Miss Madeline Harris Is Wed To Mr. Herman

A wedding beautiful in its simplicity and of cordial interest in this section of the state was that of Miss Madeline Harris and Richard Herman which was solemnized at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, September ninth, at the home of the bride in Wilkesboro.

Rev. Avery Church, pastor of the bride, officiated, using the impressive ring ritual of the Baptist church. Only a limited number of relatives and close friends were present.

The vows were spoken before an improvised altar, the background of which was fern and clematis, while floor baskets of white flowers were placed on each side. White candles softly lighted the pretty arrangement.

Preceding the bride and bridegroom to the altar was little Miss Lucille Harris McNeely, a niece of the bride, who carried the ring on a white satin pillow. She was dressed in a dainty frock of white organdie.

As the couple entered Mrs. R. E. Prevette played Lohengrin's bridal chorus and during the ceremony she softly played McDowell's "To a Wild Rose." After the benediction the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march rang out as a recessional.

The lovely bride was attired in a malacca kashan crepe dress with all her accessories in brown. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink rosebuds.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Herman left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C. and other points of interest up north and upon their return will be at home in Lenoir where Mr. Herman is manager of Smithey's Department Store.

Mrs. Herman is an attractive and popular young woman, a daughter of W. E. Harris, of Wilkesboro, and the late Mrs.

Harris. She is a graduate of the Wilkesboro high school and attended the Appalachian State Teacher's College at Boone. Mr. Herman, a young man of sterling character, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Herman, of Lenoir.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. W. L. Herman, mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Herman, Mrs. Roy Setzer and daughter, Miss Lila Lee Setzer, Raymond Triplett, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Isbell and children, Mrs. Julia Isbell and Howard Moore, all from Lenoir, Mrs. Cowan McNeely and children from Statesville.

was awarded the high score, prize in rook, while Mr. James Howell and Miss Blanche Virginia Swanson won the prizes in the contest. Throughout the evening beautiful musical program was rendered by Mr. Ralph Swanson and Mr. John Tom Howell. ## FIVE-DAY EXPOSITION EXPECTED TO ATTRACT GREAT CROWDS HERE ension will be a most thrilling act. This is not the regular ascension and parachute jump but is something entirely different, according to advance information. The free act program will be given each afternoon and night and will last for two or more hours.

"Hiram and Mandy" will be here during the entire fair to furnish side-splitting laughter for the attending thousands. They are Mr. and Mrs. Happy Jack Darling but are better known to the show going world as "Hiram and Mandy." They have three acts that are calculated to dispel any gloom that may settle upon the crowd and banish the worries of humdrum life like magic.

The Auto Races

The fair will come to a glorious close on Saturday with the first honest-to-goodness professional auto races ever attempted in this part of the state. On the track will be a number of the fastest racing cars with drivers who have raced for gold and glory at Daytona Beach and Indianapolis.

These races will be offered through the fair by the Gray Auto and Air Racing Association, of Daytona Beach, Fla., W. L. Darracott, manager and official starter, was here last week making final arrangements for the races on Saturday, September 22, and Frank Austin, widely known race driver, has been superintending the grading of the track. Some of the drivers are hoping to set new records for the one-third mile track in breath-taking bursts of speed on the track here.

Officials of the fair say they have reason to make the statement that the 1934 exposition will be "bigger and better than ever." This prediction is based on what the fair president has engaged as attractions and the fact that crops are excellent with prospects bright for unexcelled exhibits.

Possibly no other section of North Carolina produces products of a better quality than in Wilkes county and agricultural officials who have viewed the fair here are enthusiastic in their praise of Wilkes apples, livestock, corn, and various other exhibits. On exhibit at the fair here will be products that will be forwarded to the North Carolina state fair and international shows to vie for further honors.

Pathe News presents "The Dionne Quintuplets" Pathe News was selected by the Canadian Government to show the world these first moving pictures of the most famous babies ever born. Apart from the human angle, the scientific care given them make these pictures among the most important ever presented in a news reel.

Pathe News brings to the screen remarkable scenes of the Dionne babies in their nursery as Dr. Dafoe fights—armed with every power science can give him—for the lives of the only quintuplets to survive more than an hour after birth!

This special Pathe News attraction will be shown at the New Orpheum Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

LAST RITES HELD FOR VICTIMS OF AIRPLANE WRECK

lovely flowers were carried by the nieces and a few close friends of the deceased. Appropriate and touching songs—most of them the ones that were sung at the funeral of Mr. Mathis' brother-in-law, Mr. Otho Mathis, last November—were rendered.

Pall bearers were Walter Myers, T. S. Kenerly, W. J. Church, N. S. Forester, N. T. Jarvis, Jr., Mansfield Jarvis and C. A. Lowe.

Mr. Mathis was born Feb. 7, 1890; professed faith in Christ at about the age of 18 and joined Pleasant Grove church; and was married to Miss Bertha Mathis Jan. 28, 1912. He is survived by his widow, six children: Grace, Gertie, Jarvie, Vertie, Archie and Mary Emma. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Berry Mathis; three brothers, Bryant, Carl, and a younger brother; and six sisters, Mesdames, Hester Johnson, Pearl Mathis, Bertha Sale, Lillie Duncan, Sally Mathis Gray, and Minnie Douthit, also survive.

Myrth was laid to rest beneath a grave banked with flowers in Cranberry church cemetery. Both Mr. Comer and Mr. Jarvis bade the large family of bereaved kinsfolk to "Look up." The same comfort is expressed in Jean Ingelow's poem, "The Mariner's Cave":

"But in the drinking of their bitter cup
The sweet voice spoke once more, and sighed, 'Look up!'
They sighed and straightway answered 'Even so;
For what abides that we should look on here?
The heavens are better than this earth below,
They are of more account and far more dear.
We will look up, for all most sweet and fair,
Most pure, most excellent, is garnered there."

"PARIS INTERLUDE" SMARTLY FILMED WITH HUMAN TOUCHES, COMES TO THE LIBERTY

"Paris Interlude," which comes to the Liberty theatre Monday and Tuesday proves to be one of the most entertaining pictures of the greater movie season which is now in full force. Rollicking-humor, amid which runs a charming love story, a background of Paris and its spectacular fashion shows, the Fine Arts Ball, joyous night spots, and its historic landing of Lindbergh are among the high spots of a very engaging piece of entertainment. Madge Evans is charmingly sincere as Julie Bell, the heroine and a clever comedy foil is her companion, Una Merkel, as the cynical illustrator. Otto Kruger gives splendidly convincing characterization as the phlegmatic young correspondent and Robt. Young an equally gripping performance as the loyal friend.
