Those who enjoyed their hospitality in this excellent home were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harris, Misses Ola Harmon and Bessie Roberts, Mrs. N. C. Cheek and Mrs. Elizabeth Harris.

Mr. Womble was seventy-two years of age, yet with these years one would not guess him to be much more than sixty. He is quite active and full of wit and humor. Mr. Womble is one of our best citizens. Congratulations are rendered to him and wishes for many more happy birthdays.

The Juniors entertained very charmingly in honor of the Seniors last Friday evening at the school auditorium. The Senior class colors, green and white, were carried out in decorations.

Miss Lucy Kirkman received the guests at the door most cordially. After the guests had all arrived games were played, then names were drawn for partnership. A contest was given to each couple which called for intelligent thinking. Each question called for an answer of one of Shakespeare's books. Mrs. C. L. Parker and Edgar Alexander were the lucky winners of a prize.

Following the contest delicious ice-cream, cake and mints were served by the Juniors. Punch was served throughout the evening.

The Seniors sang "Good Night Juniors" and parted with expressions assuring the Juniors that they had spent a delightful evening.

The members of the faculty were honorary guests.

"This week I have completed the delivery of 650 pounds of grass and clover seed for men who are conducting permanent pasture demonstrations, and also induced two more men, Mr. T. W. Green and Mr. B. D. Phillips, to put in permanent pastures. At Bonlee this week we delivered 600 bu. of soybeans to farmers of that section at a saving of $400. Wednesday I discussed the placing of a cotton seed cleaner in the Hickory Mountain Community with Mr. A. M. Webster and others, and wrote the Coker Seed Co. for prices and specifications. I believe that we will be able to place this seed cleaner as soon as I can get this information. Plans are under way for the placing of a soybean harvester with Mr. H. C. Clegg and others near Pittsboro, and I have also written for prices and specifications on these. I have held five terracing demonstrations this week on 140 acres of land at the farms of Mr. J. T. A plenty of good things was carried for the occasion and a plenty was left on the table for as many people as were there.

A short prayer was made by Mr. Henry Johnson after the table of good eats was spread, and a beautiful birthday cake with 66 candles on it was given to Mrs. Cook. Every one present enjoyed the occasion. In the afternoon pictures were taken of all present who wished to be in it.

CORINTH NEWS

Sunday school reorganized at Buck Horn Methodist church March 21, with Robert Cotten as Superintendent. Robert is a fine boy, only in his teens. For once we hope age will forget to criticize youth, and uphold the hands of a boy who has shouldered so great a responsibility. Mothers and fathers, see that your children are in Sunday school somewhere, encourage them by going yourselves. Bring them up in the way they should go and when they are old they will not depart.

Friends of J. E. (Jim) Dickens will be glad to know he is much improved at Rex Hospital where he has been confined the past four weeks, following an accident in which his foot was crushed.

Jim was formerly a Corinth boy and has many friends in this community.

Among the sick this week are Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Cross, Mrs. R. R. Boling and Mrs. Harrington.

We feel proud of the record Miss Clara Chappell is making as a student in Moncure high school. Clara was a Corinth pupil, a good girl at school, Sunday school and home.

Corinth school closed March 26 with commencement exercises by the children Friday night, which was enjoyed by a crowded house. The children acted their parts well, and the teachers, Misses Penny and Hackney, are to be congratulated. This has been a very successful six-months session.

"TIMID."

Music Department Entertained

Mrs. R. M. Farrell delightfully entertained the Music Department of the Woman's Club on Tuesday evening.

A report of the year's work was read by the secretary, Miss Margaret Womble. This department has studied American Music during the year, taking up pioneer music. An orchestra has been formed, and different musical entertainments have been secured through this department.

It was decided to present a very full and complete musical dictionary in six volumes, to the school library. This set of books is very highly endorsed and recommended and will be a wonderful aid in musical programs in the future.

At the close of the business meeting a vocal solo was rendered by Miss Emily Taylor, accompanied by Mrs. Victor Johnson.

The Department has been ably headed by its Chairman, Mrs. D. L. Bell, for the past two years.

A salad course was served by the hostess.

Members present were: Mrs. James Thompson, Mrs. James Griffin, Mrs. W. B. Chapin, Mrs. D. L. Bell, Mrs. Victor Johnson, Mrs. R. G. Shannonhouse, Misses Emily Taylor, and Margaret Womble.

Capt. Durham Owns a Stradivarius

In view of the number of old violins being reported recently in the state press, it is interesting to note that Chatham is not without a Stradivarius, and one that its owner claims can compete with any reported in age or condition. It belongs to Capt. W. S. Durham, of Siler City, who says that the inscription on the back of the old and valuable instrument reads: "Antonius Stradivarius Cremonensis Fabricat Anno 1716." But somehow that inscription, if reported correctly, looks "different." If genuine, the instrument is 210 years old, and is probably one of the earlier creations of the noted violin maker of Cremona. The Latin is apparently mixed, and the tense not the usual. Capt. Durham wonders what the instrument is worth. If genuine, there is no question that it is exceedingly valuable, that is, if it has the tonal values of the usual Stradivarius.

Colored Teachers Last Meeting

The last Reading Circle meeting of the colored Teachers met at the Public school in Pittsboro on Friday, March 26. The day was very inclement at the time the teachers should have been leaving their homes and as many had to come long distances, consequently it was a little late before a sufficient number gathered for the opening.

A good working number having gathered, Rev. Roberts conducted the opening exercises and Prof. Thompson then proceeded to outline the five chapters of book and teachers discuss the methods and their ways of presenting subject matter.

Dinner was served by the community mothers and the teachers of the school which was voted a treat, in the way of refreshments.

As most of the reading done in life is silent reading, that was stressed but not to the detriment of oral reading.

It was generally conceded that the most practical suggestion got from the book from the writer's standpoint is to teach the most we can in the time given to the average child in the rural districts, use the methods and devices that will stimulate a desire to read and like Kipling's "Baa, Baa, Black Sheep" cause the child to want to read all the books in the world.

LIQUOR, GUNS AND WOMEN

Sunday a very deplorable thing took place in front of the colored Congregational church at Haywood.

The Knights of Pythians and the Court of Colanthe, both fraternal and insurance organizations, had assembled at the church for their yearly Thanksgiving and annual sermon. Immediately after the welcome address on behalf of the Colantheans and given out some information from the insurance office in regards to Safety First, the sound of a pistol fired in rapid succession broke the solemnity of the occasion.

Of course, as natural, everyone ran to see—some even jumped from windows, being barred at the door by the swords of the Knights—but the Knights couldn't resist to use themselves and took those swords down.

C. C. Bonds a Negro and Harts Corbett, S. C., were the parties involved. It seems that Harts lives in C. C.'s house and had failed to pay his rent. When he called for collection, the wife took offence and claims that the landlord was not respectful in his remarks to her.

Harts works for the Carolina Power and Light Co. He proceeded to the avowed purpose of getting C. C. with his gun, which he did.

Breaking up, for a time, the meeting, threw a good woman into fits, and caused some more nervous attack on Sunday and she and he came to church Sunday it is understood for lacks. The real folks here do wish that something be done to punish such base offenders of the law. How can we raise up good citizens out of our boys and girls when such persons are allowed in the community.

Harts was arrested by the Sir Knights. Officers Wicker was quickly on the scene and escorted him and his madam to the county seat, to see what the county hotel looked like.
