D. J. Brookshire Explains His Voting In North Wilkesboro Township

North Carolina, Wilkes county.

D. J. Brookshire, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That he has heard it rumored that he voted two ballots June 2nd; that affiant has been a citizen and voter of North Wilkesboro Precinct for thirty-five years until two years ago; that affiant has always been an active party worker on election day and worked at North Wilkesboro polls; that late in the day someone asked him if he had voted and he said, "no," and went into the polling place and got a ticket, marked it and handed it to the judge, but instantly realized that he could not vote in North Wilkesboro Township and turned around before he had reached the door in the polling place and asked the judge to return the ticket to him but the ticket had already been placed in the box; that affiant secured another ticket and marked it exactly like the ticket he had just voted and gave it to the judges and asked them to take out a ticket marked exactly like this one so that his vote would not be counted; that after the polls closed on June 2nd, affiant called attention to this fact in the presence of a hundred or more people and the judge did take out this ticket and it was not counted.
