City-County Briefs

Mr. D. H. Beard of Rocky Mount came in Monday to visit his brother, H. G. and W. F. Beard. By the way, it is regrettable to note that Mr. W. F. Beard continues very feeble, being constantly confined to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Wilson of New Hope township and their little boys visited the family of Mr. D. E. Lawrence in Moore county during the Easter season.

Mrs. Alice Brown of Vidalia, Ga., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Moore of Cumcock, Rt. 1.

Mrs. Fredericksen, of Petersham, Mass., after visiting a daughter in Tampa, Fla., came here to visit her daughter, Mrs. R. G. Shannonhouse. She left for her Massachusetts home Tuesday evening. Mrs. Fredericksen, as her name suggests, is a Norwegian by birth, as is our own Mrs. Shannonhouse a native of the land of vikings.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunt, Miss Mary Gardner of Raleigh and Mr. William Hunt of Charlotte were Easter visitors at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Hunt.

Mr. B. A. Perry and children visited Mr. Perry's brothers in Durham Sunday and Monday. Mr. Perry extended his trip to Roxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Oldham visited friends at Jonesboro Monday.

Mr. W. R. Oldham, who has continued as superintendent of the Antioch Sunday school since living here, has been succeeded by Mr. C. W. Thomas, the reorganization taking place last Sunday.

Rev. Jonah Barclay and Mr. A. C. Ray attended the Presbytery at Asheboro, leaving for the Randolph capital Tuesday evening.

Their friends were glad to shake hands with Revs. Jesse Blalock, of Aberdeen, and J. M. Arnett, of Wagram, who stopped here a while Tuesday. Mr. Blalock is pastor of the Moncure Baptist church. Mr. Arnett was for ten years a Durham pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Horton, Messrs. Jeter Griffin, F. C. Mann, Joe Moore, Rufus Farrel, Dan Farrell and Masters Joseph and Bryce Moore attended the game of ball between State and Wake Forest at Raleigh Monday. Wake Forest managed to win 5 to 4 in a 13 inning game.

Mr. A. M. Burns came down from Roxboro Tuesday and took his mother, Mrs. R. M. Burns, back with him for an extended visit.

Miss Carrie Quinn, a senior student at Pineland Junior College, spent the Easter holidays at home.

It is hard for us to get the paper out promptly to our subscribers with present mail facilities, but we are hoping that some improvement will be made at an early day.

Mrs. E. B. Hatcher went up to Durham Tuesday evening to be with her husband who has been in Watt's hospital for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat M. Hill of Kinston are visiting Mrs. N. M. Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Riddle and children spent the week-end in Garysburg.

Mrs. D. B. Bryan and little daughter of Wake Forest spent Saturday with Mrs. Geter Griffin.

To tell it in short meter, all the Pittsboro school boys and girls were home for the Easter holiday.

Messrs. Alex. Riddle and Richardson, and Mrs. C. C. Hamlet went to Raleigh Monday.

Mrs. C. C. Poe and children visited Mrs. R. L. Lambeth in Sanford Monday. The whole Lambeth family have had the flu.

It is pleasant to note that Junius Durham, son of Mr. H. F. Durham, is on the honor roll of the University, being one of only 68 freshmen to attain that distinction. Also Watts Farthing, now of Wilmington, but formerly of Pittsboro, won a greater distinction in being named as one of 24 in the whole student body to attain the maximum grade of A on every subject.

MISS BURNS WEDS MR. SAYE AT HOME CEREMONY

Atlanta Journal.

The Orud Hill's Presbyterian church was the scene of a pretty and impressive wedding on Saturday, March 26, when Miss Lelia Mae Burns and Mr. James Furman Saye were united in marriage by Rev. Wade H. Boggs. Promptly at two-thirty o'clock Lohengrin's bridal march, played by Mrs. R. L. Wilmot, announced the bride, who entered with her sister, Mrs. J. Guy Smith, matron of honor. The bride was met at the altar by Mr. Saye and his brother, Mr. Sam W. Saye, who acted as best man. During the ceremony the "Sweetest Story Ever Told" was played softly. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played while the bridal party left the church.

Mrs. Saye is the lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Burns, of Pittsboro, N. C. Mrs. Saye lived in Washington, D. C., before coming to Atlanta, where she had made her home with her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Guy Smith. She has made many friends here.

Mr. Saye is well known in Atlanta. He attended Georgia Tech and was a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is employed in the engineering department of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company.

The bridal couple left immediately for a trip to Florida, and will be at home to their friends after April 1.

ABOUT THE FISH LAW.

It develops that the fellow who uses the old-time hook and line on a reed or wood pole does not have to have license to fish. Nor is there any license required for net, sein, or trap fishing. So go to it, boys. The law is for the protection of game fish and the fellow with rod and reel is the one who must pay the license fee. Such fellows can get license from the clerk of court.

Picnic at Bynum.

Monday, was a gala day at Bynum. A largely attended picnic and baseball game, with a play at night, featured the day, also an address on schools by Prof. Proctor of Duke University, who discussed the feasibility of the eight-months school term. The game was between Bynum and Carrboro and Bynum won.

SMITH SAYS

understand how anything that I was taught to believe as a Catholic could possibly be in conflict with what is good citizenship. The essence of my faith is built upon the commandments of God. There can be no conflict between them.

"Instead of quarrelling among ourselves over dogmatic principles, it would be infinitely better if we joined together in inculcating these commandments in the hearts and minds of the youth of the country as the surest and best road to happiness on this earth and to peace in the world to come. This is the common ideal of all religions. What we need is more religion for our young people, not less; and the way to get more religion is to stop bickering among our sects, which can only have for its effect the creation of doubt in the minds of our youth as to whether or not it is necessary to pay attention to religion at all.

"Then I know your imputations are false when I recall the long list of other public servants of my faith who have loyally served the state. You as a lawyer will probably agree that the office of the chief justice of the United States is second not even to that of the President in its influence on the national development and policy. * * * During one fourth of its history it has been presided over by two Catholics, Roger Brooke Taney and Edward Douglas White. No one has suggested that the official conduct of either of these men was affected by any unwarranted religious influence or that religion played with them any part other than it should play in the life of every God-fearing man."

Then Governor Smith takes up each question and answers it in a manner at least satisfactory to himself. For instance, conveyance to the penitentiary.

LONG SENTENCES

As it was the Chatham county officers who chased the prisoners down after their gun battle with Sheriff Turner and Lee and Chatham deputies on January 20th, it was fitting that the Chatham officers should be in at the finish. They were there and were given the dubious privilege of forming a part of the escort to Raleigh. These were Sheriff Blair and Deputies Nooe, Webster, and John Perry, who had gone down professedly to hear the Judge's charge and were then called upon to finish the task which they and other Chatham deputies had so well begun when they chased the men into Wake, Franklin, and Durham counties and were present at the arrest of each of the four.

The determination of the case rested peculiarly upon the judge's charge. Only one man shot Turner and they were being tried for that one offense alone. If there was no conspiracy to kill and no cooperation in an unlawful act being committed when some one shot Turner, then only the man who shot Turner was guilty of his murder. If there was a conspiracy to kill, all conspiring were equally guilty of the murder and it was first-degree murder. If there was no conspiracy to kill, and yet the four or any two of the defendants were cooperating in an unlawful act when some one shot Turner as a consequence of their being engaged in this unlawful act, then all were involved in the slaying of the man, the degree of the crime being determined by the circumstances. It was a most scholarly and comprehensive charge, the most difficult to follow in all its phases of all the writer ever heard, and it is doubtful if many of the jury were able to digest an hour's lecture on the law of conspiracy and the distinctions in the degree of murder. Anyway His Honor seemed rather inclined to resent the verdict rendered and candidly stated that the evidence justified a first-degree verdict for all four of the men, since he was confident that it was a downright conspiracy, nor did he distribute any bouquets to the jury, who for ten days had patiently heard reiteration after reiteration of the details of the case and who, after all, rendered a verdict that permitted his honor to impose sentences that should be a warning to all others disposed to be a law unto themselves. Thirty years brings Davis past the three-score and ten; thirty years of imprisonment will see Mc-Avenue released at well above fifty. The other two should be thoroughly convinced when their terms expire that crime does not pay, and be willing to live law abiding lives, hence onward.

But the 95 years of toil imposed upon the quartet, if productive, would not much more than remunerate the county of Lee for the ten thousand dollars expense of the trial. It was a luxury the county cannot afford again to have. The Record is informed that bonds will have to be issued to meet the expense account.

It was an able array of attorneys that prosecuted and defended the four men. The writer heard only the speech of Solicitor Williams. It was able and comprehensive. But Judge Sinclair attributed the leniency of the jury to the able counsel defending the prisoners. He and all the defense attorneys expressed the opinion that the trial was exceedingly fair.

On the grounds were the mother and brother of McAvenue, who had driven from Akron, Ohio, to be present at the trial. Mrs. Robbins, too, had come down from the little Franklin county farm to see the outcome of her son's trial, a fine-looking youth of only 21 years, and the one for whom most sympathy
