

"CRIPPLED UP WITH RHEUMATIC PAINS"

"Sargon did more for me in a few weeks time than everything else combined did in 25 years and gave me a nine pound gain in weight besides."

MRS. ELIZABETH MILLER

"For years I was crippled up with rheumatic pains in my arms and legs. I was very nervous and had awful headaches. I'd suffer with gascolic and smothering spells after meals, and the glands in my throat and neck would swell to the size of apples. I was so weak and run down and lost so much flesh nobody thought I'd live. I've taken four bottles of Sargon, my rheumatic pains are almost gone, the swelling in my glands is hardly noticeable, my nerves are strengthened and I haven't had a headache since the second bottle. Sargon Pills relieved me entirely of a chronic case of constipation."—Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 129 Hillside St., Asheville.

HELPING HANDS

When the permanent hasn't quite waved.

Well, why did you go to Louis Phillipe when you might have gone to Phillippe Louis? You could do a better job yourself with a hot shoehorn and a yard of haywire!"

"Of course, they sometimes look better after a week or two. But I don't know about this one, my dear. I don't know."

"Oh, don't cry about it now. Why, you can keep your hat on practically everywhere today, and nobody will see."

"Tell you what you might do, get it cut off real short, kind of shingly looking, and then oil it—what? No, I'm not trying to be a comedian. Of course, if you can't be good-natured about it..."

"Well, some hair simply won't take a permanent. Emile admitted that to me himself once. And I said, 'Well, why do you take money from girls when the wave is no good?' But he just laughed—he's a card, he is!"—Holland's, The Magazine of the South.

MIXED ORDERS

Mom," said little Willie, bursting into the house all out of breath, "there's going to be trouble down at the druggist's. His wife has got a baby girl and he'd had a 'Boy Wanted' sign in his window for a week."—Grinnel Matleaser.

Cupid's Calendar

I SUPPOSE that love can spring up at any old time, whether your watch is running on old time or new. But cupid has arranged the calendar so that weddings occur in either spring or fall. Who wants to get married in February or August?

You don't have to read many love stories or love magazines to know that love comes along with youth. We get over the mumps, then we fall in love. After we have had the measles, we get the measly feeling of love-sickness. When love is young, all the world seems giddy.

It seems to be the muddled aged man who is love shy, and he's the fellow that cupid can't jab with his arrow. If the boy is twenty or the man is seventy, love is easy. But when the man is forty and has begun to wear bi-focals, you can't do much love-hunting on his grounds.

Now cupid's calendar isn't confined to the dates of men's lives. It operates with the circumstances of their lives. As far as I can find out from the phases of the love-moon, it is either the time of great good fortune or worse ill luck that makes man's heart open to the dizzy influences of love.

The miner who has hit the rich vein or the fellow who has struck oil or the plunger who has copped something from the ticker tape is the guy who will fall for love. That is, he has the money, and wants some one to spend it on.

But there's another side to the story. The miner who has hit the rich vein or the fellow who has struck oil or the plunger who has copped something from the ticker tape is the guy who will fall for love. That is, he has the money, and wants some one to spend it on.

My idea is that it isn't merely the circumstances in the case that make the heart get so daffy. The man doesn't look for a bride because now he's rich or poor, as the case may be.

No, it's because sudden wealth or poverty has a way of stirring the heart. It's just emotional excitement of one kind or another that lets cupid do his song and dance on the human chest.

The war was cupid's big time. It got everybody stirred up so that there was love and marriage everywhere. It was a poor time for weddings, but when the heart was set on fire by the big fight, it turned men and women into a bunch of Romeos and Juliets.

Whatever stirs the human heart will produce love. It may be spring-time or harvest, wealth or poverty, war or some other ill. It makes little cupid put red letter days in his old calendar.

INGRATITUDE

She took my hand in sheltered nooks. She took my candy and my books. She took the lustrous wrap of fur. She took those gloves I bought for her. She took my words of love and care. She took my flowers, rich and rare. She took my ring with tender smile. She took my time for quite awhile. She took my ardor, maid so shy. She took, I must confess, my eye. She took whatever I would buy. And then she took another guy. —Loyola U.

Trouble is mighty stubborn. It will never go out of the way of the fellow who is looking for it.
