Return to Long Staple

"In the Atlantic coast section the outlook for continued cotton production seems to lie in the possibility of a return to longer staples, either sea-island or long-staple upland. In recent years short-staple upland varieties have replaced sea-island. This is perhaps a temporary expedient. A return to long-staple may be feasible if communities can unite on a single variety. It is difficult, however, to avoid weevil injury to the long-staples if earlier short-staple varieties are to continue in the same district."—W. M. Jardine, former Sec. of Agriculture.

Analysis for Bright-leaf

For bright tobacco on soils that are quite productive, and on the heavier soils, the fertilizer should contain about 3 percent nitrogen, 8 percent phosphoric acid, 5 percent potash, according to agronomists and tobacco specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture and the experiment stations and agricultural colleges of Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia. These experts met in Raleigh, N. C., last September, and agreed in recommending the best analyses for bright-leaf.
On light-colored soils that have red subsoils, the experts said, the fertilizer should be a 3-8-3 analysis of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.
On light or less productive soils, the analysis should be 4-8-6, in the order of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

"Used V-C Bright-leaf Tobacco Grower 8-3-3, 1,000 pounds per acre, and although the weather conditions were very bad we sold the tobacco for $1.257. Can always depend on V-C."

"It's V-C, Pete!"

Maybe it's the spring weather that makes a mule pull, or maybe it's the slap of a line and the sound of some stout language behind him—but this picture from the V-C billboards takes the position that it's the V-C.
Old Pete checks up before he starts, says the picture, and sees the V-C bags lined up across the field. Then he thinks to himself, in mule language, "Well, everything is all right. We might as well get going. I've plowed this field too many times with a V-C crop to have any notion we can take our time from this on. Your Pa and me learned we had to hurry to keep ahead of that fertilizer—so come on, Son, let's show 'em how to do some distributing!"

FULL ROWS is a cautious and conservative journal and vouches for nothing it can't prove. But there is the picture! Who could doubt a picture?

Fewer Seed, Better Plants

Reduce the average amount of seed sown in your tobacco bed by half, says the Yearbook of Agriculture, declaring that almost invariably a tobacco grower seeds his plant bed too thickly. To plant fewer seed is better than to plant a thick bed and then have to thin it by hand, which is slow and laborious, or rake the bed, which hurts tender leaves. If the seed has been re-cleaned and all light and immature individuals taken out, it is even better to reduce the average amount by two-thirds, says the Yearbook. If tobacco seed has been thoroughly re-cleaned, one ounce of it contains about 300,000 viable seed, says the Yearbook; so that an ounce of seed to 700 square feet of bed ought to bring a stand of three seedlings to the square inch, or about 8,000 plants to 18 square feet. This allows plenty of room for developing vigorous seedlings with healthy root systems, and does not sacrifice space beyond reason.
—V-C—

Low yields of cotton per acre mean high costs per pound.

—V-C—

"—netted 725 pounds of lint cotton per acre. Used 500 pounds of V-C 10-3-3 per acre and 150 pounds nitrate of soda."

—D. T. TATUM, LaFayette, Ala.
—V-C—

Can Get Official Grading

For 40 cents per sample, any grower or owner of cotton can get an official statement of the quality of his fiber. He is expected to ask for a form, fill it out, and send it back with his samples to the United States board of cotton examiners at New Orleans, Houston, Galveston or New York, or to the appeal board of review examiners at Washington.

McIvers Enjoy Big Birthday Dinner

Last Sunday was a gala day for Mr. and Mrs. D. E. McIver of the White's Bridge section. It was approximately the birthday of both of these genial old folk. Mr. McIver is 78 and Mrs. McIver about ten years younger. Children, grandchildren, and other relatives and friends came, bringing baskets from far and near, to a number estimated about 150. There was an abundance of dinner for all, and the occasion was a very enjoyable one for all participants.
A deposit of 10% will be required of the purchaser at the sale.
This the sixth day of May 1930.

Brown's Chapel News

Several of our people were at the celebration of Pastor Dailey's birthday. That dinner was enough to make any natural person hungry, not to mention Brother Dailey. And that gentleman was not the only one who demonstrated his eating ability. Mr. E. J. Dark and a ten-year old child happened to have the same birthday as Brother Dailey and were called to the front and presented with cards wishing them much joy. Brother Dailey's fine garden was looked over by some of us and probably some lessons in gardening were taken to heart.
Little Harold Dark of Carrboro is spending some time with his cousin Charles Willis Lutterloh, helping chop cotton and such like.
Mr. W. M. Perry, who is doing carpenter work in Durham, came home in time for the big dinner. He was accompanied by his son-in-law, Walter Ray and family.
We are proud of a nice rain that fell Saturday afternoon. It was a real rain in our community and has been a great help to growing crops.
We regret to learn that Mrs. Dark, who is ill with a complication of troubles, will go off for treatment soon.

Gordon Marshall is now at home from Elon College for the summer.

He made an excellent talk during the opening exercises of our Sunday school, which were led by Miss Pearl Dark. Sunday school was brought to a close with an interesting program of the Epworth League. Misses Pearl and Estella Dark rendered a beautiful duet.
Little Dorris Durham was able to be out with her mother, but still seemed in ill health after an attack of malaria.
Mrs. F. R. Henderson, now of Graham, says her children all look forward to the coming of the Chatham and the B. C. news as a letter from home.

Oakland News

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Eddins have returned from a visit to the latter's brother, Mr. J. J. Burns, at Troy. They visited also Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Burns, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Garner, all of Troy. They visited also Mr. and Mrs. Otis King and Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Harper at Star, and then went to see Mrs. Eddins' brother D. M. Burns at Biscoe.
Miss Stacie Eddins of Durham spent the week-end with her parents. She was accompanied by Miss Hattie Sauls, Miss Lester Alderman, and Miss Eva May Martin, all of Durham.
