

Town and County Briefs

Rev. Morrison Bethea of Raleigh will hold services at the Episcopal church Sunday, October 17th, at eleven o'clock in the morning and at seven thirty o'clock in the evening.

Mr. D. C. Huelbeck killed a chicken snake a few days ago that measured five feet and four inches. In the middle of his snakeship was a big lump, which when examined turned out to be a china nest egg, which evidently had been taken from a hen's nest.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Saville, of Raleigh, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mayor and Mrs. A. C. Ray. Wyeth was also home from the University for the week-end.

Rev. A. C. Ray, Jr., will preach at the Presbyterian church here next Sunday. Mr. Ray spent the summer in mission work in Canada, but is now back at Union Seminary, Richmond.

The Trinity Jubilee Singers of Raleigh, a noted colored quartet, will sing at Stanton Temple Methodist church, colored, next Monday night, Oct. 18. White friends are especially invited. Admission 25 and 20 cents.

Little Nancy Ray who had a tonsil operation at Hamlet ten days ago, suffered last Thursday night, which weakened her considerably. The bleeding lasted two hours.

A young Chatham farmer says he has never raised more than two bales of cotton a year. Yet he is making good headway paying for his farm. He says if he had depended on cotton the past six years, he doubts whether he could have achieved what he has.

Mr. R. H. Burns, of Whiteville, came in for a few days last week. He was accompanied by his aged mother, Mrs. R. M. Burns, and his sister Mrs. H. E. Norris. It is gratifying to her friends to know that Mrs. Burns is able to make such a visit. Mr. R. H. expects to take her to the beach fishing.

Messrs. Willie Morgan, Wyeth Ray, and Grady Snipes, U. N. C. students, spent Sunday at home.

Mesdames T. H. Cheathan and sister Mrs. Harrington, of Pinehurst, spent the week-end at the Exline Hotel.

Mr. T. R. Murdock of Cary spent the week-end with his parents on route 3.

Mr. Ed Hinton made a business trip to Raleigh Tuesday.

Mrs. Sikes, the efficient telephone operator, is off for an operation.

There is considerable interesting advertising in this issue. Be sure to scan the advertising columns.

We regret to learn that Mr. G. H. Langley of New Hope township is worse. His condition was adjudged critical Wednesday morning. In fact, it was hardly thought the night before that he would survive the night.

Mrs. Florence Phillips of Siler City died at the age of 64 Saturday and was buried at Love's Creek church Sunday. She was the relict of the late W. E. Phillips, and leaves four sons, B. T., Paul, Rudy, and Sam Phillips, and five daughters, Mesdames John Dorsett, Tasso Siler, Elin Seawell, Grace Jones, and Miss Myrtle Phillips. Before marriage Mrs. Phillips was Miss Florence Gee.

The parents and teachers of this community are urged to attend the meeting tomorrow, Friday, October 15, at the school building. It is an important meeting. A new organization is to be effected and other important business attended to.

Mrs. J. W. Hunt went to Watts Hospital Monday, where she was operated upon for appendicitis Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Clyde Bland, accompanied by Mr. Bland, went down to Hamlet Tuesday to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Wednesday morning and it is raining. The water problem had become acute in some of the neighboring towns. Sanford folk were asked to use water only for cooking and drinking, nothing even being said about using it for washing one's face. Raleigh has felt uneasy. Some wells in this section are in critical shape.

CLUB NOTES

A Large Delegation Attends District Meeting at Roxboro—Banquet Approaches.

The following members of the Woman's Club of Pittsboro attended the district meeting held at Roxboro last Friday:

Mesdames Jas. L. Gregory, A. H. London, Julian M. Gregory, W. B. Chapin, H. T. Chapin, E. R. Hinton, Walter D. Siler, R. H. Hayes, Victor R. Johnson, Thos. K. Duncan, R. G. Shannonhouse, F. C. Mann, R. A. Glenn, and W. L. Farrell, Misses Carrie M. Jackson and Evelyn Alston.

These ladies report a very enthusiastic meeting and praised the hospitality of the charming women of Roxboro.

Pittsboro Woman's Club as it usually does, gave a splendid report of the year's work. It has done and the members who attended came back full of enthusiasm and inspiration.

Among the new members who were given a most cordial welcome into the Woman's Club at the regular meeting held Wednesday, October 6th, were: Mesdames A. V. Nolan, A. Bleampen, Jr., Shirley Waters, and Misses Wilson, Coltrane, Jones, and Mrs. N. C. Shiver.

Attention is again called to the reservation of plates for the banquet to be held October 20th at the Club Room.

GET RECORD FOR $1.00

The editor of the Record has planned and schemed and toiled till he has enabled himself to get out the Record at a minimum cost. He has hoped to make some money out of the paper this fall and winter. But the low price of cotton has changed the aspect of things. However, the same financial headway enables us to help for favorable circumstances to make financial headway enables us to help the paper retain its fine circulation and our subscribers to save a half dollar each.

In short, seeing the situation as it is, low cotton following two short crop years, we have decided to put the price of the Record at $1 a year till cotton rises or something else puts a better phase on the prospects of the people. It is hard to have to do it, but if we can get as much money at that price as at the $1.50 price, we are willing to do the extra work.

But, in view of the situation, will not our subscribers show a similar spirit, renew promptly, and tell other folk they can get the paper for a dollar a year till further notice. Renew now.

Feed no Rodents

Dr. A. K. Fisher, who by the way, is our leading authority on the life history of the hawks and owls, states "examination of 202 pellets taken from the roost of a pair of barn owls in a tower of the Smithsonian institution at Washington, showed a total of 454 skulls, of which 225 were meadow mice, 2 pine mice, 179 house mice, 20 rats, 6 jumping mice, 20 shrew, 1 star-nosed mole and but one vesper sparrow.

It would be difficult to find any wild creature that could be any more beneficial around a farming community than these birds.

Veteran Sorry He Stole Chickens in Civil War

Nebraska City, Neb.—Conscience stricken because he had stolen chickens during the Civil war and desiring to "square accounts before it is too late," Tim Crook, eighty-year-old war veteran who lives in the hill country near Minersville, Neb., went before district Judge Begley here and asked to be allowed to "plead guilty." Judge Begley, however, just smiled and told him to forget about it.

"You see when I was in Company A of the Tenth Kansas Infantry," the veteran said, "we didn't get to eat but every once in a while and a stray shout or chicken was our meal. Maybe it was all right, but I ain't felt right about it ever since."

CALIFORNIA CONDOR FACES DESTRUCTION

Few of Giant Birds Are Left Says Naturalist.

Washington.—Walter Fry, in charge of the National Guide Service, Sequoia National park, in a recent bulletin of the American Game Protective association, says that the California condor is now making its last fight for life, and declares that only quick aid will save the species. He offers the following suggestions:

"1. Laws to make it a felony to kill a condor or take eggs for a period of 20 years.

"2. Laws making it a misdemeanor for any person to put out poisoned bait of any kind, except that which has been certified for use by the proper authorities.

"3. Signs posted in conspicuous places throughout the state by Audubon societies and other interested organizations, carrying a colored picture of the bird, with printed copies of the laws for its protection.

"4. When condors are seen in any part of the state, the observer should be requested to immediately notify the California fish and game commissioners of the birds' presence, giving date seen, locality and number of birds seen."

Largest of Vultures.

The California condor is the largest of the vulture family. In fact, it is probably the largest flying bird in the world. It is heavily built, weighs about 20 pounds, and is about four feet long, with a wing spread of from ten to twelve feet. Its bare neck is like a turkey's. The huge bird flies gracefully and soars for hours almost without flapping its wings. It is a scavenger, eating only carrion.

While the California condor has not been found nesting in the Sequoia National park, this giant of the air has been a casual visitor to the park since the first arrival of white settlers in 1856. Mr. Fry says:

"Before the arrival of white men in California, the condor had little to fear. The first death trap for the condor was man with firearms. It was a great event to kill one of these giant navigators of the air, for they were bold and came within easy rifle range. Man's next destructive effort was to obtain eggs of the wonderful bird to accompany his specimen. Then came the custom of the sheepmen of putting out poison baits in the carcasses of sheep.

"No doubt thousands of condors met their deaths through eating poison. For many years there were no restrictions placed on the methods of poisoning or what kinds of poison could be used.

"The bird is now making its last fight for life. Unless some action is taken to save the modern roc it will join the dodo and the great auk as a legend instead of a living example of the Creator's handiwork. This monstrous bird is the product of nature working through the ages for thousands or millions of years. The destruction of the species thus deprives the earth of a wonderful organism which no human power can ever again restore.

Little Hope for Them.

"Even under the present laws for their protection I can see no chance for a survival of the condor. Poison will do its work. They are now on the very verge of extermination. It is doubtful if there are 100 individual birds living today. Every friend of birds and of the picturesque in nature should come to the rescue of the condor before it is too late.

"On November 27, 1925, there was unveiled at the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art a large mural painting of prehistoric animals, birds and other creatures of California. The paintings were based on skeletons dug from the La Brea asphalt pits near Los Angeles. Among the pictures are those of giant vultures with a wing spread of 20 feet, sabre-toothed tigers, giant ground sloths, huge wolves, imperial elephants with huge curved tusks, wild horses, camels and California lions twice the size of the present-day African lion.

"In the process of evolution this terrible if interesting fauna doubtless had to give way or man might not be here today. But in the condor we have, perhaps, the last great bird of the Pleistocene age, just as the giant sequoias are the surviving specimens of a mammoth vegetation of a past geological period. The California condor is not only harmless—it is useful and highly picturesque. Let's save this modern roc, every sight of which conjures up the tale of Sinbad the Sailor in the 'Arabian Nights.'"

Siler City is building a two-story brick city building.

Miss Margaret Womble is still recuperating at Elizabeth Hospital, Raleigh.
