REVENUE AFTER PROFITS.

International Revenue Service Preparing Drive on Real Estate.

Investigations conducted by field deputies of the Internal Revenue Service indicate that hundreds of taxpayers have neglected, unintentionally or otherwise, to include as income their returns for 1919, 1920, 1921 and 1922 profits realized from the sale of real estate, according to the Bureau which several weeks ago ordered a rigid probe to be made of suspected evasions of income regulations.

In order to close up the government tax net, the collector has ordered that a transcript be made of all doubtful transfers. A careful investigation will be made of all these files, to determine whether or not the sales involved have been reported upon the income tax returns. It is suggested that all persons who failed to include the profit realized from real estate sales call at the collector's office or file amended returns, as it is the policy of the revenue department not to assert heavy penalties when the disclosures of failure to include income are voluntarily made by taxpayers.

It is believed that the failure of many tax payers to include real estate profits in their returns was due to an erroneous interpretation of the income tax laws, and to misleading publicity that was given out prior to the ruling of the United States supreme Court, holding that such gains were taxable income under the revenue laws.

In cases where the taxpayer does not voluntarily disclose items of income that were omitted, and where the gains from real estate sales have not been reported, it will be necessary to assert full penalties on all returns where the investigation disclosed the failure of the tax payer to include real estate gains in his income tax returns.

It will be greatly to each taxpayer's advantage to find if profits from real estate sales were omitted and make "correct amended returns" before the records in each county are searched; this will save the taxpayer heavy penalties and in many cases court procedure.
