"Girl Of The Limberlost" Now Showing At Liberty

Lending vivid reality to the "down to earth" American characters of Gene Stratton-Porter's famous best-seller, "A Girl of The Limberlost" gained popular acclaim at initial showing and comes to the Liberty Theatre, Thursday and Friday.

The photoplay is a faithful transcription of the Gene Stratton-Porter original, and preserves the full flavor of the Mid-Western rural locale.

One of the two most popular of the author's works, the familiar story deals with the efforts of pretty Elnora Comstock to gain an education against the determined opposition of an unrelenting mother who has hated her child since birth.

Into the plot enters those two kindly souls, Wes and Margaret Sinton, and little Billy, the orphaned ragamuffin, whom Elnora befriends. Then the efforts of "The Bird Woman" are enlisted in Elnora's cause, and finally, with her high-schooling all most complete, comes the love of Phillip Ammon, son of Dr. Ammon. Complications ensue with the arrival of Phillip's fiancée, Edith Carr, but with the departure of Edith, and Katherine Comstock's eventual discovery that she has wronged her daughter all her life, there comes the touching finale.

It's a simple story, but beautifully told, and remarkably played by such splendid troupers as Louise Dresser, as the mother, Ralph Morgan, as Wes Sinton, Marian Marsh in the title role, and Henry B. Walthall, Helen Jerome Eddy, Eddie Nugent, Betty Blythe, Barbara Bedford, Tommy Bupp and GIGI Parrish, the Wampas baby star.

Auxiliary's Work Of Year Surveyed

Yearly Report of Local Unit Shows Achievement Program Carried Out

In order to acquaint the people of the county with the work of the local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary for the year, the following report of the achievements of the unit is given:

The Wilkes county post No. 125 of the Legion Auxiliary is very proud of the year's work and feels that the people of the county would be interested in a summary of the year's achievements.

The North Carolina department president was from our membership, and Mrs. Absher's work for the year has been recognized over the entire state. Also the national defense chairman was one of our members and the state office and child welfare survey office have been located in our midst.

Our membership for the year was 65, our quota. We received two state citations for work well done.

Our child welfare work among the World War veterans' homes needing help is one of our best projects. We have contacted during the year 10 families—52 individuals; spent in cash $160.98. This has taken care of clothing, food and in many instances we have arranged for medical care, this being given at special rates. One hundred hours of service has been given in this work. Our work at Oteen among the soldiers there has amounted to $22.25. We have remembered our boys each month.

The Auxiliary, with the aid of the Woman's club and Parent-Teacher congress, have had a library for the summer month, providing free to all who desired books to read.

The members of our Auxiliary have made 100 glasses of jelly to be used for lunches to underprivileged children of Wilkes county.

The programs recommended by the national organization have been used each month. We had a program on Armistice Day in the public school, also, assisted by the Legion, in a Memorial Day service, decorating with a poppy wreath in honor of those who gave their lives during the war for our country. Poppies used in the wreath were made by families of veterans who are at Oteen.

The child survey office which was originated by Mrs. W. R. Absher, was located here and one of the members did the survey in Wilkes. Six hundred families were contacted, 300 of these being World War veterans.

The finance chairman reported as follows:

Gross receipts	$136.86
Gross Rehabilitation	230.86
Total	$367.72
Disbursements	$285.03

This money was raised by dances, parties, plays, etc., membership dues and poppy sales. To carry on our work we must make some money and in providing entertainment we feel we are also aiding our community welfare.

Club house committee report is as follows:

Gross receipts	$1,068.59
Gross expenditures	1,059.60

We are carrying eight shares of building and loan to complete the payment of the club house, and appreciate the aid which has been given by every one in assisting us in carrying on.

HIGHER GASOLINE PRICE IS HINTED

Washington, Sept. 22.—A hint that the nation's motorists must be prepared to pay higher prices for gasoline emerged today from testimony before the House committee which is considering possible oil regulatory legislation.

John E. Slatford, an independent refiner and member of the national petroleum code authority, testified that the gasoline surplus was being reduced by application of a refinery control system.

"Refinery control is a success," he said. "It has taken three months to work off the sins of the first six months' under the code. We are just now getting into a position where we can hope to improve the price of gasoline at the refinery."

National Rug Week At Rhodes-Day Co.

Attractive Window Display At Rhodes-Day Store Shows 1935 Patterns

Rhodes-Day Furniture Company is this week participating in National Rug Week, an event featured by the first showing of the attractive patterns of the 1935 Ardsley Rugs, popular Axminster fabric.

Attention is called to the attractive window display in the Rhodes-Day windows, which displays the new patterns. Each rug has a price tag, which shows that the prices on these new patterns are most reasonable.

Commenting on their participation in National Rug Week, Mr. C. G. Day, of the Rhodes-Day Company, today issued the following statement:

"We have just received the new 1935 patterns of Ardsley Rugs, our most popular Axminster fabric, which are now on advance display in our Rug Department. If you are buying a new rug this fall, visit our Ardsley Style Show so you can make your selection from the full assortment of the new patterns being shown.

"The designers have outdone themselves this year. When you see the beauty of the designs and colors you would scarcely believe that this is our most popular-priced Axminster. In quality, in feel, in appearance, they look like much higher-priced rugs.

"No matter what your style of furniture or your color scheme, you will find something in these new Ardsleys that exactly fits. They include hooked designs, modern, chintz effects, Oriental reproductions, Chinese, florals—almost any type of pattern you can name in a wide range of colorings and in any room size.

"Come to our Ardsley Style Show now. We will gladly reserve for you the rug you want if you need your new rug a little later."

ABSENCE MAKES JAR GROW BIGGER

High Point, Sept. 26.—Even kraut jars yield their increase. About two years ago someone stole from the back porch of Policeman H. F. Richardson's home his valuable kraut jar. Last night Mr. Richardson found a kraut jar in the same place from where his own had been removed.

It was a new container; had not been used and instead of holding five gallons as the first jar had it had a capacity of six gallons.

the total value of his real estate, just as a man is now permitted to deduct the combined sum total of all his debts from the value of his solvent credits," was advocated.

The speaker advanced a plan to demand that $100,000,000 of the federal income and inheritance tax be redistributed to the state for support of the public schools—a policy long advocated by the National Grange and which would give North Carolina taxpayers $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 annually in "just and justifiable tax relief."

Man Breaks Into Jail; May Not Be Allowed To Stay

Danville, Va., Sept. 26.—Claude Smithers, who successfully broke into jail last night, was not quite sure today if he could remain there. It all depended on a conference between the authorities.

Last night he went to police headquarters and asked to be locked up. He had done nothing, however, and he was denied admittance. Then Smithers said that if the police denied him admittance he would be compelled to go out on the street and commit an unlawful act which would provide him with safe passage into the jail.

One of the policemen present was somewhat nonplussed but on finding that Smithers was without funds said that he could fall him on a vagrancy charge. His case was continued today until tomorrow morning.
