

Trench Silo Solves Winter Feeding Problem For Farmers of the State

L. I. Case, Livestock Specialist, Says Silage is the Best Feed

In many sections of North Carolina cattle and sheep, get sleek and fat in summer only to become weak and emaciated in winter. This lack of an adequate supply of winter feed of proper quality is one of the greatest handicaps to the continued development of the livestock industry in the state.

"We know that silage is one of the best winter feeds for maintaining or fattening cattle or sheep or for feeding dairy cows; however, the expense of building the upright type of silo has prevented many farmers from using this valuable feed," says L. I. Case, livestock specialist at State College. "Now that the trench silo is proving so suitable and economical, every man with a cow or two or a small flock of sheep can have silage in abundance. The trench silos now in use vary in size from a capacity of one ton to 150 tons and more. In practically all cases, the silage is keeping well."

Case gives as the two main requisites for a good trench silo, a stiff soil and a water table below the level of the bottom of the silo.

Corn is the best silage crop for this state, he says. Varieties of the sorghums are used in some sections but about the only advantage these sorghums have over corn is that they will grow on poorer soils and with less rain.

While there are several varieties of silage corn, that variety which makes the best acre yield of grain in a community is nearly always best for silage. The greater the quantity of grain in the silage, the more nutritious it is and the greater the saving in the concentrated ration needed to supplement the silage. Case says.

Begin Taking Cardui Today If You Suffer Like This Lady Did

"WHEN I was a girl, I began taking Cardui," writes Mrs. Maggie Stanfield, of Crandall, Ga. "I was very irregular for twelve months. Nothing did me very much good until my mother began to give me this medicine. Then I got all right, stout and well."

"After I was married, I was in bad health. I began taking Cardui again. I was troubled with my back a lot. Was awfully restless. I could not sleep well. I just weighed 90 pounds when I began taking Cardui. I improved rapidly. Before long I weighed 125 pounds. I felt fine. I was able to do a good day's work."

Cardui is sold by druggists here.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile — Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. One block up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

This Week In Washington

Washington, — President Roosevelt, after more than a month in office, is still riding the top wave of popularity and authority. He is growing in the esteem of many who undervalued him before he took office, and certainly is proving himself the best politician who has occupied the White House in many years.

There is no politics, however, in the plan for refinancing farm mortgages which the President proposes and which Congress doubtless will adopt. Under this plan the Farm Loan Board will take over farm mortgages, extending the time for their payment and establishing the interest rate at 4 1/2 percent.

Under the blanket authority granted him by congress to reduce the Governmental expenditures, Mr. Roosevelt's director of the budget, Lewis E. Douglas, has worked out a system which will cut an estimated nine hundred million a year off the Federal expenses. It will still cost some four thousand millions a year to operate the Federal machine, and just how this money is to be raised is not yet completely clear. There will have to be some new revenue legislation, but that is still in the future.

Besides cutting about $400,000,000 a year off veteran relief, Mr. Douglas's economy program calls for a fifteen percent reduction in all Federal salaries. This will affect pretty close to a million people on Uncle Sam's payroll, for it includes the Army and Navy as well as civil employees.

Protection for Investors
There is every reason to expect that the Administration's plan for Federal control of all new issues of stocks and bonds and perhaps also over the sales of old issues, will be adopted substantially as the President has requested it. This is calculated to do away with many of the frauds which were perpetrated upon a gullible public during the recent boom. It is also a part of the program for the protection of the investor for the Government to exercise a high degree of control over all exchanges in which securities and commodities are traded in.

The Senate Finance Committee's investigation of the banking situation has been extended to private banking institutions, and the great house of J. P. Morgan & Company is to be one of the first called upon to tell how private investment banking houses work.

The general banking policy of the Administration is beginning to take shape. It looks as if it would work out into a single banking system under which every bank would be required to be a member of the Federal Reserve system, and perhaps to have a Federal charter. It would be easy and legal to force State banks to become National banks by imposing a prohibitive tax on their checks, for example, or by refusing to let them participate in any plan for the insurance or guarantee of deposits.

For the Unemployed
The President's plan for putting an army of unemployed at work in the national forests has been approved by Congress, and there is little doubt that he will get, perhaps before this is printed, the authority he seeks to lend five hundred millions to the states for direct unemployment relief. Every possible effort to put men back to work is being made, and intensive study is being given to numerous "self-liquidating" projects of public work, which might be financed by Government loans to be repaid out of earnings. For example, the new bridge across the Golden Gate at San Francisco and the Grand Island bridges in the Niagara River between Buffalo and Niagara Falls are being financed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, but they will be toll bridges and will eventually earn enough to repay the loans.

The same policy may be adopted for power projects and other enterprises which are sure to earn enough to pay back the loan.

Where the money is coming from to lend, enough of it to make this policy of stimulating business and putting men back to work big enough to make a dent in the unemployment situation, is another question. There is talk about a huge bond issue, perhaps running the national debt up from its present twenty-one thousand million dollars to thirty billions.

Not In the Budget
Such an issue would not necessarily interfere with "balancing the budget," since the interest charges on such a bond issue would be comparatively small, and one change which is impending in our Governmental system is in its book-keeping, in which moneys raised by loans will be kept separate from those raised by taxation. Current expenses and interest on loans are expected to be paid out of taxes; there is no suggestion now of paying off the principal of any of the existing loans or the projected new ones.

In this matter of public works, the expectation is that contractors and suppliers of materials will be required to adopt the thirty-hour week for labor, six hours a day, five days a week. And on its own initiative the Senate has under consideration a bill which would compel all private industry engaged in interstate commerce to adopt the thirty-hour week, under penalty of having its products barred from trade across state lines.

That Roosevelt Humor
The personal life of the Roosevelts in the White House is the illustrating the simplicity and subject of innumerable anecdotes homeliness of the Executive Mansion's new occupants. They keep practically open house for their friends and casual acquaintances, just as they did at their home in Hyde Park. And the verdict of Washington is that they are not exhibiting any of the signs of "swelled head" which have sometimes afflicted Presidential families.

One lady who was invited in an offhand way by Mrs. Roosevelt to come to dinner said at the table:

"I never expected to dine in the White House."

"You've got nothing on me," replied President Roosevelt.

Dellaplane and Roaring River Route 2 News
(By RUTH LINNEY)
'Twas the month before the month of May,
And spring comes slowly up this way.

—Coleridge, Christabel.

Roaring River Route 2, April 19.—Easter passed rather quietly in this locality, though there were a few egg hunts and other festivities to regale the younger set.

There were a good many guests in this locality for Easter, mainly young people from nearby cities visiting their homefolks.

The Sunday school at Oak Forest was reorganized Easter Sunday.

Despite the continued cool weather and rather late spring, there has been a "growing season," and gardens and crops in this locality are advanced and flourishing for the time of year.

Mr. James roster was ill last week with a severe cold, and were the rest of the family of L. W. L. Foster, but has resumed a position with the Wilkes Hosiery mill at North Wilkesboro, where he has worked for some years.

Misses Ida and Lou Parks recently sold some of their land to Mr. Charles Foster.

Mr. John F. Mastin continues ill of bronchial trouble, from which he has been suffering most of the time since November.

Eugene Parks, the only one of the children of Mrs. Pearl Parks remaining in this locality, is living with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harris.

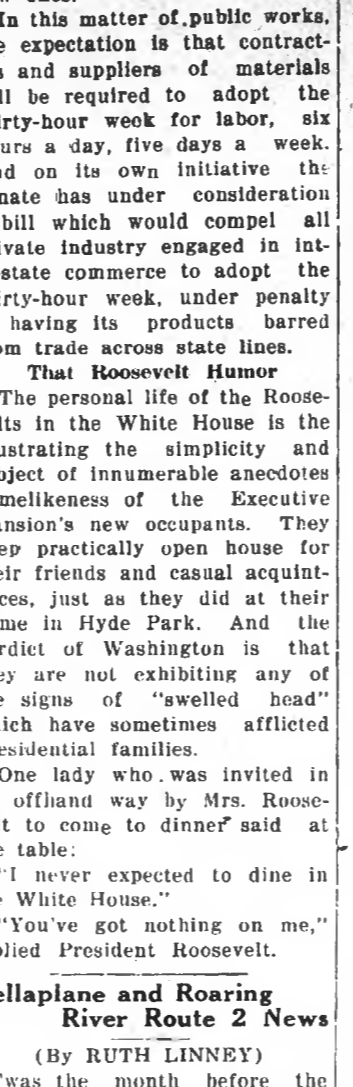

At the last regular Sunday service at Oak Forest the pastor, Rev. Fervis C. Parks, of Cyele, preached a good sermon from Daniel 1, 27: "Tekel; Thou art weighed in the balances, and found wanting." Taking up several of the Ten Commandments, he urged his congregation to "step on the balances and be weighed." Mr. Parks was accompanied by Mrs. Parks and a small son.

Miss Ina Sparks is reported to be staying with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Wilkesboro Route 2.

It has been announced that the revival at Oak Forest will probably begin the fourth Sunday in August, and that Rev. George Curry, of Benham, is one of the ministers the church will ask to assist.

utmost equanimity, and hatch chickens is a most remarkable illustration of the axiom that nothing disturbs the feathered mothers during the depression, but such is the tale that is told in this region.

Mrs. D. S. Lane, of North Wilkesboro, had as a visitor from this section the latter part of the past week, an old time colored friend, Charity Walker, one of Mrs. Lane's contemporaries in with her late mother and her sisters, belonged to the genus of "old family darkies" and were the trusted servants of several different families within a few miles of Dellaplane.

Mrs. Ellen Jarvis, 56, widow of Wiley Jarvis, former resident of the Shady Grove section, and known locally, died last Friday night in a Winston-Salem hospital. She had been living in the Twin City ten years, and her husband died in 1927.

Mrs. Laura Linney and daughter were quite ill a week or so recently of grippe, or influenza.

Appointments Announced
By President Roosevelt
Washington, April 20.—President Roosevelt today named Breckenridge Long, of Missouri, as ambassador to Italy.

Captain Ernest J. King was named to head the naval bureau of aeronautics, succeeding Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, who lost his life in the Akron disaster.

Long, St. Louis attorney, was assistant secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson and was a Democratic nominee for the senate from Missouri in 1920.

Captain King had not been one of those prominently mentioned for the important naval post.

He entered the naval academy in the class of 1901.

Of the 450 applications for crop loans in Alamance county not a single application was received from a dairyman or poultryman, says the county agent.

Burning off the land is one good way to eradicate profits. Trees cannot flee from fire but must stand and take it, says Extension Forester Graeber.
