Annulment from "Lazies Man."

New York .- The champion lazy man who refused for years to get up in the morning to go to work came to light before Supreme Court Justice Mitchell May in Brooklyn when Mrs. Margaret Hannigan asked for annulment of her marriage to James Hannigan because he refused to work.

Mrs. Hannigan, a very pretty gir, of twenty, put on the stand by Lawyer John S. Bennett, testified that when she married Hannigan he declared that he had a position and was making a good salary.

"The morning after we were mar-ried," she said, "he refused to get up and go to work. I thought it was scrange. The next day he did the ame thing, and so on for three weeks. Then I made inquiries and learned that he had deceived me. He had not had a job in years.

"I had to go to work myself. Then he sat around the house all day and smoked cigarettes. I pleaded with him to be a man and get something to do like other young married men, but he would only shrug his should ers and say what was the use.

"My mother and my brother then took him in hand, but he simply defied them in the same way that he had defied me. I stood this for a ye and then left him. He is still out of work and is living with his mother. Lawyer Bennett then explained t Justice May that the boy's mothe had admitted to him that she had bee unable to get him to do anything fc a living. "The mother told me," Benne said, "that she had to pull the be mattress from under him to get hi out of bed every day. Some time even that did not have any effect, ar then she had to resort to throwin cold water on him. She told me th he was the laziest boy she had eve seen."

Poultry Keepers Will Do Well to Keep in Touch With What Leaders Are Doing.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) The methods favored by large poul-rymen for increasing the productivity of their flocks are often applicable on the general farm or in the back-yard poultry plant. and started up a "zoo," And here is where the pretty girls and fellows walk and woo.

My lids have been long dry, dear Tom, but tears come to my eyes, Whene'er I look around and see such hustling enterprise. The little town has changed so much that you would scarcely know That you and I ran barefoot there some fifty years ago.

eneral run of fowls in the locality. with the understanding that the couny extension organization shall furdsh judges to pass on the desirability of birds selected for breeding.

This method of controlling the juality of the ponitry in a county is appected to result in a rapid general mprovement in the productivity of he flocks. It should also give the sounty a good reputation wherever atching eggs or birds are sold.

Promising development that is being acouraged in the famous Petaluma pultry district is the consignment ale of cockerels. In this the poultry reeders have been following the lead other growers of high-class live wock. Cattle breeders have been solding bull sales for a number of rears; sheep breeders have ram sales; log breeders have sales of boars and of bred sows. In the case of cockerels 10 pedigree papers are supplied, as hey are with other kinds of purebred ive stock, but sworn affidavits as to reeding go with each bird.

A White Leghorn cockerel sale was ield in Sonoma county (the Petaluma ilstrict) October 15, The 14 Pacific cast breeders who consigned birds gave sworn statements as to their preeding. According to the county gent, who was instrumental in puting on this sale, most of the 52 ockerels consigned represented unusually high breeding, many of them aving pedigrees extending back eight or nine generations with trap-nest recrds. Most of them had inheritance ecords of more than 275 eggs in a rear and some more than 300. The act that 1,000 catalogues were issued shows the importance given to the irst sale of this kind.

These two methods of flock improveaent ought to be popular among poulry raisers in all parts of the country. They are practical, say the poultrynen of the United States Department A griculture, and they help to make good stock available to the average oultry raiser who in the past has had to assurance, other than the breeder's ford, that he was getting birds of aperior performance merit. Few lairymen, hog growers or beef-cattle sisers are also good live-stock breedrs, but methods have been developed hat make it possible for any good armer to build up an excellent herd. t should be just as easy for a poultry eiser to improve his flock,

THE HOME PAPER IN VERSE

Today, so far as appearance goes, the chief difference between the country paper and the city paper is in size. The country paper being in the main a local paper, does not need the space that the city daily requires for its general news and features. But today the country papers make use of many of the same uppographial devices and pictures that the city paper uses. This word is needed to introduce a fine little poem by an unknown writer, who speaks of the older type of country weekly which too often was poorly printed and edited: Tisn't filled with cuts and pictures nor the latest news dispatches, And the paper's often dampene There is only one edition, and the tine. This building was erected years eye's glance often catches

No cablegram or special anywhere the eye engages;

The makeup is perhaps a trifle crude and primitive,

But an atmosphere of home life fills and permeates the pages Of the little country paper, printed where you used to live. How the heart grows soft and tender while its columns you're pelusing Every item is familiar, every name you know full well,

And a flood of recollection passes o'er you while you're musing

On the past, and weaves about you an imaginative spell.

You can see the old home village once again in fancy, seeming To be clasping hand of neighbor, and of friend and relative: And their faces rise before you as you're idly, fondly dreaming

O'er the little country paper printed where you used to live.
