

TODAY AND TOMORROW

PENSIONS . . . for everybody
I am convinced that we are coming, in America, to a system of old age pensions for everybody, regardless of need. The idea has grown rapidly since Dr. Townsend launched his project, and was given an impetus by the Social Security Act. I do not imagine the ultimate scheme will be like either of those.

If anybody is going to have pensions, then everybody should have them. At present, only certain favored groups are pensioned. Paupers get old age pensions, as do veterans of some of our wars. Railway employees are pensioned, so are employees of the Federal government, of most state governments and of many municipalities.

It seems to me to be the fair thing to pension everybody at a given age, and tax everybody to pay the pensions.

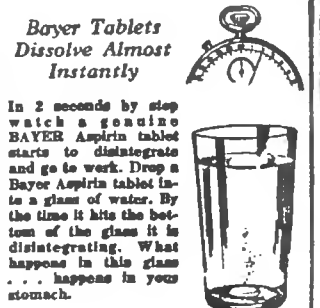

UNEMPLOYED . . . count 'em
I hope the next thing the Administration at Washington does will be to make an accurate count of the number of persons still unemployed. Nobody knows how many there are, just as nobody knows how many of them ever were employed. A truthful census of unemployment should tell us how many are unemployable, by reason of physical or mental

PARTIES . . . necessary
The two-party system has been functioning in America since our nation was a baby. Theoretically, it is the wrong way to run a nation. In practice, human nature being what it is, it works better than any other system which has ever been tried.

DEMOCRACY . . . it works
Last week Tuesday the greatest demonstration in history of the way democracy works was given by the people of the United States. Nowhere else in the world has any such number of men and women ever had the chance to express themselves and their views on questions of their own government.

POLITICIANS . . . useful
It is the fashion to denounce politics and politicians wholesale. I do it myself sometimes. I don't like the methods of most politicians, and I have known very few in that classification whose word I would be willing to take without question.

L. B. Myers Obituary

On Oct. 23, 1936, Mr. L. B. Myers, of Hays, N. C., R. F. D. No. 1, was laid to rest at Haymeadow Baptist church. A record crowd attended the last rites. The many floral designs were mute evidence of the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him. Many and appropriate eulogies were spoken by several ministers who had been privileged to associate and labor with him through many years.

Mr. Myers was born Sept. 20, 1855, and reared in a Christian home. He was a mere lad during the war between the states and encountered many hardships as others did during the days of reconstruction. Through work, initiative and an unusual determination he arose to occupy the position, as one of Wilkes county's outstanding citizens. He was a successful farmer and also served his county several years as County Surveyor. This position partly accounts for his wide range of acquaintance. He was long and justly considered as a very efficient man in this line of work.

Mr. Myers united with New Covenant Baptist church at the age of 13, was ordained a deacon about the year of 1876, which position he filled with honor to himself and the church until his death. At the time of his death he was a faithful and consecrated member of Haymeadow Baptist church. His life was one of labor and service to his family, church and community in which he lived. He continually wore a smile and carried an extended hand to help those in need. His loyalty and devotion were indicative of a deep-rooted Christian character and his life of service was an inspiration to all. His widow, 6 children, 43 grandchildren, 27 great grandchildren and a host of friends mourn the loss of a great life so beautiful and devoted to the service of God. The rays of light that this outstanding life radiated will pierce future years and will be fond remembrances in the minds of those who were fortunate enough to have associated with him.

Mr. Myers passing leaves numerous friends with bowed heads, in humble submission to the will of God, also greatly inspired by his life and the welcome approbation he received—"Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."
R. E. SEBASTIAN.

ROUGHAGE IS CHEAPEST RATION FOR DAIRY COW

Good roughage has no equal as a dairy feed, said John A. Arey, extension dairy specialist at State College.
Cows can do fairly well on a diet of roughage alone, he added, but when they get no roughage their production falls off heavily and they lose weight and vigor. Roughage tones up the digestive tract, keeps cattle in good health, and supplies needed nutrients. Moreover, it is inexpensive; in fact, the cheapest milk-producing feed known.

When good roughage is fed, cows can eat enough of this feed to obtain more than half the nutrients needed for their highest milk yields.

Although authorities do not advise a diet of roughage and nothing else, the importance of roughage in making up a balanced ration and as a milk-producing feed is shown by experiments conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Records kept on 65 cows show their production on a full ration of roughage and grain and then on a ration of roughage alone.
On the full ration, they averaged 18,679 pounds of milk and 655 pounds of butterfat each during the course of a year.

On roughage alone, they produce an average of 11,417 pounds of milk and 407 pounds of butterfat.

Although these cows were better than the average, the feeding experiment shows the milk-producing value of good roughage, Arey pointed out.

On the all-roughage diet, they produced almost two-thirds as much milk and butterfat as on a full ration of roughage and grain.

"Our farmers are using more lime this fall than for the past several years and all are planning to seed either lespedeza or clover on their small grain next spring," says E. S. Millsaps, Randolph county.
