

Regulate Sale Rubbing Alcohol

Revenue Men Tell Provisions Of Law Which Has Now Become Effective

According to information given out by the U. S. treasury department and released locally by revenue agents of the alcohol tax unit, the new law relative to sale of rubbing alcohol does not prohibit the sale for legitimate uses but will restrict and regulate sales of the liquid for external use only.

Excerpts from the treasury department statement follow:

"Rubbing alcohol compound, as referred to in these regulations, shall mean any product manufactured with specially denatured alcohol and represented to be a rubbing alcohol compound. The sale of this product by the manufacturer, or wholesale druggist, must be made directly, or through his employees, only to wholesale or retail druggists, and to purchasers who acquire the product for legitimate external use and not for resale, such as hospitals, sanitoriums, clinics, turkish baths, athletic associations, physicians, dentists, veterinarians, et cetera. This product may also be sold by retail druggists to any of the foregoing or in retail quantities only to other persons for external use. Sales to such other persons by retail druggists must be made through a registered pharmacist who will, at the time of sale, write or stamp across the brand label in contrasting colors the words "Sold by" followed by his (the pharmacist) name and the address of the retail drug store where the sale is made.

"A manufacturer, wholesale druggist, retail druggist, or any other person shall not sell rubbing alcohol compound for use, or for sale for use, for beverage purposes, nor shall he sell such product under circumstances from which it might reasonably appear that it is the intention of the purchaser to procure the product for use, or for sale for use, for beverage purposes. Any person who shall sell rubbing alcohol compound in violation of these regulations shall be subject to all provisions of law pertaining to alcohol that is not denatured, including those requiring the payment of tax thereon, and the person so selling the rubbing alcohol compound shall be required to pay such tax and special tax as a dealer in liquors.

"The manufacturer shall package rubbing alcohol compound in the bottles in which it is to be sold to the ultimate consumer. Such bottles shall not exceed one pint in capacity and shall bear a brand label and a caution notice placed thereon by the manufacturer. No other person shall place a label or notice thereon."

Stocks of rubbing alcohol now in the possession of persons other than those entitled to sell it under the foregoing regulations may be sold for external uses only.

3rd-Term Backers Ohio Get Setback

Donahey Refuses To Be Stalking Horse For Roosevelt's Forces

Washington. — A battle for Ohio's big delegation to the Democratic national convention between Vice President Garner, Senator Wheeler (D), Mont., and supporters of a third term for President Roosevelt took shape Monday as the result of a whirlwind series of events.

At the same time, with many an approving word, Republicans in Congress hastened to support the tentative platform submitted by the Glenn Frank committee. An effort was obviously on to back the program with a united party, despite any minor individual disagreements with its recommendations.

Behind the Ohio developments lay a situation which found the leaders of the regular Democratic organization ardently supporting the draft-Roosevelt movement. They had chosen Senator Donahey to enter the presidential preference primary on May 14 as a "favorite son" candidate, but with the understanding that at the right time he would free the delegation to vote for Mr. Roosevelt's renomination.

But Donahey, who has opposed important new deal measures and has, moreover, been a close friend of Vice President Garner, refused today to be put in the role of a stalking horse for the third-term movement.

"I appreciate the honor tendered me . . . but in good conscience I am compelled to reject same," he said, adding that "acceptance would be subterfuge."

G.O.P. Flayed By Doughton

Says Program Is Aid To Farmers; Praises Secretary Hull

Washington.—Flaying Republican "grab-fast" tariff policies, Representative Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina Monday opened the fight to extend the reciprocal trade agreements program—perhaps the most crucial administration issue of the present Congress—with a ringing defense of the program and praise for Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Pulling no punches, the Tar Heel chairman of the ways and means committee waded into the Republican opposition with charges that they sought to end the reciprocal trade program because it cut off their main source of campaign revenue by ending special favors in the way of tariff benefits.

With Doughton's opening blast, a debate that will rage throughout the week was launched with Democratic leaders confidently predicting victory when the roll is called late this week.

Doughton bitterly assailed the "log-rolling, back-scratching, callamitous tariff policies pursued by Republican administrations" and told the House that the present administration has "met the issue squarely" when faced by economic collapse, it had undertaken the reciprocal trade agreements program.

Benefit to Farmers
Preparing to meet the spearhead of the opposition attack on the program, Doughton staunchly maintained that the trade agreements have been of great benefit to the farmers of the nation, and warned that a return to the G. O. P. Hawley-Smoot tariff would bring ruin to the American farmer as well as industry.

The 72-minute speech before a crowded House was ended with the heaping of praise upon the head of Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

"I cannot conclude my remarks in support of this farsighted and extremely beneficial program without rendering tribute to one man, above all others, whose statesmanship, broad experience, vision, foresight, tact and perseverance have made the administration of the reciprocal trade program so successful," Doughton said. "In my opinion, the Honorable Cordell Hull is one of the greatest secretaries of state this nation has ever produced. His outstanding public service, and untiring, intelligent efforts to improve our relations with other countries, specially entitles him to the unanimous acclaim of every citizen, not only of our own country, but of all the nations of the world."

His Record a Monument
"He has earned, and has been given a place in the minds and hearts of his countrymen that will remain so long as our nation endures. Statesman, scholar, thinker and man of action, his record will stand as a monument which neither the passage of time nor the achievements of others can ever dim or destroy."

State College Answers Timely Farm Question

Question: Is it too early to plant garden crops in the open?

Answer: Spring plantings in the open depend primarily on the temperature requirements of the different crops. The hardy crops such as cabbage, kale, mustard, lettuce, parsley, spinach, onions, and the smooth-seeded garden peas will stand hard frosts and may be planted in the open six to eight weeks before danger of killing frost is over. Crops classed as half-hardy such as asparagus, beets, celery, turnips, radishes, chard, cauliflower, and Irish potatoes will stand light frosts, but usually should not be planted until three or four weeks before the date of the last killing frost. All warm season crops should not be planted until all danger of frost is past.

Question: How can the small worms that up-root tobacco plants be controlled in the plant bed?
Answer: These insects are easily controlled by an application of naphthalene flakes applied at the rate of one and one-half pounds to the 100 square yards of bed. From one to three applications should be made with treatments about a week apart. When applied just before a strong wind the treatment should be repeated as soon as possible as the wind will blow the naphthalene gas out of the bed as soon as it is formed.
