

Bradley Dancy Heads Juniors

Officers For ensuing Term Elected in Meeting on Tuesday Night

Bradley Dancy was elected president of the North Wilkesboro Junior League in the meeting held Tuesday night at which time all officers were named for the next six-month term. The membership of the local council is growing steadily and new members are being taken in at each meeting on Tuesday night.

The newly elected officers are: Bradley Dancy, councillor; Prof. C. B. Eller, vice councillor; C. A. Canter, recording secretary; B. F. Bentley, assistant recording secretary; C. G. Day, financial secretary; Bank of North Wilkesboro, treasurer; A. H. Andrews, conductor; A. G. Anderson, Warden; J. R. Beaman, inside sentinel; Newland Campbell, outside sentinel; Paul Swanson, Junior Past Councillor; C. O. McNeill, W. K. Sturdivant and Clay Pardue, trustees; H. L. Meacham, chairman.

A membership drive in accordance with a plan submitted by the state councillor is now being carried out. The local council has been divided into two groups with Clay Pardue as head of the "stars" and Bradley Dancy the "strives." Each group is trying to outstrip the other in number of applications taken in.

Every member of the local council and any visiting juniors are asked to attend the meeting on Tuesday night, 7:30. This is described as a very important meeting. Four new members will be initiated.

The 900 bale cotton crop of Burke county in 1932 was worth $27,000. The crop of 600 bales allowed to be sold tax free in 1934 is worth $36,000 and the remaining 300 bales is worth an additional $12,000 after paying the 4c a pound for surplus certificates. However, the increased price of the seed will pay for the certificates, says the farm agent.

This Week In Washington

A BUILDING CLASH

Washington, Dec. 3. (Auto-caster)—The big clash in the inside of the Administration right now is between Harold Ickes and Jim Moffett. Ickes, being Secretary of the Interior and administrator of the oil code is, as everybody knows, head of the Public Works Administration. Jim Moffett is the former Standard Oil vice-president who is head of the Federal Housing Administration. A clash is over fundamental policies of promoting new home building.

Moffett's job is to try to get private capital into this field. He has made better progress thus far than anyone expected him to. But just as he got things going along where lending institutions were about prepared to put out several billions at 5 per cent to finance new home building, Ickes came out with a broadcast declaration that he thought the Government ought to do this financing with public funds at 3 per cent.

That threw a scare into the lending institutions. Wouldn't they look foolish offering money at 5 per cent when the Government was offering it on better terms—Ickes even suggested "no down payment"—and at 3 per cent?

Ickes and Moffett

So Jim Moffett and the folks who have money they want to put to work want to know which of the two policies is to be adopted. Secretary Ickes is very close to the Presidential ear. He also has built up a strong following among members of Congress, most of whom will follow anybody who will spend public money in their districts.

Jim Moffett is not any kind of a politician at all. He suffers under the illusion that so many business men have when they come to Washington, that all they have to do is to do their job. That, as everybody who has been around the national capital very long, fully understands, isn't the half of it. Getting around among the boys, making himself a good fellow with the insiders, talking to the public in a personal way and making glittering, though vague promises, is an important part of the technique of making good at the head of any Federal bureau.

Up To President

The President himself will have to make the final decision between Jim Moffett's plans and those of Harold Ickes. Mr. Roosevelt has been much interested in the project of getting building trade workers back on the job without using public funds to do it. But a strong group of his advisers, including Ickes, Harry Hopkins, the Relief Administrator, and some others, protest that the Moffett program won't do the trick fast enough. Looking forward to a larger demand for direct relief this Winter than ever before and realizing that the longer men stay off the payrolls of industry the lower their morale sinks and the less likely they are to ever want to go back to work at all, Harry Hopkins is for anything that will provide plenty of real work at real wages and provide it quick.

John Fahey, head of Home Owners Loan Corporation, is wisely keeping out of the controversy. His appropriation of two billions is exhausted, all having been lent to needy home owners, and he is not likely to ask Congress for any more until it is decided whether the FHA plan or the PWA plan is the program finally adopted.

Congress, it is believed here, will be strongly inclined to give Mr. Ickes the five or more billions he wants, with which to enable anybody who would like to own a home to build a brand-new one with no down payment whatever and twenty years or so in which to pay off the installments.

Uncle Sam's Loans

If that plan carries through the Government can hope and expect to get most of the money back. It will be lent, not given away. And being a creditor on a big scale will be no novel-

Union Service on Sunday Evening

Congressmen Will Join in

Following a custom that has been observed by the three leading churches in North Wilkesboro for several years, a union service will be held on Sunday evening, 7:30, at the North Wilkesboro Methodist church, to welcome its new pastor, Rev. H. K. King, to the city.

Mr. King, former secretary of religious education in foreign fields, was recently assigned to North Wilkesboro when Dr. W. A. Jenkins was transferred to Chapel Hill.

The usual services for young people will be held at the First Baptist and the Presbyterian churches Sunday evening at the usual time before the evening worship hour but all three congregations will join at the Methodist church for the church worship service. Rev. Eugene Olive, Baptist pastor, and Rev. C. W. Robinson, Presbyterian pastor, will assist in the service. The public is invited to attend.

Optimism Permeates Ford Organization

"Ford Dealers throughout the country are optimistic over the prospects for the coming year, when the Ford Motor Company is to produce one million cars and trucks," said W. C. Patterson, branch manager of the Ford Motor Company, at Charlotte, yesterday. Mr. Patterson last week returned from a branch managers' meeting at Dearborn, Michigan, headquarters of the company.

"Four years have passed since the Ford Motor Company had a production of one million units. However, Henry Ford said when asked about his 1935 production: 'Make it one million or better. Our experience during the past six months and what we see in the future tell us a year of improved business is ahead.'

"Not only Ford dealers," continued Mr. Patterson, "but men handling practically every other make of automobiles are elated over Ford's reassuring statement. The general opinion is that if Ford will build one million cars in 1935 business will be good for other manufacturers and their dealers.

"Proving that Ford's announcement of a projected million-year for 1935 is more than an optimistic statement, Ford dealers throughout the country point to the fact that for several weeks commitments have been going out from Ford headquarters at Dearborn on a buying and production program that will entail a total expenditure of more than 415 million dollars. This vast amount is to be spent among 6,008 suppliers scattered throughout the United States.

"It is estimated that when the drive to produce one million cars is in full swing 87 thousand men will be employed in the Ford industrial army. The Ford monthly payroll in the Detroit area alone will run over $6,861,000.

"The Ford 1935 project calls for spending tremendous sums. For instance, it is estimated that the bringing in of raw materials will require 164 thousand freight cars and outgoing products will require 160 thousand freight cars, involving payment of freight bills, largely to the railroads, of 74 million dollars.

"One of the large expenditures of major importance," concluded Mr. Patterson, "will be for non-ferrous metals. In addition to the steel made in the Ford mills, the sum of 53 million dollars will go for steel in the open market."

"Pagan Lady" at State Theatre, Winston-Salem

"First come, first served," is an adage that is quite appropriate for theatre tickets as well as every other commodity. Those foresighted theatregoers unwilling to wait for the opening of the seat sale at the box office at a later date, are securing, via mail orders, the best locations for "Pagan Lady," the dramatic hit by William DuBois which, with the inimitable Lenore Ulric in the starring role, will be presented by Wee and Leventhal at the State Theatre, Winston-Salem, for one performance only on Thursday evening, December 6.

The huge success scored by Miss Ulric in this vehicle, comparable to her past triumphs on the Broadway stage in "Kiki," "Lulu Belle," "Tiger Rose," "Mima" and others, has caused the producers to book the play with its brilliant star on a tour that extends from coast to coast, affording lovers of flesh-and-blood entertainment opportunity to enjoy the type of diversification which so seldom is offered them.

The cost of the World War in money has been estimated at approximately $186,000,000,000.

Probe Into Election Charges Now Likely

Grand Jury May Investigate Mystery of Missing Poll Books in Watauga

Raleigh, Dec. 3.—The News and Observer says "grand jury investigation of the mystery of the missing poll books in two precincts of Watauga county appears likely."

The books allegedly disappeared on election night, November 6, and representatives of both sides in an inter-party dispute about the election results have professed ignorance concerning whereabouts of the books.

Raymond Maxwell, secretary of the state board of elections, today notified W. A. Lucas, of Wilson, who served as chairman of the board at its meeting last week, that his office had been informed that the missing books could not be located.

At the board's meeting last Tuesday, the Democratic and Republican factions of Watauga, in dispute over the election, were warned to produce the books by last Saturday noon, threatening to refer the matter to the prosecuting attorney of that district.

The "deadline" came and passed, but the books of Cove Creek and Boone precincts apparently have not been found, Maxwell said today.

Under the state's election laws, the registrars are held responsible for delivery of the poll books to the clerk of court. The Watauga clerk of court said the Boone and Cove Creek books were never delivered to him.

Republicans asked a recount, charging that a number of persons were voted illegally, and that other illegal ballots were cast.

NAME OF LOCAL STORE HAS BEEN CHANGED

The name of the store owned by Rom H. Pearson and managed by M. W. Green, the store being located 1-2 mile west of the city on the Boone Trail Highway, has been changed. The store was formerly operated under the name of North Wilkesboro Grocery Co., but the store just opened by Mr. Pearson on Tenth street will bear this name in the future, and the store managed by Mr. Green will henceforth be known as Green's Grocery Store.

The owner of the two stores as well as Mr. Green will appreciate very much the public taking notice of the change in name of the store and make out checks, invoices, etc., accordingly.

War Shouts Ring As Clouds Of Discords Hover Over Europe

London, Nov. 25.—An atmosphere of warlike excitement prevailed in Europe at the beginning of a new week tonight as nation after nation joined in the cry "Who's your ally?"

In the last few days new shouts of discord have echoed across the borders of European nations. Like children seeking shelter from an approaching storm, countries big and small were hunting new security under the skirts of alliances with powerful neighbors or distantly strategic countries.

Even the United States figured in this new phase of world politics when the question of a new Anglo-American understanding was reported to have been under contemplation to offset Japan's insistent demands at the London naval conversations for parity in armaments.

Calm counsels in the principal European capitals continued to believe warfare would be limited to words and that the old world would escape, as it has already narrowly escaped several times this year, a repetition of the cataclysm of 1914.

To produce the 1,000,000 Ford cars and trucks as planned by the Ford Motor Co. for 1935 will require an outlay of approximately $415,000,000, according to figures released by Ford officials.
