Moncure News Letter

Personal and Other Items from Our Moncure Correspondent

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Cathell and daughter, Miss Virginia and son James spent last week-end at Lexington with relatives and friends.

Mrs. J. D. Wilkie has just returned from Hamlet, where she took her children to the hospital to have their tonsils removed.

The nice shower of rain Sunday night in Moncure section was greatly appreciated.

Miss Willie Bostain of Peak, S. C., has secured a position as teacher in the Deep River School, six miles from here on the Sanford Road. We are glad to have Miss Bostain back with us. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bostain who had a position with Phoenix Utility Company several years ago.

Miss Amey Womble, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Womble, has also a position in the Deep River School. This is her second year there.

Miss Willie Bostain spent last week-end with Miss Lillie Hackney.

Mr. J. K. Barnes entertained some business friends from Philadelphia last week.

We are glad to state that Mr. R. L. Johnson, on Route two, who has been real sick for the past few weeks, seems to be better. We hope that he will soon be well again.

Mrs. Nance Sasser, who has been seriously sick, was taken to Scott's Hospital, Sanford, today (Monday). We hope that she will soon be better.

Mr. O. C. Kennedy has under construction another brick building on the main highway opposite the school building.

Mrs. W. W. Stedman and Miss Ola Harmon returned last Saturday from a trip to Philadelphia, Pa., had a wonderful trip, and enjoyed the days spent in the historic city. We took in the Sesqui-Centennial and the exhibits were great, only wished we had had more time, for there were many to see. The model post-office was looked over, only wish we could have the modern conveniences in our small post-offices. We enjoyed looking at the beautiful homes in the residential part of the city and the scenery was lovely at this time of the year.

George, our brother, carried us over the University of Pennsylvania and its grounds. It is a lovely institution. We also enjoyed looking over the relics of Independence Hall, seeing the Liberty Bell, and Congress Hall. We saw the photographs of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. We took a tour of the stores of Wannamaker, Smellenburg and Gimbel. It was a wonder to hear the sweet tone of the pipe organ that is installed at Wannamaker's store, it is the greatest in the world. At this store we saw the million dollar pearls. We are greatly indebted to Miss Gertrude McKay for her hospitality while in Philadelphia. We were entertained at her home. We like her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. McKay and sisters, Misses Laura, Elva and Jeannette McKay very much. They treated us royally while there.

The wedding of Prof. Geo. D. Harmon and Miss Gertrude McKay Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock was lovely but simple. It was witnessed by a large audience of friends and relatives. Two receptions were given them, one Wednesday evening at Presiding Elder Dr. Babcock's home and Thursday evening by the White Apron Club. Each one was greatly enjoyed. Miss Gertrude McKay is a popular young lady. She was given three showers before the wedding. She had a cedar chest full and overflowing of nice and useful presents.

Prof. and Mrs. Geo. W. Harmon have many friends for they received many valuable and useful wedding presents, among which a china dinner set of one hundred pieces hand-painted was given to them by the History Department of the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Cheney of that University gave them an autograph History of England which was appreciated very much. All the presents were appreciated, but the sterling silver and electrical things will be much useful, shown before the wedding. She had a box of rice, left for Delaware Water Gap, Delaware.

They will make their home for the present at Bethlehem, Pa., for Prof. Harmon is teacher in the History Department at Lehigh University.

Friday morning we left for Washington, D. C., where we enjoyed the bride and groom, amid show-which is beautifully located on the bank of the Potomac River. It was interesting indeed to look over George Washington's old home. On our way we visited George Washington's lodge and his church. We also enjoyed a tour around to Lincoln Memorial building, the White House, the Capitol and the Congressional Library.

This is only a few things we saw, but every minute of our trip was enjoyed and will be remembered as a most pleasant trip.

While Mrs. Stedman was away, Miss Elizabeth Farrell kept post-office.

Mrs. A. C. Raynor of Fayetteville is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. M. Womble.

HALLOWEEN PROGRAM AND BASKET BALL

One of the most unique features of the season will be a Halloween program given by the P. T. A. at the Pittsboro school building Friday evening, beginning at eight o'clock.

Admission at the door will be 15 and 25 cents.

A candy booth, Halloween booth, ice cream booth, and nut booth will be on the inside. A program consisting of the following will be given: Ghost drill, Black cat dance, Play by witches, ghosts and goblins.

After the program there will be a basketball game.

BIG CROWD HEARS POU

A Strong Speech by Congressman Pou and A Big Barbecue Dinner Make Thursday a Notable Day

Last Thursday was a noteworthy day in Pittsboro's calendar. Despite the unusual lack of interest in the approaching election and the foregone conclusion that there is really no contest in state, district, or county, the court house was crowded by those who came to hear Congressman E. W. Pou, a candidate to succeed himself for a baker's dozen time, assembled in the court house last Thursday and after a speech notable for its straightforwardness and good sense, enjoyed an abundant barbecue provided by the county candidates.

It happened that this was the first time the writer ever heard Mr. Pou. Accordingly, he better understands now why for twenty-five years that gentleman has represented this district in Congress, and this year had no opposition in the primary and has none in the election next Tuesday.

A few minutes sufficed to indicate that E. W. Pou is a strong man, while his unimpeachable integrity and well-known devotion to the people's interests combine with his ability to make him worthy of the continued esteem and confidence of the people of his district.

In a quiet and straight-forward manner, he talked sense to his people. Every sentence was pertinent, either confirmatory of former mature judgments of his hearers or calculated to awaken real thought.

Probably the most striking thing in the address was his hasty summary of the Wilson administration, a statement of the fact that it handled several times more money than any other in the history of the country and under circumstances that were most trying, and yet, despite every effort of the following administration to discover fraud, not one real case of willful mismanagement was discovered.

On the other hand, the Harding administration was hardly seated when rascality became rampant. One cabinet officer was carrying his handbag with $100,000 of bribe money in it; another cabinet officer has just been on trial for alleged crimes and only a few days ago was happy to have the jury tie in his case; the head of the bureau handling the funds for disabled soldiers has been convicted of wretched roguery and is serving a term in the penitentiary.

Closing with a few personal remarks, Mr. Pou regretted that his health does not permit him to visit the people as much as he did when he was younger.

After the speaking, Chairman W. P. Horton announced that a barbecue dinner would be served, and a long cue was formed, and as fast as trays of the delicious meat, abundantly accompanied with bread and chopped onions, could be handed out, the crowd was served to satiation. Three hundred pounds of pork went to make the feast provided by the county's worthy Democratic candidates. 800 trays were served, it was stated.

BEAR CREEK NEWS

The Fitts Store Robbed—A Number of Interesting Personal Items

Burglars again made a raid on the store of Mrs. C. B. Fitts Friday night. She could not give a correct estimate of the goods stolen but it was somewhere near four or five hundred dollars. This is twice her store has been broken into within a year.

Don't fail to meet the witches, ghosts and goblins who are there waiting for you.

SILK MILL EXTENSION

Local Plant Increasing Capacity—E. W. Ellington Builder of Extension

It is gratifying to note that the work on the extension of the local silk mill is under way. Two additions are planned, a 45-foot one on the east end and a slightly shorter one on the west end. Mr. E. W. Ellington has the contract for the east-end addition, and is at work on it. The other extension is expected to be built after this one is completed.

The two extensions will almost double the capacity of the building. This, with the erection recently of several cottages for employees, indicates an intention on the part of the owner to extend the plant as rapidly as the circumstances justify. The mill is already an important factor in the community's business, and the prospects are that it will constantly become a greater one.

A. M. LLOYD DEAD

Mr. A. Merritt Lloyd, of the Rigsbee section, died Monday morning at his home near the Orange County line. He was buried at Lystra Baptist church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. S. L. Lamb, of Wake Forest, and Rev. Mr. Honeycutt of Carrboro conducting the funeral services.

Mr. Lloyd was about 75 years of age. He had married twice, but both wives preceded him to the grave. There are no children, but one brother, J. E. Lloyd of the same section.

Mr. Lloyd was a good citizen. For many years he was a devoted member of Lystra Baptist church.

KEEPER OF BUOYS MUST BE WATCHFUL

Veteran of Thirty-Five Years Tells of His Job.

Woods Hole, Mass.—Just as the old woman riding the broom had to sweep the cobwebs from the heavens and light the stars each night, so the keeper of buoys must sweep clean the waters, marking the bad spots with spurs and buoys, some of which he must light up at night.

"Thirty-five years, winter and summer, I've been at this job," says A. D. Wilde, head of the department of buoys for the coast from the tip of Cape Cod to the boundary of Rhode Island. "Three hundred buoys are in my care in Buzzards bay and Vineyard sound."

"They have to be watched. The bell buoys must be kept free of rust, far enough out of the water for the gentle roll of the tide to sound their iron bell. The whistling buoys must have their windpipes clear, the valves strong, so that the same fall and rise of the waves will draw air into their throats. The light buoys must be kept supplied with the fuel."

"And everyone of the 300 must be hauled out of the water and ashore once a year, to be scraped and cleaned and painted up and put back fresh. That's the work of my tender, the Anemone."

"The 'garden' of the keeper of the buoy blooms with these strange flowers of the sea. There are prim 'nun' buoys, black conical-shaped forms like the headdress of a medieval sister of charity. The old-fashioned float buoys, the can buoys and their rigid brothers, the spar buoys. All sink into useless stolidity at night, or in a fog."

The bell buoys are massive, with their pyramidal frames, ten or twelve feet high, supporting a heavy iron bell. It takes a 9,000-pound mooring to hold them to the shoal they warn of, day and night, fog or clear.

The light buoys are of the same type, but newer style. Their lights, in cases of the latest products, are made to burn from a supply of pitch gas in cans, lasting six to eight months. They burn steadily.

Night Life in Geneva Has Its Allurements

Geneva, Switzerland.—Night life in Geneva affords delegates some relief to those who wish it.

Besides the municipal casino or kursal there are three fairly spacious dancing and dining resorts where the league delegates can seek relief from texts perused by day in tanguing by night.

Curfew in Geneva rings at 3 a. m. for these nocturnal establishments, and after that hour there is no place to go. Geneva rarely blows itself to all-night parties, except on the occasion of the "escalade," the fête day in December which commemorates the repulse of the hostile Savoyards from the city walls. At that time all Geneva gets into fancy dress and stays in that costume for three whole days and nights.

Like France, Switzerland prohibits the sale of genuine absinth. It goes France one better in prohibiting as well the sale of the absinth substitutes, with which its neighbor country is now flooded. Outside of that, however, the sky and the visitor's pocketbook are the limits in the matter of liquid consumption.

Mrs. Howard Grady of Smithfield spent a few days last week with Mrs. Fletcher Mann.

New Elam News

New Hill, Oct. 25.—Monday morning the Ford touring car in which Herbert Holt was riding turned over, knocking Herbert unconscious. He was alone going to his work near Seaforth. The first man to come along carried him to Dr. Upchurch who administered medical aid and carried him to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Holt. Herbert remained in bed a few days. He was bruised and jarred up considerably but not seriously injured. He stated he was running fast trying to get to his work on time.

Mr. J. H. Webster has gone to Greensboro, where he has accepted a position with the Case Threshing Machine Co., of Atlanta, Ga. Mr. Webster's headquarters will be in Greensboro.

Miss Lola Speagle, John Speagle and Sam Jones spent the week-end in Winston-Salem with Miss Fanny Speagle.

Our neighbor, Mrs. Bettie Goodwin celebrated her 70th birthday anniversary by picking 125 pounds of cotton, besides doing all of the house work. We think this speaks well of her.

The class of little folk of New Elam Sunday school are elated over the fact that Mr. C. B. Thomas of Siler City is going to give them twenty-four chairs for their class. Miss Janice Carr is teacher.

We are sorry to note that Mr. W. A. Drake is not as well as he has been since the runaway accident he was in several weeks ago. He is confined to his room now.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Sturdivant and children spent Sunday with relatives in Apex.

We all missed Miss Ruth Holt at Sunday school as she is a regular attendant. She is confined to her home by illness.

Misses Alma Kendrick, Janice Carr and Henry Ellis spent Sunday afternoon at Chapel Hill with Edward Kendrick. Edward is attending the University.

Mrs. Brown and children, Mr. Matthews, John Brantley, and Miss Kate Brantley of Raleigh were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. R. F. Sturdivant.

Miss Exie Lee Truelove and brothers, John and Ralston, gave a wienie roast to a host of friends Saturday night.

Mr. J. K. Barnes lost three thousand dollars' worth of lumber from fire which got out at one of his saw mills near Merry Oaks one day last week.

Educators Give Junior Red Cross High Praise

Growing recognition by leading educators all over the world has been an achievement of the Junior Red Cross in the last fiscal year.

Included in those which have taken especially favorable cognizance of Junior Red Cross efforts are the World Federation of Education Associations at Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1925, the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, at Washington, 1926, and the National Education Association in Philadelphia, June, 1923. Various State educational bodies have confirmed this approval, the report adds.

As a phase of their work, the Juniors have developed contacts through exchange of correspondence, with similar Junior organizations in virtually every part of the world, and through the development of this medium many leaders see a better chance for world peace in future.

An especially notable development of Junior organization has occurred in Porto Rico, with an enrollment of 137,000, and the Philippines, with 912,000.

More than 5,000,000 American Juniors are at work in this organization of the American Red Cross. Their example is held out by the American Red Cross during the Tenth Annual Roll Call for membership, as one for all Americans to endorse by joining the parent organization during the period November 11 to 25 this year.

War Over, But Red Cross Nurses Are Ever On Duty

Has the romantic picture of the Red Cross Nurse faded with the war days? It has been more than 12 years since that first contingent of brave women to go to the war zone sailed from America to make an undying record of service behind every battle front.

For an answer to their whereabouts today, it is only necessary to refer to any large disaster of recent years in which the Red Cross rendered relief. Wherever there was injury and suffering the Red Cross nurse will be found to have been on active duty.

These nurses are enrolled under the American Red Cross as a reserve of the Army, Navy and U. S. Public Health Service, at all times ready to serve in war or peace. This reserve of Red Cross nurses aggregates 43,603 women who have met the highest standard in the nursing profession.

The Roll Call for membership in the Red Cross this year is November 11 to 25, when the American people identify themselves with the broad services of the organization by joining the ranks.

THE ELECTION AT HAND

Little Interest Manifested—No Real Contests—The Tickets

This is the last issue of the Record before the general election and this occasion is taken to publish that will be voted in this county next Tuesday. Very little interest has been manifested, due chiefly because it is felt there is no real contest. Democratic success is assured in state, county, and districts.

It is noticed that the Republicans have no candidates for clerk of court and coroner. A full ticket was nominated in the convention, we believe, but some failed to accept the nominations. Other names were supplied by the executive committee, but even some of these failed to accept, it seems, leaving two vacancies. It is also notable that the Republicans have a fine young lady on their ticket for register of deeds, and it will be interesting to note her comparative strength in the results next week.

Complete Skull of 'Missing Link' Found

Batavia, Java.—Professor Heberlein of the Netherlands government medical service has discovered at Trinil, in central Java, a complete skull of the prehistoric ape-like creature termed by some the "missing link," and by science, pithecanthropus erectus.

The skull was found at the same place where Prof. Eugene Dubois of Amsterdam university discovered in 1892 the upper part of a skull, two teeth and a thigh bone, from which was reconstructed the previously unknown ape-like human designated as pithecanthropus erectus.

Professor Heberlein's specimen, which is complete and sound, will be kept in Dutch East India, as the exportation of such relics is prohibited.

Doctor Dubois' famous discovery was made on the left bank of the Bengawan river, near Trinil. Much discussion followed, with many authorities opposing Doctor Dubois' theory.

The creature was not held to bridge the entire gulf between man and the ape, but some scientists argued that it constituted a further piece of evidence in that direction.
