S. A. L. Installs 27 Flood Lights

Makes Better Working Condition on Yards, as Lights Give Daylight Effect

(From The Hamlet News-Messenger)

It is believed that the Hamlet yards of the Seaboard have one of the most modern flood lighting systems in the south, if not in the entire United States. It compares very favorably with the flood lighting systems of the other leading railroads in this country. This system was installed at an approximate cost of $10,000.

There are a total of 27 lamps or projectors, eleven of which are 1,000 watts each and sixteen are 15,000 watts each, making a total of 35,000 watts.

These 27 lights are divided among two steel towers and the top of the coal chute. The yards are completely lighted up, and is proving a great aid to those working at night.

One of the steel towers, approximately 100 feet high, contains eight 15,000 watt lights, pointing north. The other tower, about 90 feet high, has eight 15,000 lights pointing north and two 1,000 watt lights pointing south. Two 1,000 watt lights project northward to the north.

Just an idea of the total brilliance of the 27 lights. The majority of automobiles carry a total of 48 candle power headlights, two of 24 each. The combined brilliance on the yards is in the neighborhood of 62,000 candlepower or about 13,000 times the brilliance of an approaching automobile headlight. Some light!

The railroad employees are very appreciative of what the Seaboard does for them. The new lights are especially pleasing to them. They may prevent many accidents that are sometimes caused from night shifting. The night men can see almost as well as those in the daytime. The lights will also expedite the handling of trains on the yards at night.

In order to fully show their appreciation the men wrote Superintendent Sauls a letter of thanks for what the Seaboard does for them in installing these lights.

These is only one of the many things the Seaboard are doing for the safety of their employees and the travelling public. A great amount of Seaboard track has been double tracked in the past few years as well as an automatic stop light system installed on their most heavily used lines.

BUILDING ACTIVITY INDICATES EARLY BUSINESS RECOVERY

After an almost constant decline of nearly two years, allowing for seasonal variations, building contract totals have at last come back into a well defined advance. June figures were very close to a new high record for all time and while July reports may show a reaction they will still make a good comparison.

The seasonal trend is downward in the Fall months but indications now point to the late months of 1930 holding well above the figures for last year and the building industry may, without any great strain, finish 1930 with a larger total of construction than in 1929.

The old cyclical rule tells us that construction project figures lead the parade of industry. Building turned downward toward the close of 1928, well ahead of steel, motors and other important lines. It is most logical to anticipate that building figures will also turn up in advance and be followed later by the rest of the industries. That is why the decided upturns of June may be most significant and are certainly encouraging.

Taking a broad view of the entire situation it appears that we have passed the low point in 1930 industrial production. We may look forward certainly to a seasonal recovery this Fall and even if such gains are not fully held the read turn in our cycle should not be so very far off.—Richard W. Schabacker, Financial Editor, Forbes Magazine.

NO MORE POOR HOUSES

No poor houses will be allowed in Sweden after 1931 for, by that time, all parishes and municipalities must have their new "Homes for the Aged" ready and thanks to the old age insurance system, which is partly voluntary and partly compulsory, there are relatively few people in the country who need public support.

The public pensions insurance funds, to which everyone over sixteen years of age must contribute at least one dollar per year, is now considerably over $100,000,000 and is one of the largest collections of capital in the country. Out of this fund, everybody over 67 years of age and everybody who is permanently disabled draws a small pension for life.—Tarboro Daily Southerner.

"FERTILE GROUND FOR PLANTING"

Ever since Donald Megan, of Fitchburg, Mass., was involved in an automobile accident, 5 years ago, his nose has been crooked. As a result of a similar accident, his nose was straightened.

A traffic tunnel, 5,845 feet long, built in sections 250 feet in length and 35 feet in width, connecting Detroit, Michigan, and Windsor, Ontario, (Canada), was built on land, floated to its site and sunk under the waters of the Detroit River.

PITTSBORO CIRCUIT

To the Church Members:
Dear Friends: Pardon me, but I feel inclined to pen these few lines to you:

We have journeyed together now almost two years as pastor and people, attempting to do the Lord's work in a conscientious way and there are none of us but who have had our difficult struggles more or less alike. I have endeavored to bring to you helpful messages in the several pulpits and you have been kind to me and appreciative of the ward. While death has depleted our ranks somewhat yet most of us, in the Providence of God, are alive and in reasonably good health. We have not had so much of this world's goods upon which to live, still we have been, and are, blessed far above other sections of the country. Let us "Thank God and take courage."

Something less than one and a half months our Annual Conference will convene in Henderson, the 19th day of November. There is much to be done in order that the finances of the circuit be brought up. The salary and the conference assessed benovolences are greatly in arrears at several of the churches. I sincerely trust and pray that the stewards and the missionary committees will be very diligent from now on till conference, putting forth every effort possible to bring the assessments up in full. Please remember that our presiding elder is calling the officials from over the charge to meet him in our church at Pittsboro on the afternoon of the 29th of October at 2 o'clock, for a financial check up. Make us glad, brethren, on that day with a full report where possible. The pastor is making a call of 60 per cent in addition to salary to cover the conference assessments for the benevolences. Hurry Friends, and contribute your share to the causes of the church.

Sincerely,
J. A. DAILEY, Pastor.
