

TOWN AND COUNTY BRIEFS

Master Foster Powell is visiting his cousin Mr. J. H. Ihrle at Zebulon.

Mrs. E. R. Hinton entertained at nine tables of bridge Thursday evening honoring Mrs. William Lord London, a recent bride.

Mr. W. W. Booker gave a weenie roast Saturday in honor of his little granddaughter Willie Frazier of Hickory, N. C. A number of the neighbor children participated in the feast and frolic.

H. J. Q. Seawell has resigned as cashier of the Page Trust Company at Siler City and has been succeeded by Mr. J. B. Tutwiler, one of the vice-presidents of the company.

The crop outlook in Chatham has improved the past two weeks despite the continuance of rains. The cool cloudy weather after the big rains prevented scalding and seem to have proven the very thing to counteract the damage by overplus of rain.

Mr. C. C. Hall visited Charlotte this week in order to perfect arrangements for the entry of his store here into the Federated chain, which composes a thousand stores. Connection with this chain, Mr. Hall says, will give him the benefit of purchase equal to that of the largest stores, which fact should be reflected in his prices later on. Perhaps he will have something to say about it next week.

The Jones are taking charge of the S. D. Johnson building August 1, and will soon have the store open. Mr. Byrd, formerly of Siler City will be manager.

Pastor Caudill of the Pittsboro Baptist church, after preaching here Sunday, went over to Goldston and preached for the Junior Order, of which he is state chaplain. Mr. and Mrs. Caudill have located for the year at Millbrook, where Mr. Caudill will teach during the school term, but continue to fill his several pastorates. A year later he expects to attend some seminary.

John and Lawrence London entertained a number of young people at their home Wednesday evening. Punch was served throughout the evening by Mrs. Arthur London, mother of the hosts, and Mrs. Will London. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Visitors were Miss Virginia Thompson, of Jackson, house guest of Mrs. Will London, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannonhouse, Jr., of New Bern, T. D. Gurley, of Chapel Hill, and Renaud Shannonhouse, of Charlotte.

Mr. B. Nooe, of Ridgeway, S. C. was in Pittsboro Monday.

Mrs. W. H. Jones has returned to her home in Greensboro after a week's visit to her mother, Mrs. James A. Thompson.

An ice cream supper will be given Saturday evening on the church lawn. Band music will be a feature of the evening. Funds go to the church. You are invited.

Mr. Gurney Williams of Bynum left Sunday for Chicago to take a course in electricity. This news comes from a young lady who says she is lonesome.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Wren of Siler City had a narrow escape Sunday. Their car turned over once or twice and landed bottom upward, with Mr. and Mrs. Wren nesting unhurt in the top.

Revival services began at Lystra Baptist church Williams township, Monday afternoon. Preaching this week at 3 and 8 p. m. Rev. J. C. Canipe, pastor at Siler City, is doing the preaching. Rev. C. H. Henderson is pastor.

Misses Elizabeth Blair and Annie Bynum spent a few days in Raleigh last week and attended while there a dance at Sunset Park. Miss Annie also played the violin for broadcast the evening the Asbury quartet broadcast.

Out of town guests were Mrs. H. R. Nooe, of Ridgeway, S. C., Mrs. Walter Hawkins, of Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Louis Nooe, of Ridgeway, S. C., Mrs. T. K. Duncan of Scotland Neck, Mrs. Norman Sharpe, of Burlington, and Miss Lina Burnette Moore, of Bynum.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, accompanied by Mrs. Henry A. London, and Miss Carrie Jackson, left Tuesday for New York. Mrs. London and Miss Jackson will stop at Trenton, N. J., where they will visit Mrs. London's daughter.

Court for trial of civil cases is in session with Judge N. A. Sinclair on the bench. Judge Barnhill, who was assigned to this district for the last half-year of 1929, is holding the special term of court for the trial of the Gastonia case. Very few are in attendance, as there is no case of any great general interest.

Some excitement was created on Main street Saturday afternoon when Sam Beard came jogging along in the Beard ice truck and crashed into Uncle David Vestal, who had come out from behind a car and finding the car approaching wobbled back and forth in front of it, uncertain what to do. He did the right thing, jumped up and kept the car from running over him. When the radiator hit him in the middle the head struck the windshield and broke it. The scalp was cut but the injuries were not serious.

To the guest making high score, Mrs. Mary Peter Powell, the hostess presented a lovely vase. To her honor guest she presented a lovely hand embroidered bridge set.

Miss Clara and Ethel Johnson after visiting relatives at Mt. Vernon Springs since the close of their schools, are at the home of their brother Mr. Victor Johnson.

Mrs. Victor Johnson and little daughter Eleanor returned with the former's sister Mrs. Louis Nooe for a visit at Ridgeway, S. C.

Chief Justice Lysander Johnson returned Sunday from his trip to the north. He admits being in Washington when that telegram reached Cal Desern about his being "tied up," but professes to have no recollection of having written it. That Washington booze must be strong. He was accompanied on the trip by his son Edwin of Durham. A Pittsboro gentleman is quite sure the telegram was a fake, since he is confident that Judge Lysander would not have the price of one from Washington.

BEAUTIFYING THE WAYSIDE LANDSCAPE

Great interest is being taken in beautifying the landscape. Too frequently little regard is given to the beauty of rural districts when telephone and electric lines are constructed and roads built. In writing about roads in an editorial in the August 1 issue, The Southern Planter states: "We believe in good roads and appreciate their value as an advertising agency for any state. We are confident, however, that they will serve this purpose effectively if the beauty of the wayside is not sacrificed to the straight lines of the unimaginative mechanical mind that thinks of life only in terms of pure commercialism."

The entire editorial follows: Save the Beauty of the Wayside We think we can truthfully say that public opinion, as expressed through the actions of civic and social clubs, is with the fellow who is working to make and keep our countryside beautiful. Therefore, we are amazed at the careless attitude of those who are building our highways and extending public utilities to towns, villages and the open country. As Will Rogers would say, "We only know what we see."

Everybody is interested in extending the telephone and electric lines as far as possible. All thinking people, however resent the way in which many representatives of these companies destroy the beauty of a whole village or town, or decrease the value of timberland in the open country, by ruthlessly cutting out age-old trees and putting unsightly poles in most prominent places.

It is our policy to help the rural people, secure all the modern conveniences necessary to the more abundant life. We also think our duty to warn them against unnecessary sacrifices. Therefore, we call this matter to the attention of the companies interested, as well as to the people, hoping that some action may be taken.

To build a hard surface road also requires an enormous sacrifice of trees and top soil. The people stand for it, hoping and expecting that the increase in land values on a good road will compensate them. Yet, in several states, we notice that after a few years, while the old road is still in good condition, a new and straighter one is seemed to be needed. As result, more trees are hewn down, more farm land depleted and more farmers buoyed up with the hope of increased values. On the old road we find farms, and even whole villages and towns left high and dry to get along as best they can, while a shorter route from Kalamazoo to Timbuktu is made for the casual tourist. If the taxes, paid by the people of the state, are to be used primarily to make smooth and straight the paths of the tourist why was this not carefully considered before the first road was surveyed? If it had been, the money now being used to rectify the unnecessary mistakes, might be put to the service of our long-suffering citizen by helping him improve the county road passing nearer his farm. In this way the isolated farmer would be reasonably sure of getting his produce to market on time, rain or shine, his income would be increased, his home made more comfortable and his land improved.

We believe in good roads and appreciate their value as an advertising agency for any state. We are confident, however, that they will serve this purpose more effectively if the beauty of the wayside is not sacrificed to the straight lines of the unimaginative mechanical mind that thinks of life only in terms of pure commercialism. We also believe the roads may be made to serve our transient friends quite as well if the needs of our citizens are aken into consideration.

FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY

"Thus abideth FAITH, HOPE, and CHARITY"—and in the Banking business the greatest of these is FAITH.

If you have FAITH in our Bank, and HOPE to lay up a little reserve deposit, you will never become dependent on CHARITY, for your funds deposited at OUR Bank will be there waiting for you. Our business is built up by the people of this community who have FAITH in our Bank. And that FAITH is justified. Frozen credits will not tie up our depositors' money. It is right here when they want it.

THE BANK OF GOLDSTON

HUGH WOMBLE, Pres. T. W. GOLDSTON, Cashier GOLDSTON, N. C.

A BANK'S FIRST CARE

The first interest of any bank is the care of the funds of its depositors. That is our prime responsibility, and if you will refer to our statement published two weeks ago, you will see how well this responsibility is observed by the Bank of Pittsboro. You do not see a dollar of accounts payable therein.

No call can be made for a large sum borrowed to loan which would sweep all the cash out of our safe. We play safe for our depositors and for the bank. If that is the kind of bank you wish to deposit in we shall be glad to serve you.
