

Mountain Lions Lose Hard Tilt To Marion Team

Outcome of Contest Was In Doubt Until Closing Moments of the Play

An inspired North Wilkesboro eleven came back strong in the second half of the Western Conference game with Marion Friday afternoon at the fairgrounds to score two touchdowns and throw a scare into the visiting aggregation, but lacked the ability to halt a sleek-haired Marlon back and lost 18 to 12.

The sensational passing of Buford Jones and the uncanny ability of Byron Gentry to come from nowhere and snag those spirals had the Marion eleven guessing throughout the second half. It was one of the most remarkable passing combinations seen on the football field here in many years.

Johnson scored the first touchdown when he took a long pass he stood in the end zone and a short time later Gentry tallied another by taking one of Jones' sensational passes and plunking and squirming his way across the goal line.

But that Marion star who ran back one kickoff for a touchdown and then paced 50 yards for another touchdown in the third quarter brought the downfall of the Mountain Lions.

Coach H. V. Overcash was giving no end of praise for his remarkable work with his boys during the past few days. They demonstrated a punch that bodes well for other teams on the schedule.

It was a new team, with new life and a sensational passing combination with two players that should go far in the football world.

New Move Taken In Corn-Hog Program

Processing Tax of 28 Cents Per Bushel of Corn To Be Added Effective Nov. 5.

Announcement of a processing tax of 28 cents a bushel on all corn to be processed commercially, and of loans to be made on corn in storage were the two outstanding developments of the past week in the national corn-hog production adjustment program of the agricultural adjustment administration.

While these steps were being taken, Dr. A. G. Black, chief of the corn-hog section, and his staff continued work on final details of the corn-hog program announced October 18 by Secretary Wallace. This will be presented to the corn and hog growing sections in November. While it was designed especially for the corn-hog areas, its provisions may be accepted by any farmer in North Carolina, says Dean I. O. Schaub, of State college.

Loans on the corn warehoused on farms will bear 4 per cent interest and will be made by the Community Credit corporation on the basis of 50 cents a bushel for No. 2 December corn at Chicago. This means that the actual loan value for a farmer will depend on the prevailing market price differential between Chicago and his local point, and also on the difference in price of No. 2 and other grades of corn. The loans will be in the nature of an advance to farmers who agree to take part in the corn-hog production control plan, but will not constitute a lien on benefit payments to be made under this plan. Necessary forms and blank loan agreements will be distributed to county agents where farmers desire the service.

The processing tax on corn became effective on November 5, the same time as the hog processing tax. It will be collected at point of first processing.

Parent-Teacher Association To Observe "Father's Night" Here

The North Wilkesboro Parent-Teacher Association will observe "Father's Night" at the November meeting which will be held in the school auditorium, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

An excellent program, featuring members of the school faculty, has been arranged and a large attendance is expected. Every father who has children in school is especially urged to attend the meeting. Mothers are also invited, but fathers are to be honor guests.

After the program, light refreshments will be served. It was announced by the program committee.

Fire Baptised Holiness Bring Annual Convention To a Close

The annual North Carolina convention of the Fire Baptised Holiness church was brought to an end last night after a four-day session.

The armory at the fairgrounds was filled to capacity during a large portion of the session and the convention was declared a success in every way.

At the closing session last night, Bishop Fuller, of Atlanta, Ga., who presided, announced the appointments for the coming year and there was much enthusiasm as announcements were made.

Between four and five hundred delegates from towns and cities all over North Carolina were entertained in homes of the city during the four days.

Many whites were in attendance as guests of the colored people during the convention, a section of the armory floor being reserved for them.

Congressman Doughton Will Be 70 Tomorrow

worked against him, huge Democratic majorities worked for him. In 1930, the year the Democrats won the house under the Hoover administration, Doughton rang up a majority of 15,000 votes. In 1932, riding the crest of the Roosevelt tidal wave, Doughton attained his greatest majority—21,724 votes.

All Look Alike to Him
So long as a job is not being sought, all residents of Doughton's district look alike politically to him. But when it comes to a matter of patronage, his support, of course, goes to the Democrats.

It is this policy, coupled with the fact that he knows the needs of farmers and livestock raisers and has supported good roads, better mail service and similar legislation, that, in Doughton's opinion, has enabled him to stay in Congress all these years.

When Doughton gets back in his district, he visits the farms, mills and shops for personal talks with hundreds of his constituents. This, he frankly admits, is "good politics," but, he argues, it also gives him a personal insight into the needs and wishes of the people he represents.

Doughton has large farming and livestock interests of his own. He is also a banker and merchant. By keeping track of his personal activities he can virtually take care of the citizens in the district as their interests are his interests.

Writes Mother Himself
Like all Congressmen, Doughton has a secretary at his beck and call to take dictation and answer his mail but there's one person to whom "Farmer Bob" writes himself and he picks these letters out on a typewriter because her sight is fading.

She is his 95-year-old mother, Mrs. Rebecca Doughton, who lives at the old family home place—Laurel Springs, N. C.—where Doughton was born November 7, 1863.

Since her son has been in public life she has seen him rise from virtual obscurity to a key position in the nation's law-making body. She has numerous mementos of this rise but chief among her souvenirs is a letter from President Roosevelt congratulating her on her 95th birthday.

CRICKET IS WINNER OVER MILLERS CREEK

Union school quint of Cricket defeated a fast Millers Creek five 29 to 23 Friday afternoon at Millers Creek to announce that this elementary school will give several high school quints a hard tussle during the coming season. The Union quint was led by Carl Church, an instructor, who was permitted to play with his boys.

Last Rites Held For Mr. Ferguson

Impressive Service Conducted At Moravian Falls Thursday Afternoon

A most impressive funeral service, attended by an immense concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives, was conducted for Dayton Ferguson, 25, who died Wednesday, at Moravian Falls Methodist church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The service was in charge of Rev. R. H. Kennington, pastor. The scripture was read by Rev. J. H. Armbrust, of this city, and prayer was offered by Rev. A. E. Watts, who also read the obituary. Rev. R. H. Stone, of Jefferson, well known Presbyterian minister, talked briefly on his acquaintance with the deceased.

The beautiful floral offering, in a measure, attested to the wide popularity of Mr. Ferguson.

Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Active pallbearers were: Lawrence Laxton, S. B. Richardson, Homer Brookshire, Gentry Brown, Walter Earp and James Phillips.

Honorary pallbearers were: L. G. Critcher, Charles Pearson, W. J. Church, Tal Barnes, Davis Hix, James Pennell, Buster Laws, Arlan Triplett, Lloyd Pardue, Gene Sloop, W. F. Absher, Raymond Foster, J. C. Critcher, Jr., and Jay H. Johnson.

Clyde Everhart Is Charged With Attack On Daughter

High Point, Nov. 2.—Testimony in the case in which a 16-year-old girl, Lillie Everhart, charged her father, Clyde Everhart, with a criminal assault, sent the father to Guilford superior court without bond for trial for his life after a hearing in High Point court this morning.

The girl said she was assaulted in her own bedroom. Her father denied the charge and said that at the time the crime is supposed to have taken place the door to her room was locked.

Judge Lewis Teague sent an officer to investigate the lock on the door which the girl said would not work. It wouldn't lock today.

MOREHOUSE SAYS VOTE FOR REPEAL NOT LIQUOR VOTE

ed for one who is caught driving while intoxicated. Most states already have such provisions and it is difficult to understand why North Carolina has been so delinquent in a matter of such vital importance. This in itself would undoubtedly materially lessen the number of appalling disasters on our highways, that have grown so alarmingly during the past thirteen years.

"Government control of the liquor problem appeals to me as vastly more practical and efficient than the abandonment of it to the blockading and bootlegger element. Other governments have discovered ways of handling the problem and surely our citizenship is capable of doing as well or better."

"Let us not allow our fanatical passions and emotions to influence us in deciding this question, but rather follow our reason and intelligence and vote for repeal tomorrow."

BOOTLEGGER TO BE HELPED BY REPEAL. W. R. LOVILL SAYS

Mr. Bingham said he would be surprised if a single township in Watauga county gave a majority for repeal.

T. E. Story, candidate of the dry forces for delegate, was recognized. He declared himself unqualifiedly against repeal. He then introduced Mr. Lovill, principal speaker of the evening.

Urging dry sympathizers to go to the polls and register themselves in getting others to vote, Mr. Lovill declared that every election is won before 11 o'clock on election day. He said he was anxious for Wilkes to take a stand with the dry forces.

The rally brought a vigorous campaign to a close and the dry forces now wait for the verdict of the powerful jury—the people of Wilkes county.

C. S. Sale Dies From Diphtheria

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from Maple Springs Methodist church for Charles S. Sale, 40, who died Tuesday afternoon following an illness of two days from diphtheria. Mr. Sale was admitted to Hugh Chatham hospital for treatment about two hours prior to his death. The rites were in charge of Rev. Garland R. Stafford.

Boys Dig Up $27,000 Hoard And Go On Peanut Spree

Puyallup, Wash. Nov. 3.—Police started searching again today for the remainder of "peanuts, popcorn, chewing gum and candy" fortune hidden under Mrs. A. V. Nelson's back porch. Small boys found the $27,000, and started an orgy that delighted candy storekeepers—until the police became suspicious. Police have recovered $6,300 but what happened to the rest is a mystery.
