ing from an internal carbunkle on his arm which has given him a great deal of pain, but he is reported to be improving and will probably be at home in the next few days. Mr. Foster is an expert mechanic and operates a garage in the village. Mr. Sanford Fairchilds, prominent local merchant has been confined to his room for several days with sinus trouble. Carl Davis, son of Mrs. Walter Davis suffered a rather severe injury to his arm a few days ago when he shivered the bone at his wrist while jumping.

The school closed Saturday, April 27th, with appropriate exercises the chief feature being the very fine address by Rev. Chas. Holland, of Taylorsville. Mr. Holland spoke very fittingly and directed his remarks mostly to the seventh grade graduates. His subject was the "Forks of the Road." In his discourse he pointed out to the graduates that they were so to speak at the parting of the ways and were at liberty to take either way they chose. He pictured the two roads as right and wrong. The right road would not always look the brightest at the beginning but as they went along over coming difficulties and solving problems the way would become constantly brighter. The wrong road on the other hand might look bright at first with all kinds of glittering temptations to mislead them, but these false allurements would soon fade away leaving them helpless. Mr. Holland said further that it was better to fail in a cause that was right and would ultimately triumph than to succeed in a cause that was wrong and would ultimately fail. Quite a number of pupils received certificates for graduating into the high school next year and a large number received certificate for meritorious conduct, perfect attendance, scholarship, etc. Prof. C. B. Eller was also present and made some very appropriate remarks.

Miss Louise Moore, of Dazell, S. C., who has been visiting her aunt, Miss Janie Spicer, for several days, returned home last week.

Mr. H. C. Wheeling, prominent merchant at the old Elkville stand had the misfortune of having his store robbed some days ago. Quite a bit of cash and merchandise were taken.

Mr. H. H. Hartley, who has been sick some time does not improve very much, we regret to learn. The unusual cool weather has been very hard on people, especially as to colds, sore throat, etc.

Mr. Dana Triplett happened to a very unfortunate accident Monday while fencing. He stuck a tick into his ear which punctured the ear drum. He was taken to the Dula hospital in Lenoir for treatment. Mrs. Triplett has also been sick for several days.

The Home Demonstration club will meet at the home of Miss Deulah Ferguson, Thursday afternoon. The demonstration will be on refinishing of floors and a good attendance is expected. Miss McGoogan, home agent, will be present.

Among those attending the graduation exercise at the Wilkesboro high school last Tuesday night were Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Parkie Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ferguson, Miss Ina Hayes and Miss Jewell Ferguson (now Mrs. Roy Jones) were seniors this year and were among those graduating. Dr. Erwin, State Superintendent, delivered the annual address which was reported to be very fine.

Homer Carlton, Jr., had an automobile accident last week between his home and Wilkesboro when his car turned turtle with him due, it is said, to soft sand or dirt in the highway. Fortunately he escaped without injury, but the car was considerably damaged.

The Thomas Barlow old home has recently been torn down and salvaged by Mr. George Hartley preparatory to building a modern bungalow we understand. This old house was constructed over fifty years ago by the late J. Z. Barlow. This reminds us that Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barlow and children, and his mother, Mrs. J. Z. Barlow, of Buckner, Va., were welcome visitors here some days ago. It had been several years since they had visited this this old home community. Mrs. Hazel Rowe, and Mrs.

"BISCUIT EATER"

In the face of his dad's Richard Lane—conviction that the pup is a "biscuit eater," a hunting dog not worth his keep, little Billy Lee pits his own judgment—and eventually supplies amazing supporting testimony. It's all part of the Paramount drama, "The Biscuit Eater," opening Monday at the Liberty Theatre.

'Biscuit Eater' Tells Southern Sports Story

A moving, down-to-earth story about life in the Georgia sporting country—with a grand boy and an equally grand dog as its central characters—is told in "The Biscuit Eater," Paramount's new screen drama, which is scheduled for its local opening next Monday at the Liberty Theatre.

Translated directly to the screen from James Street's popular Saturday Evening Post story, which millions read and loved, "The Biscuit Eater" tells of a boy who lavishes his affection on an outcast puppy, performs the amazing feat of turning him into a blue ribbon champion and faces a terrible dilemma when he realizes that the success of his dog will spell disaster for his own family. Billy Lee, Paramount's talented ten-year-old actor, plays Street's lovable boy character, Lonnie McNeil, supported by Cordell Hickman, Helene Millard, Richard Lane and Lester Matthews.

Lonnie gets his first chance to have a dog of his own when a despised runt turns up in a prize litter. He convinces his father, the manager of a huge Georgia dog-raising plantation, to let him keep the dog and sets out to make a champ of it!

The puppy gives the boy one disappointment after another, but his master sticks by him. Even when the situation looks blackest, after the dog robs the chicken coop, is labelled with the disgraceful tag of "biscuit eater" and even teaches the other hounds his bad habits, Lonnie remains his friend and protector! Just as Lonnie has raised his large to the point where he seems likely to win the coveted field championship, tragedy strikes in the person of a rich Yankee who buys the plantation managed by the elder McNeil. Determined to turn the farm to the raising of horses, the northerner will only be convinced that there is profit and prestige in dog-raising if the plantation's official entry wins the field trials. This means that Lonnie's dog must "show" the contest in favor of another candidate, and the boy is torn between his love for his dog and his devotion to his parents.

It is estimated that speed was responsible for more than 8,000 traffic fatalities in the United States last year.

GLAMOUR GUY!

He's beautiful. Sure. Look at that profile. Look at those eyes. But more than that, he's got the heart of a thoroughbred. Who is he? He's "Promise," the hero of the greatest dog story ever printed in The Saturday Evening Post... the drama of two boys who fight the whole world for the love of the dog which loves them.
