Mrs. Kelly Is Buried In Ashe

Claimed By Death Friday About Noon; Resided On F' Street

Mrs. Charly E. Kelly, a highly respected lady of this city, died at her home on "F" street Friday at 11:45 from heart trouble and complications. She had been seriously ill for only a few days. Mrs. Kelly was born October 13, 1870, and was, therefore, 62 years, 8 months and one day of age.

She was a member of the First Baptist church of this city, and lived a faithful Christian life. She was highly regarded by her acquaintances in this city and wherever she was known.

She is survived by her husband, Richard Kelly, and seven children, three sons, Paul and Frank Kelly, of this city, and Lester Kelly, of Waterloo, Iowa; four daughters, Mrs. James Sturgills, of Ashe county; Mrs. M. C. Dolinger, of Marion, Va.; Mrs. C. C. Dixon, of Nathans Creek, and Mrs. Glenn Golliber, of this city.

The funeral service was conducted from the residence Sunday at 12 o'clock with Rev. Eugene Olive, pastor of the First Baptist church, in charge. After the service here, the body was taken to the Dixon cemetery in the Dog Creek section of Ashe county where interment was made.

CONTROL RED SPIDER WITH SULPHUR DUST

A small red spider, barely visible to the eye, caused considerable damage to field and garden crops in North Carolina during the recent drought.

"As the red spider went about its work of forming conspicuous webs on the under side of leaves, it weakened to a point almost beyond recovery such plants as arbor vitae, box wood, red cedar, roses, hollyhocks, dahlias, cotton beans, dewberries and many other similar species in various sections of the state," says Dr. R. F. Poole, plant pathologist of the North Carolina experiment station.

"The small animals attack the plants at a time they should be manufacturing substances to store away in the roots and limbs as energy or strength for producing new growth for next year. Not only does affected plants lose their foliage, but are so weakened that they are frequently infested with destructive root rot."

Dr. Poole says the red spider is easily controlled. In yards and greenhouses constantly wetting plants during dry periods will suppress the activities of the spider. The most effective way, however, of ridding the plant of the infestation is by dusting or spraying the plants with sulphur.

Any fine grade of dusting sulfur and sprays composed of three pounds of any of the flotation, colloidal or wettable sulphur compound mixed in 50 gallons of water may be used. Applications made at frequent intervals during periods of infestation are of value. A single spray in the spring after the foliage is grown may suffice on plants such as arbor vitae, retininspora and roses.

CHICAGO MAKES PLANS TO HANDLE KIDNAPERS

Chicago, July 15.—Police Commissioner James P. Allman, acting in co-operation with State Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, tonight announced formation of a special handpicked detective squad of 40 to deal with kidnapers.

The squad has orders to "shoot to kill at the least resistance." Allman said the first objective of the kidnap squad was to ferret out the Touhy gang—blamed by the police department for the recent abduction of John Factor, market speculator who was freed after he said he paid $50,000 ransom.

The squad will operate secretly and will use specially equipped high speed automobiles carrying machine guns, riot guns, tear gas bombs and other arms. It will co-operate with the recently organized state police kidnap detail and the state attorney's office.

Ehringhaus Not Expected To Again Halt Execution

Raleigh, July 15.—Gov. J. C. B. Ehringhaus strongly indicated this afternoon that he will not again interfere with the electrocution of Clay Fogleman, Rockingham county man who gained a respite until August 4 in a dramatic scene here yesterday.

The governor was much impressed with Mrs. W. J. Carter's positive declaration late yesterday that Fogleman was the man she saw with a smoking gun in his hand as her husband fell mortally wounded after an attempt to rob his filling station.

"Ghostwriters' Bureau," an organization which will write speeches for you to deliver, or make the articles for you to sign, is getting into vogue.

Vetinary Talks

By Dr. H. W. Elder, Veterinarian of North Wilkesboro

CANINE DISTEMPER

Canine distemper is a disease that is seen mostly in young dogs and puppies. Dogs over a year old some times have this disease, if they escape it during the first year of their life.

Canine distemper as viewed with out complication, rarely causes the dog much discomfort. It manifests itself through inflations of the nose and eyes, with discharge of secretions from both. The first symptom that is noticed by the owner is, that the dog has some difficulty in breathing. The sound emitted sounds like something between a sneeze and a cough. The secretions from the nose are thick and heavy. The dog is trying to blow this out so he can breathe properly.

Three forms of complications are seen with the above disease. One and perhaps all three may cause the enormously high death rate that follows outbreaks of this disease. Pneumonia, with its varying aspects, which is familiar to many, is one of the invaders that waits for distemper to pave the way. Digestive disturbances is another, which can be noted by the arched back, the tucked up appearance of the flank. And last, and if, and after the dog has recovered from all the others, he may suffer from, and be completely ruined so far as his future usefulness is concerned by what is termed "Chorea." The whole nervous system may be out of balance. His sense of smell is impaired. His muscles will ripple and twitch under this muscle stimull.

This may be so severe that the hind legs will be jerked from under the body. This condition is pitiful, and will bring tears to the eyes of every true dog lover. Splendid results may be had by the proper immunization at the right time, and that is before the animal contracts distemper. Several methods have been used and all have their merits. The main object is get enough immunity or protection, to tide the puppy over the dangerous period, until he is old enough to have enough natural protection or immunity. The Serum-Virus method probably gives the proper amount of immunity, and is used extensively by the veterinarians in this method uses the serum from healthy animal, with the virus from diseased one, injected simultaneously. This is the same principle as worked out in the control of Hog cholera, and most of us know that when the proper amounts of both serum and virus are used, it will absolutely prevent outbreaks of hog-cholera.

Of course every one is not going to have his or her dog treated or immuned, any more than every body will have their hogs immuned against cholera. And this brings us back to the animal that may be suffering with any of the above symptoms. These cases can be, and are handled very successfully by veterinarians. Much has been learned and put into practice just in the last few years. Of course, this requires careful attention to nursing, dieting and feeding, and the proper administration of medicine at the right time.

Italy's Armada of the Skies Completes Flight To Century of Progress Fair

Chicago, July 15.—Italy's impressive air squadron, couraing an historic trail of 6,100 miles from the homeland to a Century of Progress exposition, alighted on the unruffled waters of Lake Michigan tonight as a million persons watched the completion of man's most pretentious conquest of the clouds.

With the flagship of Gen. Italo Balbo, commander of the flight, in the lead, the 24 huge seaplanes, appeared over the Chicago lake front shortly after 5:30 p. m., completing the last leg of the journey from Montreal in six hours and 51 minutes.

The armada left the home base at Orbetello, Italy, at 11:40 p. m. June 31, thus completing the hazardous flight in 47 1-2 hours flying time.

But one mishap marred the triumphal journey. One man was drowned when the 25th ship capsized upon arrival at Amsterdam, the first day's goal. Massed on navy pier, crowded into every conceivable vantage point at the world's fair, and dotting the tops of buildings along Michigan boulevard, the spectators waited in breathless silence for the appearance of the Italians.

Steel Industry's Increase of Wages Will Held 100,000

Youngstown, O., July 15.—More than 100,000 men employed in the steel industry today received word their wages are going up.

Coincident with the steel industry's submission of an industrial code in Washington came announcements of 15 per cent increases from several important corporations, with the minimum hourly rate generally fixed at 40 cents compared with 33 cents in most cases at present.

The increases, marking a partial restoration of two cuts given laborers during the depression, came at a time when the booming steel industry's national operating rate has approached the 60 per cent of capacity mark after a steady upward climb in the last few months.

The action means that millions of dollars will be restored to pay rolls annually. In September of 1931, wages were reduced 10 per cent and in May of 1932, an additional 15 per cent was sliced off.

It is said there are offices in New York illuminated by candle light because the electric current has been turned off because of non-payment of bills.

Grissom's Auto Service Now Ready For Business

Grissom's Auto Service company has opened in the Woodle building at the corner of "A" and Tenth streets and is now ready for business. Mr. C. C. Grissom, an experienced mechanic, has associated with him Mr. Claude Baity who has also had several years of experience in auto repair work. Mr. Grissom solicits the patronage of all his old customers as well as new customers.

Some trains leaving out of New York are cooled by electrical refrigeration. Some are cooled by machines before leaving the terminals.

The crowd cheered in a soaring thunder of welcome, as the flying boats dropped gracefully down on Lake Michigan and the bearded Balbo stuck his head out of the cabin of his plane. He stepped out and raised his arm in the fascist salute and countless arms waved back.

Paris.—Drivers are told "How to Be a Perfect Motorist" in a series of commandments published in Paris. They run: "Slew down for the sake of your own skin, not to please the police. "Prudence invented the brake. Pride invented the accelerator. "An idiot always finds a greater idiot who insists on passing him. "No absent-mindedness at the wheel. Do not think of the death of Louis XVI, think of your own. "Beware of animals going to drink—and men who have just been drinking. "In towns, prudence and distrust; you are driving in the midst of possible witnesses against you."

A department store here offers a brand new watch designed for the leader of the most vigorous life imaginable. To test it they dropped it from an airplane at Roosevelt Field, 3,400 feet, and it didn't lose a second. Then a buyer soaked it in water for ten days and even that didn't faze it.
