The Wilkes Hatchery does custom hatching at a very reasonable rate. The hatchery is located at the corner of Tenth and "C" streets.

Eight To Fly Oversea In Next Few Months

New York, May 19.—Two of the nation's leading fliers—Wiley Post and James Mattern—announced plans today for solo flights around the world.

Mattern, San Angelo flier, who failed in his attempt last year with Bennett Griffin, of Oklahoma City, said he would start the first week in June and Post, who with Harold Gatty holds the world gridding speed record, said at Oklahoma City he would take off about July 1.

Still another transatlantic flying venture became known late today when Assen Jordanoff and Capt. Cesare Sabelli landed at Roosevelt field in a red monoplane from Wilmington, Del.

Jordanoff, a Bulgarian nobleman, who says he was the first man in his country to fly, has conducted a flying school here for years and gave Thomas A. Edison ground lessons in October, 1930. Captain Sabelli, an Italian war ace, was associated with Roger Q. Williams in a projected flight to Rome in 1928 which did not materialize.

Jordanoff said he expected to get away on an ocean hop about the middle of June. He did not disclose his destination but fellow aviators at the field believed it would be to Rome.

Meanwhile, the flying Mollisons, James and Amy Johnson, are having a huge plane built in England for a New York-Bagdad flight. Francesco de Pinedo, noted Italian flier, is preparing for a solo flight to Persia, and Captain Stephen Darius and Lieutenant Stanley Girenas, Chicago transport fliers, were at Floyd Bennett field awaiting conditioning of their plane for a flight to their native Lithuania.

Mattern said the plane Century of Progress in which he and Griffin cracked up in Russia last year has been remodeled for solo flight.

Black Sox Lose To Forsyth Team

Home Run By Brack Grinton In Ninth Is Feature of the Game

A ninth inning rally which included a home run by the first batsman and a double by the next batsman fell one run short and the North Wilkesboro Black Sox were defeated 5 to 4 by the Winston-Salem Giants at the fair grounds here Friday afternoon.

With the score 5 to 3 when the Black Sox came to bat in their half of the ninth, Brack Grinton crashed out a home run and his successor at the plate doubled to right field, but could never get beyond second base. The next three men's efforts proved futile.

Dawkins Barber pitched an excellent game for the locals. Brake Barber was behind the plate.

Urges Veterans To Wear Poppies

All World War veterans of North Wilkesboro were urged to pay honor to their fallen comrades by wearing a memorial Poppy on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 27, in a message issued today by Ralph Reins, Commander of the Wilkes County Post of the American Legion. Commander Reins declared that the wearing of the poppy is the individual way to show remembrance for the war dead and devotion to the ideals for which they gave their lives. The message stated:

"On Saturday, May 27, America will pay its annual tribute to the men who gave their lives in defense of the country in 1917 and 1918 by wearing the memorial poppy. I am sure that every World War veteran and all other patriotic citizens of Wilkes county will wear this token of remembrance on that day. Wearing the poppy means that we have not forgotten our comrades who fell amid the poppies of France and that we are carrying on for America in their spirit.

"The poppies will be offered on the streets here by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary, our wives, mothers, sisters and daughters. They have volunteered for this work, giving their services without thought of personal gain. Disabled veterans have made the poppies which they will distribute, and the contributions they will receive will go entirely to the relief of needy veterans and veterans' families. Be sure not only to wear a poppy on Poppy Day, but be sure to wear an American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary poppy."

IN LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

If you are planning to lead your cattle through Manhattan you must have a boy at the head of each steer. That's what the city's code of ordinances says, anyway.

Some women in New York are wearing flowers made out of mother-of-pearl. They can be washed when dusty.

There is an octopus in Chicago—in an aquarium, of course—which gets his dinners direct by plane from the Battery Aquarium in New York. The dinner consists of crabs.

You can buy white mice in New York for four and a half cents each. There was a time when you had to pay as much as 31 cents. The city's health department purchased 7,500 mice the other day for experimental purposes.

If you can use a couple of guinea pigs, you can buy them when you are in New York for about 30 cents each. They used to bring as high as $1.34 each.

You won't believe it but snakes in New York are commanding more money than ever before. A garter snake sells for 75 cents. A python brings as high as $350.

A good many New Yorkers are studying amateur magic. The toy shops report an unusual demand for magicians' kits.

New York plumbers call themselves sanitary engineers.

It is planned to open a row of second-hand book stalls near Bryant Park. Buying books on the street will interest many a visitor.

There is a big business man in New York who hasn't read a single book in his library of several thousand volumes but he never misses his ten-cent detective story magazine before he goes to sleep at night.

WASHINGTON PLEASSED WITH TURN TAKEN IN ARMAMENT SITUATION

Washington, May 18.—A new spirit of optimism for success at the arms and economic conferences at Geneva and London was noted privately by American officials tonight as they analyzed reactions to the momentous declarations of President Roosevelt and Chancellor Hitler of Germany and laid plans for their next moves.

While the developments of the last two days were regarded as having cleared the air, saving the arms conference from collapse and the economic conclave from probable failure, there was no disposition in official circles to count the battle won.

From eight more nations, including Germany and Italy, the president received direct replies to his stirring appeal for real disarmament and peace. They brought to 20 tonight the number of presidents and dsoverigns who have replied to the cablegram addressed to their chiefs.

PRUSSIAN DIET GIVES FREE HAND TO HITLER

Berlin, May 18.—Encouraged by the nation-wide acclaim won by Chancellor Hitler's address to the reichstag, the efficient nazi machine rolled on today and eliminated the Prussian diet, parliamentary body of the dominant state in the German reich.

The diet, meeting today for the first time since the appointment of Hermann Goering as premier, dissolved itself until 1937, giving the Prussian nazi cabinet full powers to govern during the extended parliamentary vacation.

To Hold Hearing On New Farm Act

Dean I. O. Schaub Explains His Views On Procedure To Be Followed

Hearings at which producers, processors; distributors and consumers of farm products will be represented, will be one of the first steps in administering the emergency agricultural adjustment program.

Before the secretary of agriculture, under the powers conferred upon him by the act, issues any regulations, he will consult the groups concerned, says Dean I. O. Schaub, of State college. The secretary will obtain suggestions and recommendations on such points as: Should production or acreage control be undertaken on a given commodity? If so, what proportion of reduction should be made? What method would best accomplish the reduction? Should a processing tax be levied on the commodity? If so, how much should the tax be? What could be accomplished for the commodity by trade agreements?

While the act was before congress, Secretary Wallace in discussing it said, "The philosophy of this bill, as I see it, is to enable producers and processors to work together in bringing order out of the present chaos. They are given the opportunity to work together to make adjustments in production and prices that are fair to the producer, harm no legitimate interest of the processor, and maintain the just interest for the consumer."

Mr. Schaub says hearings are necessary for each commodity because the program must be applied differently to different products. A method that might successfully regulate production and increase the price of wheat, might not accomplish the same purpose for cotton or hogs. The individual characteristics and needs of the different commodity groups must be considered in choosing methods and in applying them.

OFFERS CLUB MEMBERS COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS

North Carolina 4-H club members have the opportunity of competing for three college scholarships in agriculture valued at $300, $200 and $100 by making good records in corn club work this season.

"We have received an announcement from the Nelson Knitting company of Rockford, Ill., saying they will donate three scholarships in agriculture for the best achievements in growing corn on one acre of land this season under the rules governing 4-H club work," says L. R. Harrill, club leader at State college. "In addition to these three scholarships, the company is also offering two gold, 21-jewel watches valued at $115 to the club member who makes the highest yield of corn on one acre of land and to the club member who grows a good yield at the lowest net cost per acre. In addition, a gold medal in gift box is offered to county winners."

Harrill says a club member may qualify for this competition by being duly enrolled in 4-H club work and by growing his corn under the supervision of the agricultural extension service. A complete record must be kept on the project showing all costs, the yield and other such factors.

While this is a national contest, it is open to any 4-H club member in North Carolina and those planning to enter should get in touch with their county farm agents immediately, Harrill urges. He is of the opinion that high yields of corn may be made under North Carolina conditions and there is no sound reason why some of these scholarships should not come to this state.

May Build Silo At Little Cost

Any Farmer With Eight or Ten Cows Should Have Silo On Farm

Where soil conditions are such that it is impossible to dig an efficient trench silo and where the farmer does not have the money to invest in one of the more costly forms of upright silos, the stave silo may be constructed at little cost from home-grown timber.

"Any dairy farmer with as many as eight or ten cows, needs a silo to provide winter feed for his animals," says A. C. Kimrey, dairy extension specialist at State college. "The kind of silo will depend on the amount of money he has to spend but there are several kinds of cheap silos which give excellent results when properly constructed. One of the cheapest of the upright types, is the stave silo made from home-grown timber. The staves are cut two inches thick, five inches wide and in such lengths as may be desired. A good grade of pine or cypress is preferred but in either case, the staves should be air-dried for at least eight weeks before construction begins."

Kimrey says it is best to dress the staves on all sides and to tongue and groove them where possible.

From eight to twelve hoops are needed for such a silo. These are made from one-half to five-eighths inch iron rods threaded about six inches a each end and drawn to gether with silo hoop lugs. The staves, hoops and a few bags of cement for the foundation are the main items of expense.

Mr Kimrey says the ordinary farm labor may be used for building the silo and when it is properly put up, painted on the outside and treated on the inside with the coal tar preparation, it should last from 10 to 20 years. This estimate, of course, is on the assumption that good, sound timber is used.

Those who wish to build such a silo may obtain plans and specifications from the dairy extension office.

The largest damage from any single fire during April was the $50,000 loss incurred in the burning of the Atlantic hotel in Morehead City.

Questions and Answers For Farmers

Q.—When is the best time to caponize cockerels for market next spring and what should the birds weigh before they are caponized?

A.—To develop capon for the Easter market next spring the birds should be caponized during the month of July and should weigh about two pounds. For this reason only vigorous cockerels of the heavy breeds such as Rocks, Reds and Brahmas are selected. Before caponizing, the cockerels should be kept without food and water for 24 hours. The poultry department at State college can give full information and bulletins on this subject.

Q.—When should cabbage, colards, tomatoes and Irish potatoes be planted for fall gardens?

A.—This depends upon the section in which they are to be planted but the crops mentioned may be planted in July for the coastal plain section, in June for the upper coastal plain and lower Piedmont, and the latter part of May for the mountain section. These dates apply where the seed is planted in the open. Where tomato plants are used, these may be set thirty days later.

The Expert

"A flirt, am I?" exclaimed Mary Ann, under notice to go. "Well, I know them as flirts more than I do, and with less excuse." She shot a spiteful look at her mistress, and added, "I'm better looking than you. More handsome. How do I know? Your husband told me so."

"That will do," said her mistress, frigidly.

"But I ain't finished yet," retorted Mary Ann. "I can give a better kiss than you! Want to know who told me that?"

"If you mean to suggest that my husband—"

"No, it wasn't your husband this time," said Mary Ann. "It was your chauffeur."
