MEET AT COURTHOUSE
Action of Convention In Endorsing Jones Is Opposed By F. J. McDuffie

Walter C. Berry, Mitchell county attorney, was nominated by acclamation to make the race for Superior court judge by Republicans of the 17th judicial district at their convention at the courthouse in Wilkesboro Saturday afternoon.

The nomination came just after the convention had unanimously endorsed Solicitor John R. Jones for the solicitorial nomination.

The meeting was called to order at 1:15 by Attorney J. M. Brown, of this city, chairman of the district committee. One verse of "America" was sung and Rev. William Barlow, of Avery county, made the prayer.

A motion to make all Avery county Republicans delegates to the convention was amended until it was voted that all Republicans present from the district be seated as delegates.

W. B. Brock, Davie county delegate and that county's representative in the state legislature, was called to the chair as temporary chairman. Wade Reavis, district secretary, and all Republican representatives of the press were called to serve as secretaries. The temporary organization was made permanent.

Mr. Brock made a brief keynote address and the business of the convention was immediately taken up.

The name of Solicitor Jones for renomination was placed before the convention by Walter Berry, of Mitchell, and seconds to the nomination came from one or more delegates from every county in the district. L. Vyne and J. H. Whicker, of Wilkes, Avalon Hall, of Yadkin, W. C. Hall, of Davie, John McBeck, of Mitchell, and several others delivered eulogies to the private and public life of the solicitor.

'Heaven Bound' Has Interesting Story Behind It

Noted Pageant To Be Given In City April 17 By Negro School Teachers

IS VERY POPULAR PLAY

"Heaven Bound" the play which will be presented in the school auditorium here on Friday evening, April 27, under the auspices of the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary, has an interesting history.

Born of the depression, cradled by necessity, "Heaven Bound" has been the vehicle which has carried the negro schools of Cleveland county through their hardest years. The story was told by Ruth Moore in "The State," Raleigh publication, in a recent issue.

A part of the story follows: "Heaven Bound" with 25,000 miles already traveled! "That's the record of the Cleveland county negro school teachers who have so far given almost 500 performances of 'Heaven Bound,' a religious pageant which is something of a morality play, a revival meeting and a concert of old-time spirituals rolled into one.

"Three years ago when drastic cuts were made in all state school funds, Violet C. Thomas, superintendent of the county negro schools, conferred with the county superintendent about the pitifully small allotments for colored schools.

"And 'Heaven Bound' was the result of that conference. 'He believed that a play featuring spirituals would be popular with white patrons, and that performances could be given in many sections of the country. With this slender hope of supplementing school funds through efforts of herself and other teachers in the negro schools, Violet Thomas wrote 'Heaven Bound.' The first performance was given in the Shelby courthouse, with a special section reserved for white people. Since then approximately 100,000 white people have witnessed the pageant."

The negro school teachers will soon begin their summer tour during which they will fill several engagements in West Virginia and North Carolina.

The State's article furnishes many interesting facts about the play.

The play was given in the Wilkesboro three times last year. Hundreds who did not see the performances last year are expected to witness "Heaven Bound" here April 27.

SPRING ROUND-UP OF SCHOOL CHILDREN TO BE APRIL 18-19

Parents Asked To Co-operate In Correcting Defects Among Children

135 CHILDREN ON LIST

Letters announcing that the annual spring round-up of pre-school children will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, April 18-19, have been mailed to parents of 135 potential entrants by Mrs. C. C. Faw, chairman of the Spring Round-Up Campaign, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association.

A census of the pre-school children has been taken and it appears that 135 children will enter the first grade this fall. The purpose of the round-up is to determine the health defects which deter the progress of the children in their school work and to ask the parents to have these defects corrected by their family physician during the summer months.

On April 18-19, Dr. A. J. Eller, county health officer, and Mrs. Bertha Bell, county health nurse, will be at the school building to examine the children and point out the defects.

Mrs. Faw is assisted in the pre-round-up drive by Mrs. W. F. Jones and Mrs. J. P. Mills. This committee is making an earnest effort to induce every parent who has children ready for entering school next year to take their children to the clinic on one of these days.

The clinic in the past two years has been a decided success and the observation has been made that children whose defects were remedied during the summer months have made more rapid progress than those who had to enter school under these health handicaps.

The following statement, citing the importance of immediate attention to this matter, has also been mailed to the parents:

Every child should enter school as free as possible from physical defects. A child's school progress is influenced largely by his physical condition. If he is handicapped by one or more physical defects, his schooling may be interrupted by illnesses and not infrequently such children have to repeat the first grade. This is very discouraging to the child, and often leads him to believe that he is different from other children because he cannot keep up with them. On the other hand, if a child enters school in good condition and free from defects, he has a much better chance for normal progress and for happiness in his contacts with other children.

Children grow very rapidly during the first six years of life, and during this rapid growth, physical defects are apt to develop which may cause permanent damage if they are not corrected early. For this reason it is wise to have children examined by the family physician at least once a year. This examination should be followed by early correction of the physical defects. It is especially important that children who are entering school for the first time be examined and the defects corrected as far as possible. The most frequent defects among children are den-
