

TOWN AND COUNTY BRIEFS

Mr. Clyde Bland has discontinued his cafe service in the Fields building, finding it unprofitable to run two in Pittsboro at this time.

Mr. J. H. Scott, who retains his home in Bennett while in the lumber business in Greensboro, was a Pittsboro visitor Monday.

Mr. Lester Farrell, a student at Wake Forest College, spent a few days at home this week, as he had finished his examinations at the end of the semester.

Mr. Billie Johnson is now in Hawaii and is, supposedly, a full-fledged army flier. He experienced an earthquake on the Pacific. The waters were tossed by the earth's disturbance.

Peter Alston and John Taylor, two of our good colored subscribers, came to town Monday and ran up their subscriptions a full year each. The colored folk are beating the whites in renewals, in proportion to their number. Too many of the white folk consider paying a subscription so small a matter that they neglect it entirely.

The parent-teacher association meets next Friday, February 7, at 7:30 o'clock at the Pittsboro school building.

Mr. W. H. Griffin returned last week from a pleasant sojourn in Florida. He got back in time to have the full benefit of the big snow.

Mr. C. S. Copeland and Postmaster Sorrell of Cary were Pittsboro visitors one day during the snow last week.

A. H. London, Annie Chapin, and J. A. Thompson, also Mrs. Ed Hinton, visited the sister of the former three at Franklinville Sunday. Mrs. Rose, who has been quite ill.

Lespedeza and soy bean seed were being delivered rapidly the latter part of the week by County Agent Shiver.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Saville announce the birth of a daughter, Ida Marguerite, on January 26, in Baton Rouge, La. Mrs. Saville before her marriage was Miss Lilian Marguerite Ray, of Pittsboro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ray. Mr. Saville, a former member of the faculty of North Carolina State College, Raleigh, is now connected with the Louisiana State University, at Baton Rouge.

Mrs. J. W. Burke of Goldston has been in the Rex hospital for the past four weeks. She underwent a serious operation, but Mr. Burke reported her as recovering very satisfactorily when in Pittsboro last Friday. She hopes to be able to be out within a week or two.

Dr. Mann writes that his advertisement in the Chatham Record is the most attractive of all he publishes, and he uses several papers. Chatham has gone by what once appeared to be the limit for the 1929 cotton crop. The report up to January 16 shows 4,636 bales ginned, against 6,581 last year. Last year's crop was scarcely a two-thirds one, and this one is less than a half crop, as compared with 1923, the last good cotton year the county had.

One ton of lime used under lespedeza by J. L. Cauble of Aibemarle in Stanly County increased the yield of green hay 5,280 pounds to the acre. The yield on land without lime was 3,520 pounds as compared with 8,800 where lime was used.

Mr. Sam Beard, who had been in charge of Mr. Clyde Bland's second cafe, in the Field's building, on the close of the cafe, has gone to Roxboro to work.

Chatham needs an all-time welfare officer. News came to Pittsboro Tuesday of a family in a pitiable plight. It is more important that the sick and hungry be taken care of than for the school term to be lengthened.

A little daughter of Mr. Archie Ward and granddaughter of Mrs. Simmerson, died at the ward home on the Goldston highway last week. Death resulted from influenza followed by pneumonia.

Ed Avent says he had two hogs stolen from him a week or two ago, and that stealing is pretty general in his community. The oil and gas were drawn by thieves from Mrs. Simmerson's saw mill motor, Mr. Avent says.

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. W. C. Johnson and Miss Cordie Harmon at the home of the former.

Rev. J. A. Dailey conducted the funeral service for Mr. Thos. Green at Pleasant Hill church Monday afternoon. A large crowd was out despite the worst roads of many months, or years.

Rufe Clark has killed his hog and says that it weighed 0031 pounds. He says that it simply takes good feed and the right attention to raise pork like that. It was only eight months old.

Mr. C. C. Hamlet became quite ill Monday night, but was much better Wednesday morning.

Messrs. H. G. and D. C. Beard are opening a cafe in the room vacated by Mr. Clyde Bland. Mr. Bland still runs his cafe at his older stand.

Pushing Organization of Sons of Confederacy

Editor Record: The North Carolina Sons of Confederate Veterans, under the leadership of Commander George A. Diggs, Jr., are now entering a new year inspired with the spirit which gave this great organization birth, and supported it thru its many years of activity and advancement.

The Third North Carolina Brigade is made up of the fifth, sixth and seventh congressional districts, and now lists twenty-four camps, enjoying a personnel of zealous and active sons, with the constant purpose in mind of adding comrades to their rosters and promoting the best interests of their respective camps.

Among the objectives sought by our present state commander is the formation of a military unit uniformed in the Southern grey and the organization of a drum and bugle corps.

These two desirable objectives are meeting with ready and favorably response and in time to come will become marked features of the organizations of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, which seeks to recognize the heroism and loyalty of their fathers, and to pass on their honored memory to all coming generations.

The county of Chatham, which sent many gallant boys to the battle front, has no camp at this time.

There is an opportunity therefore for interested Sons to come forward and establish a camp and enter into the activities of the now nation-wide organization.

Our camps cherish a spirit and a purpose which has a place in every Southern community, exalted and respected.

Sons of Confederate veterans are invited to write or call upon me for assistance and information, who are interested in establishing a camp.

LAWRENCE MacRAE, Commander Third N. C. Brigade, Sons of Confederate Veterans, Greensboro, Feb. 3.
