

National Guard Begins Week Of Training Drills

Company A With Two Other Companies At Salisbury For Week's Maneuvers

Salisbury, Jan. 21.—Three companies comprising the first battalion of the regiment of the 105th engineers have assembled here for a week's special maneuvers under the command of Maj. F. P. Phillips, of Durham.

Company C, of Salisbury, with Capt. E. W. Cole as commander; Company A, of North Wilkesboro, Capt. Ralph R. Reins, commander; and Company F, Statesville, under command of Capt. George Fields, are the units in training here.

The other three companies comprising the second battalion will engage in training at Morganton. These are companies E of Asheville, D of Lincolnton, and B of Morganton. Capt. Wiley M. Pickens, of Lincolnton, will be acting commander in the absence of Maj. Eugene Coston, Asheville, who is ill and will be unable to attend.

The headquarters unit and band of Charlotte will engage in maneuvers there, while the medical detachment, which also has headquarters at Charlotte, has sent detachments to Salisbury and Morganton. Col. Graham K. Hobbs, of Raleigh, is regimental commander and will supervise activities during the special training.

The national guard armories in Salisbury and Morganton will house the companies while the Charlotte auditorium-armory will be headquarters for the units there.

Farmers Planning Terracing Work

Many farmers in this section are making plans for terracing, some having already begun building terraces, according to Assistant County Agent Jessie Giles and J. F. Doggett, Engineer, of the Soil Conservation Service, in the Wilkes Work Unit of the Tri-Creek District, Wilkesboro, North Carolina.

Where large tractor terracing equipment is unavailable, satisfactory terraces can be built with equipment on the farm. Soil Conservation Service technicians will be glad to cooperate in seeing that terraces are properly laid out. It was also pointed out that terraces should not be built unless satisfactory outlets are already available.

According to Assistant County Agent Giles, it is important that farmers do not undertake more terracing than may be completed in a season and it is also essential that each terrace be completed before new terracing is undertaken. This provides strong and satisfactory terraces and eliminates later rebuilding and erosion damage which results when terraces break.

Equipment which may be used for terracing where larger terracing units are not available, includes turn plows and long wing terracing plows; homemade or commercial V-drags; drag pans; and small farm tractors equipped with small blade terracing machines, tillers and V-drags.

Farmers desiring to learn the best methods of building terraces are urged to consult the County Agent or Soil Conservation Service technicians.

Fred E. Rycroft Funeral Tuesday

Fred E. Rycroft, age 51, for many years a bricklayer in this city, died Sunday night at his home north of the city near Reddies River. Funeral service will be held Tuesday, two o'clock, at Oak Grove church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Nancy King Rycroft, and eight children: Frank, Virginia, Ira, Fredric, Dora, Jessie, Ruth and Billie Rycroft.

Chase Away Menu Monotony with Orleans Chocolate Layer Cake!

Hear the murmurs of pleasure when the family tastes this cake!

Here's a layer cake with the well-loved flavor of old-fashioned chocolate-covered molasses candy. A little molasses gives the frosting a delicate, delightful tang, as well as a lovely fawn color. Chocolate decorates the cake, making a striking finish for the satiny swirls of frosting. And the cake itself is even grained, "chocolate" and velvet-textured. Serve Orleans Chocolate Layer Cake for parties or for a special dessert, most any time—it always creates a sensation.

Lovely to look at—easy to make

Here's where you "skyrocket" your reputation for fine cooking—and so easily! Just follow the simple directions at the right, but be sure to use the new triple-creamed shortening, Spry, because you do want to have that luscious flavor, that feathery lightness.

Surprise the family—serve Orleans Chocolate Layer Cake today. Don't forget, these tender chocolate layers are delicious with other frostings, too.

Orleans Chocolate Layer Cake
1/2 cup Spry (triple-creamed shortening)
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup unsifted flour
1/2 cup milk
3 ounces chocolate, melted
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup milk
Blend Spry, salt, and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream well. Add eggs, singly, beating well after each addition. Add melted chocolate and blend well. Sift baking powder and soda with flour 3 times. Add flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing after each addition until smooth. Bake in two 8-inch Spry-greased layer pans in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes.

Orleans Frosting
2 egg whites
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon light molasses
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate decorations

Put egg whites, sugar, water, molasses and cream of tartar in top of double boiler and mix thoroughly. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with rotary egg beater until mixture will hold a peak (about 7 minutes). Remove from fire, add vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread. Spread frosting between layers, making swirls on top. Sprinkle chocolate decorations around edge of cake, making an attractive border.

Wacky Week Was Wonderful, But Weather Wins In A Walk

New York, Jan. 21.—It got so cold in Norway (54 below) that the farmers had to put overcoats on their cows . . . and the mercury even went to zero in Satan's Kingdom—(Conn).

In short, the weather ran away with the dizzy doings trophy last week for the second week in a row. (A third time, and it gets permanent possession—and the rest of us can move to the south seas).

The temperature dropped 79 degrees in 36 hours in Latvia, and it was so cold in New York that the city put two police officers on skates!

The wind in Buffalo picked up a motorcycle and tossed it across a street, and it was so cold there that a hobo, offered a suspended sentence, took a look outdoors—and asked to be sent to jail . . . and a hobo in Memphis was reduced to bumping a dime from a blind beggar!

The Putnam Valley, N. Y., public health society had to cancel its meeting—because too many members were laid up with colds . . . and when the temperature hit three below in Springfield, Mo., all public events were cancelled except a lecture on Siberia!

The lone guy who seemed to be able to take it was the Sioux City, Ia., man who, with the thermometer at 20 below, walked six blocks in his bare feet—in his sleep!

But it never seems to get cold enough to cramp the cavalcade of cockeyed occurrences—

A Philadelphia congressman was presented with a diamond ring, and before he could finish his speech of thanks the ring was stolen . . . Into a Richmond, Va., court came a case entitled "The United States v. 896 Cases of Herring Roe"—and the herring roe won!

Science and invention: . . . A Paris theater instituted wooden dummies to fill up the empty seats. . . . A four-year-old Memphis boy was equipped with false baby teeth . . . And, to get himself out of bed in the mornings, a Brown university student installed an automatic phonograph record of his own voice urging himself to get up!

A Millburn, N. J., patrol car officer inadvertently broadcast a rendezvous with his sweetie over the whole police radio system . . . Five Wichita, Kas., engineers were fined for speeding—in their trains. English dept. . . . The Pullman porters union officially expunged the title of red cap as "undignified" . . . The Atlanta weather man changed the designation "partly cloudy" to "partly clear", "lest people get the idea it might rain" (as if it mightn't).

A Danish vessel's cargo of beans swelled to three times their normal size—and sank the ship . . . A burglar broke into an Andrews, Ind., home and stole a bag of money—and three days later broke in again and put it back!

And finally, the unluckiest man of the week: Archie Milligan, of Newark, N. J., who discovered that somebody had written officials in his name complaining that he wasn't taxed enough.

Death Claims Mrs. Henderson

Winston-Salem, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Nancy Lou Henderson, 79, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Odessa Gibson, 2314 Elizabeth avenue, at 8:07 o'clock last night following an illness of two weeks during which time she was critically ill for one week.

Mrs. Henderson was born in Wilkes county, January 27, 1861, the daughter of McCager and Clementine Sales Woodruff. She lived in Winston-Salem for the past 37 years. She was a member of Shady Grove Baptist church, Wilkes county.

Mrs. Henderson was the widow of J. C. Henderson, who died September 7, 1930. Mr. Henderson was a well-known merchant in Wilkes county for a long time. He was postmaster at Knottville, Wilkes county, for 25 years.

Survivors include one son, R. F. Henderson, Winston-Salem, Route 5; seven daughters, Mrs. Odessa Gibson, Mrs. G. B. Yokley, Mrs. W. W. Bolling and Mrs. B. H. Reeves, all of Winston-Salem, and Mrs. Ruth McGee, Wallburg, Mrs. A. C. Clingman, Richmond, Va., and Mrs. J. S. Forester, Keysville, Va.; 42 grandchildren; several great grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. S. Q. Myers, Lenoir, Mrs. William Alexander, Wilkes county and Mrs. W. E. Sink, Winston-Salem; and one brother, Sam G. Woodruff, Terra Haute, Ind.

Due to the fact that the funeral for George B. Yokley, husband of a daughter of Mrs. Henderson has already been set for Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Henderson funeral will be held Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Wallburg Baptist church. The body will remain at Vogler's Funeral Chapel until 9:15 o'clock Sunday morning when it will be removed to the church at Wallburg to lie in state from 10 o'clock to 10:30 o'clock, the hour for the service.

Rev. L. J. Matthews will be in charge of the service. Burial will be in the church graveyard. Pallbearers will be C. L. McGee, James and Welborn Bolling, Archie and Kelly Reeves, C. A. Alexander, L. R. Willard and Harvey Neal. Flowerbearers will be granddaughters.

Manufacturer Of Soap Gets Big Pay

Washington.—A soap manufacturer shoved aside all the fabulously paid motion picture colony to rank as the nation's highest paid corporation employee in 1938.

The $469,713 salary and bonus of F. A. Countway, president of Lever Brothers Company in Massachusetts, topped all others in last year's corporate income tax returns.

Under a new law the treasury made public today the names of those who received more than $75,000, instead of $15,000 as in past years. This change cut the line from 50,000 to an even 400.

The list was not, however, a "400" of the nation's wealthiest people, because it excluded income from dividends or other sources not called "compensation." Thus names like Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller Jr., do not appear, at all.

Thomas J. Watson, head of International Business Machines Corporation, ranked second with $453,440 and not until sixth place did Actress Claudette Colbert's $301,944 appear as the best that Hollywood could do.

Millers Creek Is Beaten By Lions

North Wilkesboro's high school's Mountain Lions looked good Friday night in defeating Millers Creek 27 to 19 on the latter's court.

The Lions enjoyed a one-point lead at the end of the first quarter but the lead was wiped out and the score stood at 10-10 at halftime. It was only 17-14 at the end of the third but the rally came in the final quarter when North Wilkesboro boys finally found the baskets with a reasonable percentage of their tries. The Lions will play Granite Falls here on Thursday night, 7:30 o'clock, and all basketball fans are asked to be present.

Lineup and scores of Friday night's game follows:
N. Wilkesboro 27 19
Steelmen 2
Dancy
Kerley 5
Williams
Robnett 14
Campbell
Craven
Haigwood 6
Referee, Nichols; scorer, Cragan; Clement, timekeeper.

Health Officer Praises Highway Forces For Efforts

Raleigh.—"The State Highway and Public Works Commission, of which Frank L. Dunlap is the Chairman, has rendered a valuable service in its one hundred per cent cooperation in the task of, really and fundamentally, getting at the bottom of the venereal disease problem as it affects our prison population," declared Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer, following publication of the results of a study that extended over several months and was thorough in its application to every camp in the State's prison system.

"To be able to render non-infectious this group of men and women who present one of our greatest social problems means more than the mere fact that its members are to receive uninterrupted treatment until cured," Dr. Reynolds continued. "It also means that an unknown quantity has become a known quantity and that at least one gap in the line of march aimed at the eradication of venereal diseases has been filled.

"Furthermore, this successful achievement by the State Prison authorities, in cooperation with the State Board of Health, emphasizes the importance of carrying this study into the purely local jails and other detention houses. The prostitute, whether public or clandestine, sooner or later 'runs into the law'. We know that the prostitute is one of the surest carriers, and so long as she escapes examination and enforced treatment, just so long will she remain a public menace. Extension of the study that has just been made in our State prison camps to local prisons will get at the bottom of this matter, too."

Meetings Being Held AAA Committeemen

"Ask your county or community committeemen" will be the advice given farmers who have problems concerning the Triple-A program when a series of meetings now in progress in the State have been concluded. The 4,700 AAA committeemen in North Carolina are being trained to better administer the Federal farm program, E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer of State College, explained.

The time and place of each meeting will be announced locally by the county farm agent, Floyd said. In addition to the committeemen, other agricultural workers in the counties are being invited to attend the meetings and learn about the Triple-A program.

These include home demonstration agents, assistant farm and home agents, vocational teachers, and representatives of the Farm Security Administration, the Soil Conservation Service, Production Credit Association, Farm Credit Administration, and Seed Loan divisions.

Floyd said that discussions by Extension specialists in forestry, dairying, agronomy, and horticulture are features of the meetings in several of the counties. Specialists R. W. Grøeber, J. A. Arey, E. C. Blair, and H. R. Niswonger are attending the meetings in Wake, Stanly, Randolph, Watauga, Ashe, Davie, Gaston, Clay, Cherokee, and Iredell counties. Specialists W. J. Barker, A. O. Kimsry, L. T. Weeks, and L. P. Watson are assisting with the meetings in Beaufort, Wilson, Jones, Sampson, Columbus, Person, Rockingham, Martin, Hertford, and Hoke counties.

Hunt Missing Wilkes Teacher

Drowning Victim At Key West May Be A. J. Pardue Of Roaring River

Hamlet, Jan. 18.—The search for A. J. Pardue, Laurel Hill school teacher, who has been missing since he left December 19 for his home in Roaring River to spend the Christmas holidays with his family, turned southward to Key West, Fla., today when members of the Pardue family learned that the body of a man has been found in a pool there, bound hand and foot, and swollen almost beyond recognition.

Pardue's plan when he left Laurel Hill was to stop over with friends in Greensboro for a few days and proceed to Roaring River. When he failed to show up at the home on Christmas day, a search was made in the vicinity of Hamlet, Laurinburg, and Laurel Hill in an effort to secure some clue. However, these efforts produced nothing. The family still refused to give up hope and expressed the opinion that he possibly changed his plans and went elsewhere for his mid-year vacation, and would return to his classes on January 1. He failed to do this and a brother, Eugene Pardue, instructor at the University of North Carolina, spent some time around Laurel Hill trying to get a line on the whereabouts of the missing man but could not find trace of him or his automobile, a 1937 Dodge sedan.

Hamlet police officials received a message from authorities at Key West last Thursday that Henry Hatch, former man who was working in Florida, had been found drowned in a pool there. However, it was later discovered that this was a case of mistaken identity as Hatch was found to have enlisted in the army on January 7.

Members of the Pardue family called at the Hatch residence and admitted that there was a striking resemblance around the forehead. They expressed fear that the drowned man found in the Florida pool might be their son.

Federal and State authorities were notified and are working on the case.
