PRIMARY AT HAND

Bailey Likely to Carry Chatham by a Vote of Two to One—Little Interest in Republican Primary.

Saturday will see the settlement of the long disputed question as to the outcome of the Democratic primary. The state papers six days before the primary are guessing.

The Republicans are also to choose a senatorial candidate the same day, voting blue tickets while the Democrats vote white ones.

There are four Republican candidates, Butler, Tucker, Dorsett, and Pritchard. Chatham's vote will be divided chiefly between Dorsett and Butler, so far as we are able to judge.

Chatham is typical of the situation in the Simmons-Bailey race. Where one is strong he is very strong, seems to be the situation in the greater part of the state.

The fight is in deadly earnest this week. The Simmons forces are trying to work the negro racket.

have registered as Democrats, and the Simmons forces are trying to make the impression throughout the state that they were registered through the influence of Bailey supporters.

Practically all the county candidates were in Pittsboro Monday, but there are so few real contests in the county that the interest is chiefly centered in the senatorial fight.

ERROR CORRECTED

How Mistakes May Occur in the Best Regulated Print Shop

It is easy for some serious errors to be made in printing a paper. For instance, last week we wrote that "Mr. Geo. H. Brooks, present coroner, has filed as the Democratic candidate and Dr. Chapin as the Republican candidate for coroner."

times it makes an embarrassing situation. The same word occurring twice in the same line of copy is liable to cause the printer to skip from the one to the other.

In the hurry of making up the forms for the paper, you will sometimes notice the wrong head over an article. The heads are usually set in a different type and then placed over the article, and then mistakes occur.

JUNE GARDEN NOTES Extension Horticulturist Prepared by E. B. Morrow

1. Plan now for a good crop of strawberries next spring. Bar off the old bed to a narrow row of plants and keep well cultivated on both sides of the row so that runner plants may take root as they form.

2. Now is the time to start sweet potatoes from vine cuttings. Vine cuttings are usually free from disease and therefore offer one means of producing a clean crop.

use 800 to 1000 pounds of 8-4-8 (P-N-K) fertilizer per acre.

3. Set tomato plants for the late summer crop. Plants set at this time should have their roots placed deep in order to reach the moist layers of soil.

4. Plant cabbage and collards for the fall and winter crop. Sow the seed in a partially shaded bed and well watered until the young plants are established.

5. Keep up the supply of sweet corn by making successive plantings every three or four weeks. Early-maturing varieties may be planted as late as ten weeks before the usual date of killing frost.

6. Plant bush beans every three weeks in order to have a constant supply of fresh, tender, "snaps". Start the fight against the bean beetle early by spraying with magnesium arsenate as soon as adult beetles are found on the plants.

7. Spray cantaloupes, cucumbers, and watermelons with Bordeaux in order to control leaf blights. The best insurance is to keep the vines covered with the spray material, although two or three applications will give reasonable control in an average season.

8. Go over the watermelon patch every two weeks and remove all misshapen melons while they are young.

A Few Whittlings Off the Washington Stick

It won't keep up forever—this session of Congress. There are a few optimistic souls who predict adjournment before the end of June.

Lest we forget, there is, of course, the Naval treaty, which two of our leading admirals say does not achieve parity. And if we should achieve parity the cost would be something in excess of $375,000,000.

There are many rumblings in the Republican party against the president. Talk that he is a one-termer—that the crumbling of the Republican majority in the senate may be attributed to his lack of leadership and unwillingness to advise with party leaders.

One thing is true. Hoover has aged materially. He appears to be ten years older than when he was inaugurated. Deep lines are in his face.

Meanwhile the Democrats and Progressives cling belligerently to their coalition. In fact, the first lasting demonstration of their power was in rejection of Judge Parker's nomination for the Supreme Court.

The three cornered battle for the Republican senatorial nomination in

New Jersey has monopolized the front pages of the press since last week because it is reported that Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow is to be the Republican candidate of the east for president in 1932.

In the Democratic camp there is still talk of Owen D. Young. He has resigned some of his connections which might have detracted from his candidacy because of his relations with moneyed interests.

The east, northwest and south can elect anybody. Much of the Hoover patronage has gone to Minnesota, California and the middle west.

In other words, it pays to have a little ready money on deposit in the bank, in order to take advantage of any profitable deals that may be offered. Surplus funds in large amounts should of course be placed in sound investments, but it pays to keep a snug balance on hand at the bank all the time.
