

Roman Soldier Tells of the Resurrection

I was a Roman soldier in my prime; Now age is on me and the yoke of time. I saw your Risen Christ, for I am he Who reached the hyssop to Him 'on the tree; And I am one of two who watched beside The sepulcher of Him we crucified. All that last night I watched with sleepless eyes; Great stars arose and crept across the skies. The world was all too still for mortal rest. For pitiless thoughts were busy in my breast. The night was long, so long, it seemed at last I had grown old and a long life had passed. Far off the hills of Moab, touched with light, Were swimming in the hollow of the night. I saw Jerusalem all wrapped in cloud, Stretched like a dead thing folded in a shroud. Once in the pauses of our whispered talk I heard a something on the garden walk. Perhaps it was a crisp leaf lightly stirred— Perhaps the dream-voice of a waking bird. When suddenly an angel-burning white Came down with earthquake in the breaking light, And rolled the great stone from the sepulcher, And mixed the morning with a scent of myrror. And lo the Dead had risen with the day; The Man of Mystery had gone His way! Years have I wandered, carrying my shame; Now let the Tooth of Time eat out my name. For we, who all the Wonder might have told, Kept silence, for our mouths were stopped with gold.

—Edwin Markham.

Little Likelihood of Fixed Date for Easter

Fixing the date of Easter Sunday by the phases of an arbitrary moon has required higher mathematics, and has resulted in much confusion in the past. For instance, St. Augustine relates that in the year 387 the church of Gaul kept Easter on the 21st of March; those of Italy on the 18th of April, and those of Egypt on the 25th of April. In one year, about the middle of the eighth century, an English king celebrated the Easter festival while his queen was fasting and keeping Palm Sunday. They were following different teachers. There has long been an agitation for a fixed date for Easter, now sponsored by the League of Nations, but there has always been, and there still is, opposition to any change.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Season of Joyfulness

The quaint Cavalier poet, Sir John Suckling, could think of no better way of describing the lissome grace of his lady fair than to exclaim:

But, O, she dances such a way! No sun upon an Easter day Is half so fine a sight!

And certain it is that on Easter, of all the days of the running year, the sun is most welcome and the enshrouded ominousness of the rain cloud is most dreaded. It is, above all, a day of joyousness and a cheerful ebullition of the subdued and chastened spirit, after the appropriate season of meditation in sackcloth and ashes.

Greater of Festivals

Easter is the Church's supreme festival. It sounds the highest symphony of Christianity. It echoes the sublimest oratorio of Faith. It is the sunrise of Hope over this darkened world. On it the outburst of angelic song at the Nativity attains its most exultant note.
