

The Circular Cape Plays the Role of Sleeves

Capes as well as the major part of an ensemble, the minor theme of a frock or the upper cut of a coat are tremendously chic.

Paris tops the new modes with capes—long capes that take the place of long coats, short capes worn instead of jackets, shoulder capes that do nothing practical but make a fine sartorial gesture. In the French coat illustrated the circular cape takes the place of sleeves and body, while the lower part is attached to it at the front and back. This is an excellent coat for the home and it takes a little material and is very easily made. The original French coat was made of cashmere with a pale, pinkish flower on the lapel.

The Two-Piece Frock Is the Last Word in Evening Chic

BUTTERICK 6743

The deep V of the décolletage, the Gipsy bow and the circular skirt make the two-piece frock as suitable for the ballroom floor as for the fairway.

The two-piece dress which began as a skirt and sweater ends as an evening frock of a most distinguished order. "Ends" is the wrong word, for the two-piece style will apparently go on forever. Instead of its original jersey and homespun it takes to Georgette, silk voile and crêpe Roma in its simpler moments and bursts into the splendor of metal-embroidered crêpe de Chine above a skirt of metallic fabric when it really starts to make a killing. Made with a transparent sleeve it can be used both as an afternoon and dinner dress.

Gores in Front Give the New Umbrella Spread to a French Frock

Paris designs an unsagable circular skirt cut with a gored flare across the front and sides and creased to resemble the umbrella which gives it its name.

If you want something new, unusual and indisputably French, choose the frock with the gored umbrella skirt. It is very chic, easily made, and gives you a circular front that won't sag. With its soft shoulder and delightful sleeve, it can be made in Georgette or silk voile. The collar and three-tiered cuffs are smart in organza on a frock of taffeta, satin crêpe or crêpe de Chine. The back of the frock is cut in one piece and the soft sash is made of the material of the dress.

The Spring Term Starts Smartly with Capes

Pimiento-red wool jersey for a circular cape and two-piece frock make a scarlet runner of the young person in a hurry.

If your budget is suffering from the strain of having Joey's teeth straightened, sending the twins to dancing school and giving Alicia music lessons, you'll be more than interested in the cape ensemble costumes that are well within your own dressmaking skill. This cape does not have to be lined, the collar is a straight string and the finish of the edges is simple in the extreme. Paris makes these ensemble costumes for the most part with the short, circular cape and a simple two-piece frock. They are smart in camel's hair twills and shepherd's checks. Shopping is very new and abstruse is worn this spring.

Ford Costs More to Build—Is Worth More—Yet Sells for Less If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford according to the high standards of the Ford Motor Company, it would be impossible to offer it at anything like the present low Ford prices. Just think! 13,000,000 model T Ford cars have been produced since 1908—almost as many automobiles as were built by all other manufacturers combined. It was the superiority of Ford design in 1908 that established Ford leadership. It is this same Ford design, improved but basically unchanged, that is continuing to make the Ford car the outstanding leader among all automobiles.
