Quintuplets Are Put In Hospital Built For Them

Callender, Ont., Sept. 21.—Rain, the roar of blasting nearby and their slight colds failed to keep the Dionne quintuplets indoors today.

In the first automobile ride of their 116 days of life, the quintuplets were removed from the farm home of their parents, where they were born, and rushed 100 yards down the road to the new hospital built especially for them.

Dr. A. R. Dafeo, fearing they might catch the whooping cough prevalent in the neighborhood or contract the more serious colds members of their family have, ordered the move despite unfavorable conditions.

Workmen blasting nearby to get rock for the foundation of the new road from Callender to the hospital ceased on request from one of the babies' guardians.

In a violent rainstorm, the bundled-up babies were rushed from the Dionne farm home to a waiting automobile. Nurses held the babies in their arms while the car crept down the rocky road and up to the front door of the "Dafeo hospital." They were taken into the ward and placed in their own cribs which previously had been brought from their home and warmed.

Dr. Dafeo said the babies stood the journey well and described their condition as "very good." He expressed joy that they were now in the hospital where they can be kept away from all sources of possible infection.

Chicago Exposition To Close October 31

The Century of Progress exposition at Chicago will close its gates Wednesday, October 31, and with cooler weather, attendance figures at the exposition are steadily soaring to make new records for all American fairs. Approximately 8,500,000 persons have paid admissions this year, which brings the total for the two years showing to date to nearly 31,000,000.

With the closing, wreckers will come in and the enchanted city whose streets transported visitors into the mysterious realms of scientific research, art, music, industry, light, color, entertainment, education and commerce will come down.

The fantastic buildings will be leveled. The Street of Villages with its 15 perfect reproductions of as many foreign lands, will be no more. The largest and most beautiful fountain will no longer throw its scintillating spray skyward. The gay cafes will not echo the laughter of happy people. The famed Avenue of Flags will be stripped and the greatest and most beautiful of all major expositions will be history.

England Looms As Greater Market For Cars

First evidence of prospective improvement in the export of American cars to Great Britain, as a result of a marked reduction in the horsepower tax to become effective January 1, 1935, is to be seen in the announcement that a Chevrolet passenger car distributor has been appointed in England.

Now, for the first time in many years, active merchandising effort is to be put behind the Chevrolet in England as the result of the appointment of Cass & Joyce, Ltd., a firm which handles also the Talbot and Sunbeam cars, as Chevrolet distributor. The firm will market the American cars through a dealer organization which comprises 150 outlets in England, Scotland and Wales.

"Because of Chevrolet's long absence from the British passenger car market," says General Motors World, "it is impossible to forecast next year's volume figure, but a substantial initial shipment has already gone forward and both the distributor and the general sales department are most optimistic about the future of the territory."

Keep Poultry Records Advises Dearstyne

Poultrymen who keep records of their flocks will stand a better chance of making a profit in spite of high feed prices, says R. S. Dearstyne, head of the State college poultry department.

With a well-kept record, the poultryman can find the weak points in his flock management when profits are low and thus determine what to do to remedy the situation.

Dearstyne warns against trying to save money by doling out small quantities of feed to the birds. Such practice will lower egg production, impair the vitality of the birds, and increase the mortality rate.

True, he said, it is good policy to provide winter grazing in order to cut down on feed costs, but this is advisable because winter grazing is beneficial. Non-beneficial feeds should not be substituted for the higher priced feeds, he warned.

The extension service at State college is offering a complete system of record-keeping free to all poultrymen within the state. Record books will be sent to those who wish them. The books contain sheets in which monthly records can be kept.

If the poultrymen will send these sheets back to the college each month, poultry specialists will be glad to figure for them the following data: Feed cost per dozen eggs, feed cost per bird,

Fruit gardens are essential to the health of the family, says M. S. Gardner, head of the department of horticulture at State college.

The idea garden has a few trees and plants of a number of varieties so that the ripening season will extend over a long period. Such arrangements, however, are sometimes handicapped by the difficulty of spraying at the proper time to protect against insects and disease.

The farm family should cultivate fruit as carefully as vegetables and not plant a few trees here and there in out-of-the-way places and trust to chance that they will produce enough fruit for the family needs, Gardner warned.

Apples will ripen in the following order: Yellow Transparent, Red June, Bonum, Delicious, Stayman, Winesap and Rome Beauty. Good peach varieties are: Early Rose, Golden Jubilee, Hi-
