Meekins Denies Claims

Three lawyers who were responsible for throwing the old Tri-State tobacco association into bankruptcy and who have already been paid $5,000 each for their services, wanted $25,000 more apiece of the tobacco growers' money and made claim for that amount. After considering the claim for several months Judge Meekins in federal court has denied it. The judge hopes to find some legal way to turn over the balance of the tobacco money to the new association being formed under provisions of the farm relief act. The three lawyers were W. M. Person of Louisburg, P. W. Glidewell of Reidsville and E. P. Buford of Lawrenceville, Va.

Guessing Games

They were a lot of fun when we were youngsters, those guessing games. Guess who this is! Guess the number of beans in the pot! Guess how long the pendulum will swing! Sometimes we came pretty close to the right answer. Sometimes we were a long way off. Which-ever we were, we all had a good time, and the worst guesser got as much of the evening's refreshments as the best.

How far away those guessing games seem now! And how they have lost their appeal. Perhaps it's because we learned, as we grew older that to know is better than to guess. Guess which is the best package on the grocer's self! Guess which bolt of cloth is pure wool! Guess which talking machine will give us most satisfaction! No, guessing for those things wasn't so much fun. We wanted to be certain. And that was one of the reasons we turned to advertising.

Advertising takes the guesswork out of buying. It lets us know what is best and what is cheapest and what will last longest. It does away with unsatisfactory uncertainties. The advertisements in this newspaper tell a concise, interesting and accurate story about articles you need. Reading them is the surest and quickest path to wise buying. It eliminates guessing.
