SILER CITY DEBATERS WIN.

Successful at Both Siler City and at Elon College.

Siler City, March 29.—It was an appreciative and enthusiastic audience that greeted the triangular debaters at the school auditorium Friday night. However on account of sickness of the Franklinville debaters only the Elon and Siler City teams were represented. The question, "That the Inter-Allied War Debts Should be Canceled," was ably represented in the affirmative by Misses Juanita Gregg and Sarah Margaret Wren, of Siler City, while W. P. Lawrence, Jr., and Dan Long Newman represented the negative for Elon. The judges were Drs. McCracken and Barber and Mr. Gavin, of Sanford and although their decision was unanimous for the affirmative, the liberal applause throughout the progress of the debate showed that the negative side had many staunch friends. Then, too, there was cause for additional good cheer for home folks when it was learned early in the morning that Cad Straughan and Harvey Paschal had won the negative side of the question with Elon at Elon last night. Which, of course, means that Siler City's teams will engage in the debating at Chapel Hill at an early date. Following the exercises at the auditorium a reception was tendered the debaters, their parents and the high school faculty and the school board at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Bray, Mr. Bray being chairman of the local board.

Ed S. Phillips, of Bennett, was a business visitor in town Friday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Phillips.

With the exception of a short strip the good road is now top soiled between Siler City and Staley.

Tom Harrington, of Lillington, who has been spending several days with his daughter, Mrs. Pattishall, near Marley's Mill, left Friday for his home.

The Philathea class of the Methodist church served a tempting and financially successful supper at the church Thursday evening.

J. F. Lambe was a business visitor to Colon Friday.

A FEW COTTON FIGURES.

The report received by The Chatham Record from the Department of Commerce at Washington, D. C., gives the figures on cotton in North Carolina for both the years of 1922 and 1923.

For the year 1922 there was a total of 879,294 bales ginned in the state and in 1923 there were 1,050,474 bales ginned, showing a great increase. This report is made up to and including Wednesday, March 19th, 1923 and is for the same date for the year before.

The total number of bales ginned in Chatham on the same date as above given in 1922 were 9,270. On the same date in 1923, there were ginned in Chatham 9,857.

ALDERMEN GET WRONG.

Or Maybe It's Three Citizens of The Town That's Wrong.

(By JOE SNYDER)

"What's got the matter with Mugs-ville's city aldermen," asked Col. Josh Jones, when he met his two chums, John Smith and Jack Brown on the college green yesterday.

"What's the trouble now?" asked Mr. Smith.

"Trouble enough. Why, they passed an ordinance stopping people from watering their horses at the town trough on Sunday. They have closed up every thing. You can't buy a soft drink, a cigar or nothing."

"Then I'm ruint," said Mr. Smith, "I can't get my likker out of my store and I never wanted a drink so bad—"

"Yes, but it ain't doing us no good."

"Did you hear about how I lost a quart of likker the other day," broke in the colonel. "I went out into the country and bought me two quarts. One I hid in the barn. Jim Snodgrass was around and he'd drink lye if he thought it tasted like likker. I didn't know he saw me hide it, but he did. I drank up my quart and went to get my other one when, bless cuss, it was gone. I suspecioned Jim and tackled him about it. He denied it at first but finally said that Tim Medlin being around he took it and hid it in another place. Lo and behold! When we got where Jim hid it we found it not. I looked around and saw Tim and bounced him. He, too, denied it but finally told me that he knew it was mine and he knew Jim would drink it up, but for me to come on and he'd show me where he hid it. When we got to the hiding place it was gone again. When I did find out about the likker, I learned that Tim's wife saw her husband where he put it and she went and got it and drank it up. Wern't that the deuce? And I was so dry about then that I actually spit dust."

"Yes, that was pretty bad, but what am I to do now. You can see I am spitting gravels from my mouth."

"The aldermen passed several laws," remarked the colonel. "You are not allowed to take hold of a girl's arm when you walk with her Sunday. They say that is work. You are not allowed to kiss your wife on Sunday, because it's unhealthy. You are not allowed to leave your premises on Sunday because it's to much exercise and too much exercise is work. You are not allowed to cook on Sunday. Even chickens and dogs must be kept off the streets on Sunday, and it's thirty years in prison to even look at your automobile. It's awful, and the colonel took out his handkerchief and began to wipe the tears from his eyes. "And just to think, before everybody went crazy, you could go to almost any home here and get a little brandy and sugar, and now if they smell it on your breath they say you are transporting likker and you are sent to the roads for 'eventeen years and pay a big fine."

"I wish I could get to my likker," said Mr. Smith. "I am perishing, slowly perishing for a drink."

"Dad blame it," spoke up Mr. Brown. "These crazy town aldermen have got so all fired smart why don't they pass a law to stop these dawgged bull froes from singing so much."

"Yes," said Mr. Smith, "Sunday is the longest day in the year and I never wanted a drink so bad in all of my life."

The colonel looked at Mr. Smith, Smith at Brown and Brown at the water in the lake and sauntered away.

DOZEN POINTERS FOR CORRESPONDENTS.

Country correspondents get all too little attention and therefore we think the following dozen pointers, sent out by the Askov (Minn.) American, by its publishers, Petersen Brothers, are well worth broadcasting by other editors. The rules were as follows.

1. Above all get the news.

2. Do not express your own opinion about news events; let the reader form his own opinion about the matter on which you write.

3. Do not depend on rumor; investigate carefully all important news, for your own satisfaction and accuracy.

4. Above all be accurate in your statements.

5. Write your letter regularly, even they are only a few notes. It is in this way that the people become accustomed to seeing your letter in the paper and look for it.

6. Who? Where? When? What? Why? How? Answer these questions in all of your news stories and you are sure to make your letters to the papers interesting.

7. Speak a good word for every one in your community.

8. Give accurate reports of all public meetings and quote words of speakers accurately.

9. Never use your paper as a means to get even with anyone. It will probably injure you and cannot fail to injure the paper.

10. Speak a good word for the paper you represent and try to get people interested in it.

11. Make a survey of your territory and find out what kind of news people are interested in.

12. Do not minimize your responsibility with regard to the paper you represent. As associate editor you are charged with covering your particular field.

It takes all kinds of people to make up a community and there are always a few characters that one can spare.

SILER CITY WINS TWO GAMES.

Siler City, March 28.—Siler City defeated Bonlee high school on the latter's ground Wednesday afternoon to the tune of 11 to 8. The game was interesting despite the numerous errors made. "Red" Vestal, who took up mound duty after Buckner was driven from the box, held the Bonlee team at his mercy. The entire Siler City team hit hard. Clapp hit a circuit drive for Siler City high.

Score: R. H. E. Bonlee 8 9 5 Siler City 11 15 4

Morrow, Murrow and Brewer; Buckner, Vestal and Clapp.

Again yesterday by playing air tight ball behind the masterful pitching of Moody, Coach Stone's Siler City boys defeated Bonlee 12 to 0.

Moody allowed only four widely scattered hits, struck out 11 and was invincible with men on the paths. Beaver, who tossed the agate for Bonlee was wild, otherwise he pitched good ball. Phillips secured two bingles for the locals.

Score: Bonlee 0 4 4 Siler City 12 8 2

Beaver, Morrow and Brewer; Moody and Capps.

EASTER COMES LATE.

Easter this year falls on the 20th. of April, something that hardly ever happens so late in the season. It so happens then, that the full moon next the 21st of March this year, fall on the 19th of April, and the following Sunday, which is Easter Sunday, is the 20th day of April. The latest Easter we will have in the twentieth century will be on April 25, 1943. The earliest Easter we have ever had was on the 22nd day of March, 1819.

BODY BROUGHT TO CHATHAM.

Durham Herald, March 28th.

The remains of Alleus Stone, the aged farmer, who died Tuesday evening on his farm near this city, were carried Thursday afternoon to Chatham county, where he formerly lived, and the funeral was held at Martha's Chapel, of which he was a long and faithful member, and the interment was in the burying ground adjoining the Chapel. The funeral cortege was composed of quite a number of his immediate family and sympathizing friends.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Wednesday morning, March 26th, an oil stove in the barber shop of Mr. Grady Pickard, located under the Blair hotel, exploded and in a few minutes much of the woodwork in the shop was on fire. Chemicals soon had the fire under control, but the room was badly smoked, plastering cracked and glass in the windows broken. It was a narrow escape for one of Pittsboro's best blocks.

ABOUT BOTTLED DRINKS.

What do you think of one Pittsboro firm selling twelve dozen crates of bottled drinks every five days? There are 48 bottles to the crate, now figure it out. And there are other firms that sell nearly as much. At least 2,000 bottles of "dope" are sold in Pittsboro every week, besides the drinks sold at the fountains at 5 cents a drink.

Change of Life

"When change of life began on me," says Mrs. Lewis Lisher, of Lamar, Mo., "I suffered so with womanly weakness. I suffered a great deal of pain in my back and sides. My limbs would cramp. I didn't feel like doing my work, and there are so many steps for a woman to take on a farm. I was very anxious to get better. A friend recommended to me and I began using it. I certainly improved. I went through change of life without any trouble. I can highly recommend Cardui."

CARDUI

At the age of about 40 to 50 every woman has to pass through a critical time, which is called the Change of Life. At this time, great changes take place in her system, causing various painful and disagreeable symptoms.

If you are approaching this period, or are already suffering from any of its troubles or symptoms, take Cardui. It should help you, as it has helped others.
