

Elkin Loses Its 'Grand Old Man'

Elkin, Oct. 23.—In the passing of Thomas Lenoir Gwyn, "grand old man of Elkin," the town last week lost one of its pioneer citizens and one of the oldest surviving Confederate veterans in the state. He would have been 92 years old on November 9. Grandson of a soldier of the revolution, Mr. Gwyn was born in 1842, the son of Richard and Elizabeth Hunt Gwyn, on their plantation which later furnished the site for the town of Elkin. He was educated at the Van Eaton academy, Jonesville, and was about to enter college at the outbreak of the civil war. He served with distinction in this conflict and was the last survivor of Company A, second battalion of North Carolina. His keen memory provided notable reminiscences of that period. Soon after the war he married Miss Amelia Dickerson, of Tennessee, who died several years ago. Of his immediate family he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. N. V. Poindexter. In the early '70's Mr. Gwyn established a small mill, with his brother-in-law, Alexander Chatham, which later grew into the Chatham Blanket mills. He withdrew from this business in 1895 and moved to Virginia, where he was elected a member of the constitutional convention in 1901, representing Grayson county. In 1913 the pioneer returned to Elkin and purchased the ancient Gwyn home which he occupied with his daughter until his death. A loyal member of the Methodist Episcopal church, a staunch Democrat and remarkably interested in general affairs, Mr. Gwyn's friends were limited to no age or station in life, for he was a friend to all mankind. He was an uncle of R. W. Gwyn, of North Wilkesboro.

Auto Parts Show And Display Attracts Interest

The big parts show and display which was sponsored by the Auto Parts and Electric Co. in Statesville recently for the benefit of their customers and also for the customers of the Auto Parts Co. of North Wilkesboro, proved very beneficial and enjoyable to the large crowd that attended. Nearly 700 patrons manifested a keen interest in the numerous attractions. Numerous prizes were won by chances. This feature alone was considered well worth attending and created a great deal of enthusiasm and interest. On Monday evening the representatives and personnel enjoyed Mr. Reavis' gracious hospitality at a banquet at Vance Hotel. Refreshments were served Tuesday evening to the large crowd in attendance and the occasion was climaxed by a big barbecue supper on Wednesday night.

Satterfield Granted 30 Day Stay From Chair

Raleigh, Oct. 23.—An eleventh hour confession here today by Rufus Satterfield, sentenced to die Friday for the murder of Herbert Grice, of Goldsboro, resulted in a 30-day reprieve, and the re-arrest of Mrs. Grice, widow of the murder victim, and her brother, Donald Sasser. Judge R. Hunt Parker, at Greenville, late today granted a writ of habeas corpus to Sasser and Mrs. Grice, on petition of the widow's lawyer, Hugh Dorch. Judge Parker will hold a hearing for them Thursday. Satterfield summoned Parole Commissioner Edwin M. Gill to death row at state prison early today, and admitted participation in the Goldsboro killing. He implicated Sasser and Mrs. Grice, saying he and the victim's brother-in-law planned the murder together at the request of Mrs. Grice, who had been threatened by her husband.

Tells Of Sessions Of Baptist Association

WALSH, Oct. 23.—To all, and for all, whom it may concern: I am resolved to submit a few remarks relative to the Blue Ridge association that was held in Big Ivy church October 19 and 20, by the Moderator, Rev. David Roten, the clerk, W. A. Blackburn, together with the delegates of said church and those from other sister churches; and several other corresponding delegates and ministers from different associations who were cordially received with a solicitation to aid in counsel. I think they were all of one accord in all the transactions of associational business so far as I know. It was such a thrill to see so many ministers of the Gospel meet and greet each other in love and unity. No big "I's" nor little "You's" but preferring one and other in harmony and unity of the spirit. I'm sure the people in general enjoyed the association, and the preaching, by the visiting brethren and the moderator for it was grand, and uplifting to the souls of all who have a hope in Christ, which is an anchor of the soul both sure and steadfast to those who will hold to God's unchanging hand. There was a considerable crowd on Sunday and the sermons by Brother Hayes and Brother Roten were so thrilling and soul cheering that surely every one present got a foretaste of the Heavenly gift that comes down from the great storehouse that furnishes food for the hungry soul, which is peace, love, joy and happiness. It seemed that the love of God had filled every soul when the parting old time hand shaking was going on and singing of the song, "Where We'll Never Grow Old." I don't believe I'd be mistaken if I was to say that there was a host of bright angels hovering over us while we all were rejoicing together in the close of the meeting. The Bible tells us to "draw nigh unto God and he will draw nigh unto us." Therefore I'm made to believe when we open our hearts to Him He will come in and sup with us, and we with Him. Every service was closed with a hearty hand shake and a love feast. Rev. C. C. Siddon, of Joynea, and Rev. H. H. Bledsoe both did excellent preaching, also making it very impressive on all to discharge their Christian duty. Now in conclusion I will say that it behooves us all to get in closer touch with our Lord that our light may shine before the world that we may be instrumental in His hands of winning souls to Him who gave His precious life for us all that we may have life and have it more abundantly. MRS. L. C. BLACKBURN.

Here are (oh, you count the chorus girls), trained to perfection by Busby Berkeley, famed maestro, and appearing in Warner Bros.' latest musical, "Dames," coming to the New Orpheum Theatre Monday and Tuesday. Dick Powell, Joan Blondell and Ruby Keeler are a few of the leading lights in the cast. The five song hits and dance spectacles which are featured, elicited this tribute from Walter Winchell: "Orchids to the most impressive choral maneuvers yet."

Davis Faces Trial For Murder of Sheriff Kimball

Statesville, Oct. 23.—Following a preliminary hearing before Squire George R. Anderson, lasting for six hours, Ralph Davis, 25, Davidson county outlaw, was held tonight without bail for Iredell superior court on a charge of first-degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Sheriff G. C. Kimball, at a tenant house, ten miles east of Statesville, on August 17. Solicitor Z. V. Long led the prosecution, presenting evidence to show that Ralph Davis shot the Iredell sheriff while he and two of his deputies were trying to arrest Davis. The defendant, through his counsel, Fred S. Hutchins, of Winston-Salem, presented ballistic experts to show that the bullet which killed Sheriff Kimball came out of the gun used by Kimball's deputy, R. L. Gilbert, holding that Deputy Gilbert accidentally killed his chief. Solicitor Long advanced the theory, in his argument, that Davis probably took Sheriff Kimball's pistol, of same kind Deputy Gilbert's, and fatally shot the sheriff with his own pistol. The sheriff's pistol has never been located since his death, the solicitor stated. After hearing all the evidence and argument, the magistrate early tonight, found probable cause, and ordered Davis held for the November term of superior court, without bail.

J. C. Penney Store Odds, Ends Event

Beginning tomorrow and continuing for several days, the J. C. Penney Company store located in this city will stage an "Odds and Ends Event," in which many desirable items of merchandise are being offered at prices indicative of quick clearance. A. L. Griffing, new manager for the store, stated today that cost of the merchandise was not considered in the pricing of all merchandise in the store. The object of the event is to clear the store quickly of much of the present merchandise in order to make room for the new winter goods that is now arriving. Some of the items that have been priced are listed in the company's advertisement elsewhere in this newspaper.

What A Big Difference A Little Thing Makes!

In The Journal-Patriot's account of letting contract for the Reddies River bridge it was said that the bridge and approaches would be three and nine-tenths miles in length when it should have been thirty-nine-one-hundredths. Placing the period between the 3 and 9 instead of before the 3 made it read 3.9 instead of .39.
