A Word Personal.

Every man in Chatham county should know that to maintain the Record on the present expensive basis requires considerable business. The paper is now large enough to make money when business is plentiful, but when it is short, it is so expensive as to cause a rapid loss. We do not want to have to cut the size of the paper during the summer months, but it may be necessary. Prompt renewal and a little help in getting new subscriptions can save the situation. A few hundred dollars in subscriptions would go far to save the day. Bring your subscription when you come to court next week and tell your neighbor what a good paper the Record is. Remember also, the first two hundred subscribers, new or old, who pay a full year's subscription will get a subscription to the National Farm News, which sells for a dollar, free as announced last week. We have bought these subscriptions for the sake of helping build up agriculture in the county. We are paying for them in such way as not to feel it, and have decided to give them outright to our farmer readers. But it takes a full year's subscription to entitle you to this present. The Raleigh — Over 14,000 school most subscriptions we have been getting are for eight months, costand get a dollar paper free.

On 4 Per Cent Basis

As was expected by agents of both State and syndicate and all others familiar with recent State bond deals, the First National Bank Syndicate, of New York, conceded to the demands of the Council of State Monday afternoon and bought ten million dollars of North Carolina bonds at 4 per cent. The same syndicate took an option on the other ten million in bonds which the State offered for sale and offered to lend that amount on note until the option was taken up.

The 4 per cent interest rate is the lowest the State has paid since back in 1913, but it did not come as a surprise. The money market is exceptionally good and the bonds were offered for sale at this time in anticipation of a new low interest rate.

The only bid made was by the First National which offered to buy $2,500,000 worth of bonds and option $17,500,000. The Council of State, including Governor McLean who entered the conversation through the medium of the long distance telephone, would not accept those terms, and so after a decent lapse of time, the syndicate came across.

Governor McLean is now in New York signing bonds. His business address is care the First National Bank, the concern which bought
