

Singing Held At Pleasant Grove

Interesting Session With Abundance of Good Singing Is Reported

BONDA, Oct. 3.—During the day while the beautiful songs are being sung, in the singing convention we say, "It is the best singing we have ever held," but last Sunday at Pleasant Grove church, bearing the name so fitting the day, the words expressed by many who were present that it had been the best singing association we had ever held.

We are sure every one who had a part in the song service had other visitors too, were extended a hearty welcome by the entire church and the beloved pastor.

The song service opened with a hymn for all to sing "All Hail The Power," lead by the chairman, W. H. Jones, and Rev. Mr. Jarvis read from 116 and 117th psalms and lead the prayer to the Great God to whom praise was to be sung that bright Sabbath day.

Mr. R. R. Crater, the secretary soon had the names of each choir and quartet in line so no one would be overlooked or miss their time to sing.

Mr. Elieha Mastin, said to have been leading Pleasant Grove choir the longest of any choir leader in the convention, had his splendid band of singers all ready for the first song.

Mr. Jones, from Bethel, although his choir is not so large, but it just will be present every time; Mr. Swain from Swan Creek, whose big choir the convention is always delighted to see because it seems to enjoy singing as well as we enjoy hearing it; and Shady Grove, directed by Mr. Mansfield Prevette, had such a big choir and sung so well. It was inviting and the next convention is to be held at their church in the spring, 1935.

Some fine numbers were rendered by the quartets: "The Wilkes" from Wilkesboro, with Mr. Stroud, who has been with this convention ever since it was organized and who never fails to bring some singers with here were Messrs Roby Church, Dewey Minton and Mayford Miller, the low bass singers of Wilkes; "The White Oak" from Greensboro, R. E. Lamon 1st tenor, J. I. Hobbs, 2nd tenor, J. M. Bishop, baritone and Harold Lamon, bass, accompanied at the piano by Miss Brown also from Greensboro. They too, gave a chorus which included Mrs. Hobbs and Mr. Ham; "Granite Falls" quartet and "Pleasant Four," both from Granite Falls; we did not get all their names. Their music was enjoyed so much we want them to come back again; Jonesville quartet from Jonesville were Don S. Gilliam, who was a former member of Bethel choir with Messrs. Martin, Osborne and Harp, and "The Nighten Gull Quartet from near Mountain View, were Messrs. Wiles, Sebastian and Shumate with Charles Jones filling the absence of a member of their quartet; Mr. Lamon, of Greensboro, also delighted the audience with a beautiful solo.

Everyone who spent the day brought lunch or ate with some friend and all had a pleasant association for an hour or more at noon.

When the bell rang all reassembled until the house was filled. Several rounds were sung and in order to give all a chance to join in song a congregational song was sung at every round. Mr. J. F. Martin, of Ronda, who enjoys singing so much, was asked to lead the hymn, "The Unclear Day." Everyone who wanted to sing joined and made this sound sweet to the number of old people as well as the younger ones. Mr. W. T. Myers, of Elkin, and a former director of Swan Creek choir, was called to the front and lead the entire audience in singing "Glory To His Name."

As the beautiful day was growing towards the close every one wanted to help Mr. Crater sing "Land Where We Never Grow Old" and Rev. Mr. Guss Myers lead the closing prayer.

Hoover Says Regimentation "Vast Casualty To Liberty"

New York.—Herbert Hoover, in his book, "The Challenge to Liberty," published recently, declares the policy of national regimentation "is a vast casualty to liberty if it shall be continued."

The former President, in his first extended dissertation on public affairs since he left the White House on March 4, 1933, sounds this introductory note: "For the first time in two generations, the American people are faced with the primary issue of humanity and all government—the issue of human liberty."

The definition of liberty he gives: "It is far more than independence of a nation. It is not a catalogue of political rights. Liberty is a thing of the spirit—to be free to worship, to think, to hold opinions, and to speak without fear—free to challenge wrong and oppression with surety of justice."

Explains Meaning of Liberty
 "Liberty conceives that the mind and spirit of men can be free only if the individual is free to choose his own calling. . . . It holds he must be free to earn, to spend, to save, to accumulate property. . . ."

"It therefore holds that no man, no group, may infringe on the liberties of others. . . . It holds that these liberties and securities to constructive initiative and enterprise alone assure the immense need of material, moral and spiritual achievement of men."

Many of the pertinent points in Mr. Hoover's book have been publicly discussed since their appearance in magazine form.

Most extended of all is the section dealing with regimentation and its effect on representative government.

Here, without mentioning by name either his successor in office or the Roosevelt administration, Mr. Hoover vigorously assails "the efficiencies of the regimentation theory of economics" and "its impact upon true American liberalism."

These departures from traditional American policy, he writes, "can best be determined by an examination on action taken and measures adopted in the United States during recent months."

Lists Powers Assumed

"The first step of economic regimentation is a vast centralization of power in the executive," Mr. Hoover sets forth. "Without tedious recitation of the acts of congress delegating powers over the people to the executive . . . and omitting regulatory acts, the powers which have been assumed, directly or indirectly, include the following:

"To debase the coin and set its value; to inflate the currency; to buy and sell gold and silver . . .
 "To levy sales taxes on food, clothing and upon goods competitive to them (the processing tax) at such times and in such amounts as the executive may determine;
 "To expend enormous amounts from the appropriations for public works, relief and agriculture upon projects not announced to the congress at the time appropriations were made;

"To create corporations for a wide variety of business activity heretofore the exclusive field of private enterprise;
 "To install services and to manufacture commodities in competition with citizens."

Here, without once referring to the NRA and the AAA, Mr. Hoover enumerates further assumptions of power by the executive in the field of these two endeavors:

"To fix minimum prices for industries or dealers; to fix handling charges and therefore profits; to eliminate unfair trade practices;

Evidences of Coercion
 "To allot the amount of production to individual farms and factories . . . to destroy commodities;
 "To stop expansion or development of industries . . .
 "To establish minimum wages; to fix maximum hours and conditions of labor;
 "To impose collective bargaining;

"To abrogate the effect of the anti-trust laws."

At some time or place, the former Republican President says, "all of these authorities have been used. Powers once delegated are bound to be used, for one step drives to another."

Concerning "regimented industry and commerce," Mr. Hoover says "in this mobilization there has been constant use of the term 'co-operation' . . .
 "At best," he continues, "it is 'coercive co-operation.' Free will and consent, the essential elements in co-operation, have not often been present."

"Ample evidence of coercion is found in the budgeting proceedings of many important code conferences, in the changes forced in some codes, from which there was no appeal or refuge; in the incitement to public boycott."

Green Asks Workers Of World To Combine To Prevent Conflict

Labor Federation Head Says Labor Is Against All Wars; Padway Headed

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—A call to the workers of the world to "unite solidly in order to prevent what seems to be an approaching war" was voiced before the American Federation of Labor convention today by William Green, its president.

Green introduced John Stokes, of London, fraternal delegate from the British Trades Union congress, who told the convention "the socialist principle has become the obvious and sole solution of our economic and industrial crisis."

It was a day of speeches reflecting the concern of labor leaders over the social and economic aspects of workers.

Organized workers were warned by Joseph A. Padway, Milwaukee, labor attorney, against dropping their weapons in any industrial truce with employers. He criticized the department of justice and the national labor board for alleged unfairness to labor.

William Dunn, of Toronto, fraternal delegate from the Canadian Trades Union congress, said there appeared to be a growing number of workers in the United States "who realize such slogans and catch phrases as 'rugged individualism' are only the economic wool pulled over the eyes of the workers to blind them from their true social position."

Green declared it was "the purpose and spirit of the workers of the world to see that war never occurs again."

LAMBETH DEFENDS PRESIDENT AND NEW

ance in the society of government the rights of human beings and property rights than has President Roosevelt," declared Mr. Lambeth, who said he was glad to defend his every vote in support of the administration program.

The new deal has been brought under fire from two sources, said the speaker, the old guard Republicans and the Wall street group, whom he lumped together and the "constitutional objectors."

"I reverence the constitution but I do not think we should make a fetish of it. The constitution was made for men and not men for the constitution," he said.

Answering the charge that the new deal is socialistic, Mr. Lambeth said that some of the loudest attacks are coming from Norman Thomas. "In fact," said the speaker, "Mr. Thomas and Andrew Mellon are the two leading opponents of the new deal."

As to the charge of restricted liberties, the speaker declared that "no liberty is denied you except the liberty to pursue a policy which would be inimical to the entire group. It is the kind of liberty which monopolistic interests wish to retain in order to exploit the many for the enrichment of the few. Liberty for them, but economic death for the rest of the country."

Despite the fact, he said, that much money has been appropriated for relief and for the resuscitation of industry, Representative Lambeth said that regular expenditures of the national government had been cut 25 per cent in accordance with the Democratic national platform "almost to the penny."

After briefly reviewing the restoration of the banking system, declaring there have been only four bank failures in the nation since March, 1933, with deposits of $1,410,000 and $562,000 of this insured as compared to 7,578 failures with $5,914,287,000 of uninsured deposits from 1929 to March, 1933, Mr. Lambeth turned to a defense of administration farm policies.

The North Carolina tobacco crop in 1932 was worth $35,000,000 and in 1934 $120,000,000.

CONTEST CLOSES MIDNIGHT OCTOBER 15TH

Control of Power...

Big league pitchers know that power is not enough. The important thing is to control that power . . . particularly in tight situations where you've got to bear down to win.

Above is Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, who today will hurl for Detroit in an attempt to even up the score with St. Louis in the world series baseball classic of 1934. St. Louis won the first game yesterday 8 to 3.

The Ford V-8 gives you all the power you need—and some to spare. But that's only half the story. It performs superbly because it gives you sure, effective control of that power.

It's a seasoned campaigner—this Ford V-8—and it has proved it can take it in many severe tests. It has scored important victories in road races at Elgin, Jacksonville, Los Angeles and Targio Florio. On Labor Day, three Ford V-8 cars broke all previous stock car records for climbing Pike's Peak. The Fords in this climb were equipped with high-compression cylinder heads, optional equipment for altitude driving. The V-type engine holds every major speed record on land, on water and in the air.

Every day—on every road—in the hands of hundreds of thousands of motorists—the Ford V-8 is proving its leadership both by outstanding performance—and by low cost of operation. Drive it yourself and see what a tremendous difference the V-8 engine makes.
