

TOWN AND COUNTY BRIEFS

Messrs. Kelly and Howard Sears, sons of Mr. J. W. Sears of Siler City, who are traveling musicians, playing various instruments, after working out of Siler City for the past three months, left Wednesday for Richmond, Ind., where they will make phonograph records for the Majestic. Prior to their return three months ago, they had not been home for nearly two years, and there is no telling how long they will be out this time. Kelly has a reputation as the best buck and clog dancer in the South. The boys put on musical and comedy acts, and are often booked with theatres.

All members of the U. D. C. are requested to bring their articles for the bazaar to the Club room Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

You are invited to attend the U. D. C. bazaar Dec. 6th, at 2 o'clock in the club room.

Mrs. Victor R. Johnson and Mrs. Julian M. Gregory were guests of the Leonidas Polk chapter of the U. D. C. at Chapel Hill Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Johnson, as director of the 7th district, addressed the chapter.

The Ladies' Aid of Buckhorn will give a bazaar and oyster supper at Brickhaven school house Saturday night, Dec. 6th. You are invited.

In addition to the magistrates recently elected in Bear Creek township, as listed in this paper, Mr. Geo. H. Hancock is to be added as an appointee of the Governor a few months ago for a term of four years.

Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Gibson of High Point spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Gilmore on Siler City Rt. 5.

That is a fine opportunity to see Amos and Andy at the Gem Theatre, Siler City. See advertisement. There is no question about its being worth the money.

The Children of the Confederacy had a delightful meeting Friday afternoon with Miss Maggie Horne. Miss Carrie Jackson talked on the subject of the Jefferson Davis Highway, and an account of Mrs. Anderson's model of the highway shown at Asheville was read. The subject of the meeting was the "Women of the Confederacy". Pieces were read by Misses Jaunita Overacre, Mary Brewer, Camie Hamlet, Margaret Guin, and Eula Johnson. The memorial to Mrs. Henry A. London at the Asheville convention was read by Margaret Guin. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

The ginnings of cotton in Chatham up to Nov. 14th, amounted to 3496 bales as against the same date last year. It would appear from this that the crop this year will be very little larger than last year's, as the crop was much earlier this year than last. Cotton was much better on the average, but there must have been considerably less planted. It is doubtful if Chatham will ever raise as much as 10,000 bales a year again.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Hunt, of Charlotte, and Miss Eleanor Wright, of Raleigh, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hunt Thanksgiving week.

Mrs. Mattie E. Gardner, Miss Mary Gardner, and Mrs. Harry G. Hunt, of Raleigh, spent Thanksgiving day as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hunt.

Mr. A. B. Carter, prosperous mill owner of Gastonia, came to the funeral of his old friend H. A. Bynum. Mr. Carter began his career as a cotton manufacturer at a child at Bynum. He worked and studied eighteen months at Lowell, Mass., then became superintendent of a mill at Atlanta, Ga. He now owns a mill outright in Gastonia and is reckoned as a rich man. In fact we know that he was able to give Rutherford College $5,000 recently. It is certain that conditions at Mr. Carter's mill cannot be compared with the conditions when Mr. Carter as a child was a mill employee, for he began at seven years of age. Yet he is no runt intellectually or physically. His friends in Chatham are proud of the career of the lad of thirty to forty years ago. His mill runs day and night.

Mr. Norma Frederiksen, chemist for a great cork company at Lancaster, Penn., visited his sister Mrs. Shannonhouse last week. Brother Shannonhouse says that his brother-in-law came last year to help him hunt turkeys but that he seems more interested in dear this year, and somebody does seem to be wearing a mighty nice diamond.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Thompson and children of Littleton were the guests of Capt. Alston and Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Nooe. Sunday.

Messrs. Ed. Hinton, Lawyer Permenter, Harvey Gunter, Roe Bland, and Dr. Farrell went duck hunting Thanksgiving.

Miss Mary Olivia Mann was among the large number of young women who secured license as professional nurses last week. She took her course at Watts.

Pastor J. A. Dailey will begin his conference year next Sunday with the Pittsboro and Brown's Chapel churches, preaching at Pittsboro in the morning and at 7 o'clock in the evening at Brown's at 3 P. M.

You are requested to visit the children's booth at the bazaar Saturday and vote for the big doll.

Mr. T. J. Alexander, of Virginia, is in Chatham with the expectation of buying a farm if he finds what he wants. He has long experience in crop and dairy farming. He wants a place on which he can use real farm machinery.

Mr. C. F. Farrell, who for the past eight months has been working at Burlington, spent Thanksgiving at home.

Dr. R. S. Roberson, of Greensboro, spent a few days here, taking care of the practice of Dr. Chapin while the latter was off on a visit to friends in Pennsylvania. Dr. Roberson graduated last summer at Richmond Medical College and immediately located in Greensboro. He is a son of the late Dr. R. M. Roberson, who died in his prime.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Harris, who now live in Brunswick county, where Mr. Harris is engaged in the saw mill business, after coming to the funeral of Mrs. Harris's brother, Dr. J. C. Thraikill, remained in the county for several days.

Miss Camilla Gilmore, who has been employed in a commercial printing plant at Kingsport, Tenn., is at home for the present.

Miss Camilla Powell come in from Lexington for Thanksgiving and Miss Bessie Chapin returned with her for a visit of a day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Faison and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Peterson came up from Sampson for Thanksgiving Day with their parents.

Mr. Roland Glenn is home from the Moore county hospital, where he spent several days after being injured in an automobile accident. He is still confined to his home. The young man lost practically all of his best clothes as a consequence of the wreck, his overcoat, shoes, and dress coat being badly torn up. But the worst thing is an injury to his back, which, however, it is hoped will not prove very serious.

Mr. G. R. Pilkington and little grandson George Johnson visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nooe at Ridge-way, S. C., Thanksgiving.

Three hundred subscribers by renewing subscriptions without cost to the Record can put the paper in good condition. But it will take the large part of the income from three hundred renewals to have to run all over Chatham county to find those that are ready to renew. It is a time when we must simply depend upon you. There is no use struggling when every effort counts for the worse. The 300 renewals suggested would do us more good than the great campaigns with gifts of automobiles and a big hurrah are doing some of the neighboring papers. Their efforts result in more waste than profit. We are trying to live and let live. All we ask of subscribers is that they appreciate this fact and treat us the same way.

Mr. Wm. Tait Norment, salesman for Jones Department Store at Siler City, but a native of Lumberton, was married at Lumberton Thanksgiving Day to Miss Vonnie McDonald Meshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. J. Ramsaur of Kissimmee, Fla. She is a trained nurse, having graduated from the Baker Hospital in 1929 and since that time been located in Lumberton. The groom is a son of the editor's old friend Mr. Douglas Norment of Lumberton.

up after corn-shuckings are all over. W. W. Lutterloh expects to shuck the next cold spell if he finishes getting it up.

We are sorry some people look at people who lease their game rights as they do, especially when the man leasing has in mind to protect the game for the period of the lease and thus help all to have plenty later. Anybody that accepts lease money and then goes ahead and kills the game is no less than a rascal. Nor has a person outside the leased area any right to hunt on those leased lands or to try to scatter the turkeys on them. What a pity we do not all appreciate our game warden and cooperate with him. He will appreciate any information that will help him to enforce the law.

As assistant to Mr. V. R. Johnson in this township in the collection of funds for the starving Chinese children, I ask all wishing to contribute to the good cause to make their contributions through their pastors or S. S. superintendents. Juniors may contribute through Mr. J. R. Goodwin and Sons and Daughters of Liberty through Mrs. R. G. Perry.

FACTORS OF HIGHWAY SAFETY

(From The Hamlet News-Messenger) Eight factors are assigned as entering into safety of motor travel. They are: (1) differences of climate (more wet or stormy days); (2) differences in latitude (affecting number of hours of daylight and number of summer months); (3) difference in driving habits; (4) presence or absence of rapid transit lines; (5) distribution and density of population; (6) efficiency of street lighting; (7) relative frequency of grade crossings; (8) quality of highway design.

The human element is greater than the mechanical, but each of the above named factors certainly counts in the comparison of accident totals of various sections of the country.

Words don't mean much. You couldn't exactly call an arthur of fiction books a fictitious character.
