

REJOICES OVER SARGON BNEFITS

"I was in an extremely nervous condition and finally had a nervous breakdown. I'd have pains in my back and sides nearly all the time, and I'd almost go frantic with headaches. A terrible rheumatic condition in my arms and hips nearly ran me into hysterics. Sargon is the only medicine that ever gave me lasting relief, and I'm filled with rejoicing over the new health it gave me. Every trace of indigestion is gone, my appetite is fine, and the rheumatic condition and the pains in my back and sides are gone. I'm fast regaining my lost weight and Sargon Pills are the finest treatment I ever found for constipation and a terpid liver."

MRS. AMANDA LADD

Mrs. Amanda Ladd, 59 Vance St., Asheville.

C. R. Pilkington, Pittsboro; Wiggins Drug Stores, Inc., Siler City, Agents. —Adv.

Poultry Will Increase Your Farm and Back Yard Income Easily

Prepared by FRED P. ABBOTT Agricultural Agent, S. A. L. Ry., Hamlet, N. C.

In these times when money is so hard to secure and generally so badly needed, the only answer an intelligent or progressive man, woman or child could give this question would be in the affirmative.

If you are doing a general farming business, you have your regular income in the fall of the year, providing seasonal conditions are conditions conducive to the making of your crops and that market conditions will permit disposing of them at figures greater than the cost of growing and harvesting. The foregoing, of course, would similarly apply to those who specialize in fruits or vegetables, or other special crops.

Now let's continue with our general farm plans, providing they are economically sound and you are following approved practices; then in addition, supplement your income with the daily, weekly, or monthly sale of poultry and eggs. The United States Department of Agriculture Year Book shows that Iowa and Illinois are among the leading states of our Union in the production of poultry and poultry products and that the greatest percentage of poultry of these two states comes from farms having flocks ranging in size from 176 to 450 head.

If every farm and backyard poultry flock in your State could be built up to the proper size, your own state would soon assume the lead in this most profitable enterprise. This would be the means of bringing into your community, a vast amount of outside money and your own section would again enjoy the prosperity that it has once known.

Set five more hens or buy the equivalent in day-old chicks and let's really get started in the poultry business. Remember with the regular cash market offered you through the medium of carlot poultry sales—having poultry on the yard is the same as having money in the bank. The hen is now considered a cash crop.

Your Home or County Agent, Vocational Agricultural Teacher, or the Agricultural Department of the Seaboard Air Line Ry., will gladly assist you with your problems in this and other matters.

IF PARKER IS DEFEATED

(Greensboro News)

If Judge John J. Parker is defeated in a Republican senate for confirmation as associate justice of the Supreme court of the United States, the effort to build up the Republican party in North Carolina, in prestige and in numbers, may as well be abandoned. It may as well be abandoned in the states of the southeast where not nearly as much progress has been made toward the establishment of the party on the sure foundation of public respect as has been made in North Carolina.

If the nomination of Judge Parker is not confirmed, the enterprise of the American Federation of Labor, of unionizing those industries which contain the bulk of the wage earners of this section, may as well be abandoned. Whether or not there is either tions, or the people of the state and section concluded it is a communist inspired effort, is a consideration of secondary weight. The things standing out with force and clarity would be, as affecting the Republican party particularly, that a protest of northern negroes, on racial lines, had contributed to the result; and as affecting organized labor that it had prosecuted the successful effort to lay a terrific rebuke upon a United States judge for having held that a decision of the Supreme court is the law of the land.

If Judge Parker's nomination is defeated, the senate referring to the demands of the Society for the Advancement of the Colored People, it will also be a signal defeat of the hopes and the labors of those men and women, white and colored, who have striven most earnestly for justice to the negro, good will between the races where they dwell side by side, opening the door of hope to millions of black people. It would turn back the ebbing tide of prejudice. It would render greatly more difficult the prevention of violence, of terrorism, which have been in the past the fearful incidents of prejudice. Here is a sowing that may look to a sinister harvest, for both races, in this part of the country.

This protest of organized labor which was begun apparently for the purpose of emphasizing the contention that extreme conservatism ought not to be permitted an overbalance in the court—a sympathetic attitude towards which emphasis the Daily News has many times expressed—was early shown to be without a justifiable basis. It ought to have been abandoned when that fact emerged. For Judge Parker to have ruled, regardless of the connection, otherwise than that a decision of the Supreme court is binding upon the judiciary of the United States in any clear application, would have been astounding, revolutionary. The people who are more directly concerned in this matter have indeed a high regard for the principle of the independence of the judiciary, but not of judicial independence of the laws and the rulings of the courts of final appeal whereby laws are construed.

This newspaper is convinced that the strengthening of an opposition party in North Carolina and other states of similar political complexion is necessary to the best government the people are capable of giving themselves, and has often testified to that conviction. It rejoices in the growth of racial good will, the benefits that flow from it to both races; to contemplates with deep satisfaction that enlargement of opportunity that has come to the negro to work out his destiny in security here, and has been glad of, every opportunity offering to help in these things. It is deeply concerned that labor may have and enjoy, in tranquil assurance, its fair share of the good things of life. And so it must regard the situation developed by ill-advised politics out of this judicial appointment as a grave one indeed.

WHITE HOUSE MAIL "GIMMES"

If President and Mrs. Hoover granted every request made to them by mail the White House would be denuded of objects and the Hoover fortune, great though it is, would be no more. Hard though it may seem for the chief executive to decline some token or other, it is necessary in this day when so many people pester him with such requests. For instance, the prisoner at St. Quentin may feel hurt because Mrs. Hoover did not buy one of his made-behind-bars purses and the Home Mission Society of Dillon, Ill., is disappointed because Mr. Hoover did not send it some of his old clothes for a charity bazaar. But if the President and First Lady granted such appeals there would be no end to solicitations. Thus it is easy to understand why the White House has to write such polite refusals. Mrs. Coolidge once had some prints of the White House made to satisfy the demands of those who requested her to send them pictures of the executive mansion, but the fact that she was giving them out spread like wildfire and she soon had to forego such generosity. In the eyes of those who love them, the unfortunates behind bars are always innocent and the White House mail is filled with requests for presidential intervention. But nothing doing; the chief executive has no power to interfere in state penal matters even if he wanted to. Every mail brings quotas of tickets from optimists who think the President will buy them for this and that affair. Again disappointment. And the same awakening goes for parents asking presidential help for child prodigies and for families only to discover that Uncle Sam does not pay a premium on the same.—The Pathfinder.

THE BIGGER THEY ARE THE BETTER WE FEEL

"Lions are friendly if you treat them well."—Sunday Dispatch heading.

Personally we have always resisted, in a humane manner, our impulse to enter their cages and kick them around.—Dublin Opinion.

SEE AMERICA FOIST

Black—"So you have had a chance to see the king's palace in England, eh? What did you think of it?"

White—"Well, after seeing our own movie houses, filling stations, and hot dog stands, it isn't very impressive."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MUZZLED

"Hullo! Bought a saxophone?" "No; I borrowed it from the man next door." "But you can't play it." "Neither can he while I've got

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma

Frank T. Carroll, Business Manager and Advertising Director of the Pittsboro Press, says:

"Did you ever stop to think that the newspaper of today, as an advertising medium, must keep more than a step ahead in the march of progress?"

"In this modern age—with so many interests bidding for the leisure time of all classes of people—the progressive newspaper which intends to stay in the front rank as an advertising medium must sincerely endeavor to make all newspaper advertisements more attractive, more interesting, more truthful, and, consequently, more productive.

"The modern newspaper can accomplish this by assisting advertisers in the preparation of copy, layout, art work and typography; offering suggestions to create reader-interest; and by cooperating with merchandise managers, advertising managers and copywriters in calling their attention to trends of retail advertising as expounded by acknowledged advertising experts.

"The Retail Advertising Institute, originated by The Pittsburgh Press in the fall of 1928, was a step toward establishing an understanding and cooperative spirit between advertisers and the newspaper. The prophetic need of such cooperation is manifesting itself in the sponsoring of similar retail advertising institutes by newspapers in many metropolitan cities.

The success of the newspaper of tomorrow must be founded on service and on cooperation, and this can be realized only when the newspaper and the advertisers recognize the necessity of employing modern advertising methods."

COMING CLEAN

Mrs. Cornstossel—"I've been expectin' a package of medicine for a week and haven't got it yet."

Expressman—"Yes, ma'am. Please fill in this paper and state the nature of your complaint."

"Well, if you must know, it's indigestion."—Border Cities Star.

DISPLAY BECOMES UTILITY

Tokyo—Official announcement was made today of the approaching marriage of Prince Takamatsu, younger brother of the Emperor, to Kilkuko Tokugawa, granddaughter of the last of the Shotguns.—New York Times.

Learning is not nearly so hard as unlearning.

A lie has short legs.—Slavic proverb. When an official is charged with serious misdoings he simply has to run again to be vindicated.

CUT COFFEE COST IN HALF

You get as many cups from one pound of "Gold Ribbon" Brand Coffee and Chicory as you do from two pounds of ordinary coffee, because it is Double Strength. Cut your coffee bill in half by using "Gold Ribbon" Blend—one pound lasts as long as two pounds of ordinary coffee—and you pay no more!

The SUN pours fragrance into these tobaccos

LONG BEFORE the choice leaves of golden Turkish and velvety brown Domestic tobacco are selected for Camel Cigarettes, nature's own alchemy has worked a miracle in them that no effort of man can hope to duplicate.

Every tiny leaf-cell is irradiated—stored full of goodness by the clean, pure vigor of the sun!

Our share in the making of Camels is to see that all of the fragrance, mildness, mellowness, aroma—in a word all of the natural goodness of these sun-ripened tobaccos is preserved and developed—then to combine them into the smooth, delightful harmony of the famous Camel blend, and manufacture them into cigarettes by the most modern methods known to the industry.

You can taste the natural goodness in every delicious puff of a Camel Cigarette.

CAMELS

for real smoke pleasure