no one to blame but themselves."

"A law with teeth must be passed by the next legislature to compel drivers of automobiles to cease their reckless driving," said one of our citizens. "Right here on the streets of Pittsboro men drive their cars at the rate of 25 to 40 miles an hour, and it ought to be stopped. When some of these reckless drivers are refused a fine and are put on the roads for a year or more, probably they will learn some sense."

"Here's another case in which whiskey was the cause of a good man's death," said a citizen. "If the man with the car had not had liquor on board and was trying to outrun the officer, Will Allen, of Raleigh, would have been living today. He was struck by a car driven by an officer and one man was instantly killed and Mr. Allen died later. Besides this the officer and two or three others were painfully hurt. The whiskey man went free. So you can trace the accident to liquor."

"Mr. Tommie Murdock went into the postoffice the other day," said a citizen who was in the lobby, "and asked if there was a letter for him. Postmaster Johnson in a joking way, asked him whether business or love letter he wanted? Business, Tommie replied. After looking through a batch of letters, he was told that there was nothing for him. Tommie slowly approached the door, but quickly returned and said: 'Mr. Johnson would you mind looking through your batch of love letters?'"

"Corn shuckings will soon be in order," remarked an old timer, "and that is one thing I used to enjoy. But I am getting too old now. In my younger days I went to corn shuckings for miles away from my neighborhood, and at every one of them you'd find a crowd of pretty girls. Yes, at one of these piles of corn I found my wife and I guess that's why I like to attend these places. Then, there was the big suppers, the dance or the quilting. Man, I certainly did have a time. But those days have passed away. And I have not forgotten them and never will."

GETS IN BIG LEAGUE.

Burlington Journal.
 Major league club owners went through their annual draft procedure of picking stars from "bush" leagues. Leo Moon, of Greensboro, was drafted by Washington, and Davis Cocklin, of Danville, Va., by Chicago Nationals.

Leo Moon, the ball player referred to in the above press dispatch, is an Alamance county product, hailing from near Saxapahaw, but more recently living at Swepsonville.

Until he was secured by Greensboro a short while ago Moon had not had professional baseball experience. Being drafted for trial so soon after breaking into minor league baseball is proof that much ability is seen in him, and that if he guards himself closely it may mean his future.

He has many friends in this county who will be glad of his selection for a try-out in the big show.

QUERY DEPARTMENT.
 Answers by John

Do fish shed their teeth?
 Mary, Moncure.
 Ans.—We are not exactly up on the fish question, but Dr. Farrell has pulled teeth from chickens.

Is the north pole moving south?
 Charlie, Pittsboro.
 Ans.—If it is, it had better not move to Pittsboro as there are no vacant houses here.

What does a modern battleship cost?
 N. J. W., Siler City.
 If we had to pay for one we think $5 a good price, but it you have one made to order they will cost you about $35,000,000. You want one?

Why do people call it the "Milky Way"?
 X Y Z, Bynum.
 Ans.—Because it is so high up in the heavens that milk dealers cannot water it, hence it is pure milk away.

Gullies are monuments to the greed of men who farm for themselves alone; men who have no thought to the welfare of coming generations.

QUIPS AND QUIDDITES.
 For years there was a playwright around London who had more venom than ability. He could always pick a success to pieces and invariably did, but he had never produced a success of his own.
 One night at the Savage club he became so foolish as to attack the immortal bard of Avon.
 "Shakespeare," he sputtered, "lifted half his plots."
 This was too much for an old critic, who came back in a flash:
 "Then lift one of his and write a play around it. Show him up."
 The smallest baby at birth, known, weighed two pounds one ounce.
 Progress is just a slow business of falling in line with the schemes of minorities.

 Some old philosopher once said: "Don't put all your eggs in one basket." That made more or less of a hit.
 Then came Pud'nhead Wilson, who says: "Put all your eggs in one basket and watch that basket."
 That shows a lot of hard sense.
 But later comes another philosopher who says: "Put basket and eggs in the Page Trust Company and let the Company watch eggs and basket."
 That is the Climax of Wisdom.
 When the PAGE TRUST COMPANY is watching the basket you know the eggs are safe.

 THE UNIVERSAL CAR

New Touring Car
 Locking at the new touring car from the side, you are at once favorably impressed with the effect of longer, more graceful lines secured by enlarging the cowl and raising the radiator
 Slanting windshield and one-man top lend material aid in giving the entire car a lower, more stylish appearance.
 An apron connecting the radiator with the fender skirts is also a decided improvement.
 A comfort feature much appreciated by owners, is the additional leg room provided by the enlargement of the cowl.
 Allow us to show you the entire line of new Ford cars now on display in our show room.
 These cars can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.
