

This Week In Washington

Washington, Nov. 16. (Autoaster)—Now that the final election returns are in and it is definitely certain that the Democrats have even a larger majority in both Houses of Congress than before, Washington is no longer concerning itself with possible opposition to whatever program the President may adopt. Whatever he wants he can get, and until he declares himself, speculation is rather futile as to what the program of the second Roosevelt Administration will be.

Washington, as always, is concerned with personalities as much as with issues. One of the most colorful personalities who has

James Lee Turner, Surviving
 Partner of J. L. Turner & Son, a ner, Individually, Bankrupt.

To—THE HONORABLE JOHN-SON J. HAYES, JUDGE OF THE
 DISTRICT COURT OF THE
 UNITED STATES, FOR THE MIDDLE DISTRICT OF NORTH CAROLINA:

James Lee Turner, surviving
 partner of J. L. Turner & Son, a partnership, and James Lee Turner, Individually, of North Wilkesboro, in the County of Wilkes and State of North Carolina, in said District, respectfully represents: That on the 24th day of June, 1936, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the Acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

Wherefore, he prays that he may be decreed by the Court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said Bankrupt Acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.
 Dated this the 31st day of October, 1936.

been seen on Capitol Hill in the past generation is coming back, to the delight of the newspaper paragraphs and his associates in the Senate. He is Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, usually referred to as "Jim Ham."

Mr. Lewis has many claims to distinction. He is, for example, the only man who ever served in the United States Congress from two different states. As a young man, with a fiery red beard, he went from his native Virginia to the then pioneer state of Washington in the 1890's leaped into politics and was twice elected Congressman-at-Large from that state. He served in the Spanish War, both in Cuba and the Philippines. Then he moved to Chicago, where he combined politics and the practice of law, and by 1912 he had made himself such an important figure in the political affairs of Illinois that he was elected United States Senator.

Best and Worst Dressers For ten years "Jim Ham" was missing from Washington, but in 1930 he was again elected Senator from Illinois and this month he was re-elected. Senator Lewis is not only the only owner of a beard in the Senate, but is casually the best dressed member of either House of Congress.

There is rejoicing in Washington, also, over the return to Congress of the only other full set of whiskers, those belonging to Rep. George H. Tinkham of the Tenth Massachusetts District. Mr.
 Tinkham is a picturesque figure, although an entirely different type from Senator Lewis. He pays so little attention to his personal appearance that he is frequently referred to as the worst-dressed man in Congress.

Unlike Senator Lewis, who loses no opportunity to impress his personality upon the electorate, Representative Tinkham is reputed to have never made a campaign for election.

A new figure in the next Congress whose advent is looked forward to with considerable interest and curiosity is Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts. Mr. Lodge has two definite claims to distinction. He is the grandson and namesake of Theodore Roosevelt's closest friend and supporter, who was Senator from Massachusetts for 30 years.
 Also, he defeated Gov. Curley of Massachusetts in the Senatorial election.

Senator Lodge is just barely old enough to be eligible for the Senate, in which no one under 30 may sit, by the terms of the Constitution. Young Mr. Lodge was 84 in July last. He has the further distinction of being one of the few members of Congress whose principal career has been that of a working newspaper man.

Young Lodge started on the Boston Transcript in 1923 and in 1924 joined the staff of the New York Herald Tribune with which he has been connected almost down to the present time.

Cabinet Changes Hinted Turning from Capitol Hill to the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue, where the executive departments of the government center gossip about personalities focuses largely on possible Cabinet changes. It seems to be in the cards that the movement to establish a new Cabinet Department—that of Public Welfare, will take form before long.

This new department would be charged with duties which now devolve variously upon the Departments of Labor, Interior, Agriculture and Treasury. It would take in such activities as those of the children's bureau, the administration of the mother's pensions, and of many of the other phases of the Social Security Act.

The new department may also take over the job of the Public Health Service which is a bureau of the Treasury. It would include the bureau of education, which is now in the Interior Department, and it would probably get the bureaus of the Department of Agriculture which are concerned with home economics and other phases of rural life not strictly agricultural.

Some Other Guesses
 The latest gossip about Donald Richberg is that he is to be appointed either Attorney General or a member of the Supreme Court. Justice Stone's illness is regarded as more serious than public announcements indicate, also a possible vacancy or two on the Supreme Bench may occur.

The best bet in Washington as to Secretary of War is that Gov.
 Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana, past Commander of the American Legion, will be the successor of Secretary Woodring.

Some Washington gossips are perfectly certain that Mayor La-Guardia of New York is to be given a Cabinet post. There is talk of him as the possible Secretary of Labor.

The belief also grows here that Secretary Ickes of the Interior Department will be appointed by the President to the 15-year post of Controller General, succeeding John McCarl.

Large Sum Asked For School System

Raleigh, Nov. 18.—State school officials, warned the North Carolina advisory budget commission today that unless the salaries of all teachers were raised 20 per cent during the 1937-39 biennium, many instructors would quit their jobs.

The proposed salary increase along with other school expenses would require an annual appropriation of more than $26,000,- 000 from the state's general fund. During the current year, schools are receiving $20,000,- 000.

The budget commission concluded its sessions for the week late today after reviewing and reducing requests for funds made during three days of hearings.
 No final action was taken on appropriations to be recommended to the General Assembly in January.

Meet Next Thursday
 The budget makers are scheduled to reconvene here Thursday to take up methods of raising revenues for the next biennium.

Sitting with members of the state school commission, the budget group this afternoon heard Clyde A. Erwin, superintendent of public instruction, make an urgent plea for more funds.

Erwin's request was based on a salary schedule similar to that in effect in 1929-30.

"The time has come when we have to give more serious consideration to the increase in teachers' salaries or we will be faced with the possibility of a serious shortage in good teachers," the state superintendent asserted.

Lloyd E. Griffin, secretary of the school commission, said the
