STAY WITH THE LORD—The Lord is with you, while ye be with Him; and if ye seek Him, He will be found of you; but if ye forsake Him, He will forsake you.—II Chron. 15:2.

PRAYER—O Lord, we would seek Thee now when Thou mayest be found, and call upon Thee whilst Thou art near, for this is the day of Thy salvation.

The commissioners are cursed enough without having the closed season for fishing laid to them. Whether stopping fishing for a while is a good thing or a bad one, the county commissioners have nothing to do with it. The state game commission has the authority to make such regulations and are wholly responsible for the order discontinuing fishing till June 10. We understand that in one section of the county the commissioners have been blamed for this closed season, and that is hardly fair.

Mr. S. P. Teague says that he has been able to find only two Simmons supporters among the Democrats of Albright township. At that rate Albright will run Oakland a race for unanimity for Bailey. Since the above was written, Colon Pattishall has shown us a partial list of the Bailey club for Oakland. He had his original prepared form full, 84 names out of 85 Democrats seen, and the 85th just didn't care to sign, though he said he expected to vote for Bailey. Oakland is the township in which we reported, a week or two ago, that Colon Williams was distressed because no Simmons man could be found and that he feared they would be accused of cheating if Bailey should get them all.

Parker was beaten. North Carolina is again in for a long swing without a member on the supreme court bench. However, the Republicans of North Carolina can not grumble at North Carolina Democrats. Both senators worked and voted for Parker, and the bar association unanimously endorsed him. It will be interesting now to watch the course of the senate with respect to President Hoover's nomination of Roberts, a Philadelphia lawyer. He is a wet, or is said to be. In modern parlance that may mean that he only thinks that there is some better way to control liquor than the present way. Nevertheless, a man no longer has the privilege of having and expressing an opinion contrary to that accepted as orthodox. Videlicet Parker.

The Record has published two articles from leading Republicans of the eastern part of the State, urging that the Republican senatorial candidate should come from the east and endorsing Major George Butler of Clinton. We have two others, the one from Mr. Mebane, candidate for Congress in the Third district, and the other from Junius M. Harden. Their arguments and endorsements are similar to those published, and without printing them, we commended the sentiments to our Republican friends in the county. It would be utterly unfair to the eastern part of the State, in case the Republicans should happen to elect the senator, for him to come from the western part of the State, and if he is to come from the eastern part, Major Butler is the man who, in the view of the four leaders who have written their sentiments for The Record, deserves the honor, and to that sentiment this friend of Major Butler's says a hearty Amen. We feel that we should open our columns to the Republicans in this contest, since the members of that party form a goodly part of our clientele, and must largely depend upon The Record for news and views pertaining to their party affairs.

How little to be trusted is the herd has again been demonstrated by the action of the Sherman, Texas, mob, which burned down the court house in order to accomplish their fiendish purpose to kill a negro charged with a crime no worse than that committed by these patriots who trampled upon every right of society, upon all laws of the State and of God, defying the very military force of the State. And all this was done in righteous anger, they supposed. What fools, what savages men may become when they set out to punish the wicked! The brute is just under the skins of millions, and yet nothing seems to call it forth so readily as a pretence of horror at an instance of brutishness. In other days similar scenes resulted from horror at what the saintly persecutors supposed to be blasphemous expressions of belief on the part of the victim. The persecutors would avenge God. The mob must avenge society. But the fewer avengers God or society has of the stripe of either ilk, the better pleased and served is God or society. The idea of hoodlums avenging society! Sane, safe, and righteous men can not be conceived as forming a part of that mob.

THAT VOLUNTARY CUT

(From Hamlet News-Messenger)

Some days ago a farmer living near Raleigh called up Director Council of the census bureau and said that he did not have time to fill out the questionnaire that the enumerator had left with him, and asked if it was compulsory. "Oh, no," replied Mr. Council urbanely. "The government is very generous in such cases. It offers you the choice of filling out the questionnaire or going to Atlanta on a year's vacation at government expense." The farmer understood and said he would find time to fill out the blank.

Another man, who had been on a certain job for years, was observed loafing by a friend. "Get fired?" asked the friend. "Oh, no," said the man; "I quit. They stopped my pay and I got mad and quit working for them."

Both of the above anecdotes were brought to mind by reports that the various state institutions had "voluntarily" reduced the appropriations coming to them from state funds. Sure, it was voluntary; the governor and the budget bureau told them that if they asked for the full amount they wouldn't get it; so the institutions decided not to ask for it. As voluntary as that.

POPPY SALE

The women of Chatham unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will conduct their annual sale of memorial poppies the last of May. The purpose of the sale is to honor the memory of the World War dead through the general wearing of the poppy of Flanders Fields, the flower which grew on the desolated battle fields where they died and amid the crosses beneath which they were buried. At the same time the sale raises annually a large fund for the care of the disabled and the dependents of the dead and disabled.

Last year the sale of the little red flowers brought the Legion and Auxiliary nearly $900,000 for their relief work among the war's victims. This year it is expected that the total will be above $1,000,000. This money is divided among the 10,000 posts of the Legion and the 6,500 units of the auxiliary for their relief work among the disabled men in their communities and to it is added many hundreds of thousands more in money and materials from the other resources of these two great organizations.

Persons not thoroughly informed on the conditions among the men who served the country in the war and their families may wonder why this vast relief program is necessary. The government has provided compensation for the disabled and free hospital treatment for all veterans. Is this not enough to assure adequate care for all the victims of the war?

The answer is that nothing which can be done officially is adequate. Government aid must necessarily follow a mechanical procedure in which the human element is subordinated if entirely overlooked. To receive government compensation a veteran must establish legal proof that his disability was contracted in the service, often a difficult or impossible task ten years after the close of the conflict. Yet thousands of young veterans, approaching the prime of life, are falling victims each year to physical and mental conditions of which their war serv-

War Nurse Sends Sargon to Mother In Far Off London

MRS. A. J. PAYNE

"Sargon did so much for me that I'm sending a treatment to my mother in London, England.

"I'm a trained nurse and served overseas in the World War, but I never in all my life saw anything like Sargon. I was almost a nervous wreck, was put on a strict diet of milk, for months and I was constantly having to dose myself with drastic laxatives, and finally after long suffering I was down to 95 pounds. I started Sargon about a month ago and now my appetite is splendid and I haven't a trace of indigestion. My whole system is wonderfully strengthened and invigorated, I sleep fine and am gaining weight every day. Sargon Pills overcame my constipation completely."—Mrs. A. J. Payne, 214 N. 75th St., Birmingham, Ala. C. R. Pilkington, Pittsboro; Wiggins Drug Stores, Inc., Siler City, Agents. —Adv.

SPEAGOLAX GOOD TONIC FOR NURSING MOTHERS SAYS MRS. MINNIE HARRIS, ROCKY MOUNT, N. C.

Speagolax Medicine Co., Durham, N. C.

Dear Sirs:

I have been troubled about eight years with indigestion and other troubles until I was not hardly able to go but dragged around some way. I have been taking SPEAGOLAX and it has done me so much good I will never forget it. I want to praise it to others. It is so good for nursing mothers. My baby has been fattening every day since I started taking it and he is so much better. I think it is a good medicine for nursing mothers.

The relief work of the Legion and the auxiliary reaches out human hand into regions of distress where the government can not reach. If a veteran is lying ill and his family is hungry and cold, the legion and auxiliary do not ask proof that his illness is a result of the war out first bring groceries, fuel and clothing and then seek to make the man eligible for government help by establishing the war origin of his disability. They bring to the veterans in distress the understanding and encouraging aid of a comrade, saving these men from the morale-breaking experience of appealing to public charity. May the poppy sale this year bring them the means of continuing and expanding this fine work which they alone can do.

MRS. CLINTON E. BRYAN, President A. L. A.

Over a Billion Deadly Germs in a Single Drop of Water

Germs are so small that there may be as many as one billion, seven hundred million of them in a drop of water. And just a few of these tiny germs, if they get into your blood through a cut in your skin, may make you so sick you will be in bed for weeks—may cause the loss of a limb through blood poisoning—may even infect you with that most dreadful and fatal of diseases, lockjaw.

Just because you can see no dirt in a cut does not mean that it is clean. You can not see germs. The only safe and sane thing to do, is to thoroughly wash every cut, no matter how small, with Liquid Borozone, to kill the germs, and then dust it with Borozone Powder, to hasten the healing. Liquid Borozone costs 30 cents, 60 cents, $1.20 and $1.50; Borozone Powder, 30 cents and 60 cents, and can be had at Pittsboro Drug Co.

Living beyond your means means troubles for somebody.—Forbes Magazine.

PORTION OF ALUMINUM PLANT, BADIN

THE third largest aluminum reduction plant in the world is at Badin, seven miles from Albemarle. Aluminum is a part of almost all kinds of clay, soils and rocks and it is estimated that one-twelfth of the earth's crust is composed of it. The process at Badin consists of making metallic aluminum from the semi-refined material known as alumina, which is derived from bauxite ore. In America, bauxite ore is found in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Arkansas.

The alumina is extracted from the bauxite at a concentrating plant and then shipped to reduction plants, such as at Badin, where it is put through an electrochemical process and the metallic aluminum extracted. This product is called pig aluminum. In this form it is shipped to various plants about the country where it is made into innumerable articles ranging from tubes for toothpaste to railroad tank cars.

The output of aluminum at Badin is approximately 133,000 pounds per day when the plant is operating at full capacity. There are about 1,000 employees on the plant's payroll.
