KNOW YOUR BANK

Does a Banker Grant a Favor When He Makes a Loan?

NO. Profits are essential to sound banking, and a bank's profits come through having its loanable funds employed. Credit is part of a bank's stock in trade, and so the banker is as eager to extend credit through making sound loans as a merchant is to sell his goods.

The prospective borrower should no more hesitate to request a loan for a sound purpose than he would hesitate to purchase a suit of clothes. By borrowing from the bank he becomes a purchaser of credit and the bank becomes a seller of credit.

The chief difference between the banker and the merchant is that the banker does not sell the funds outright, but merely sells their use. Consequently he must use care in granting a loan because the money he lends belongs to the bank's depositors.

COMPLETE SERVICE For All BUICK OWNERS

All through the years, when better cars were built BUICK has built them. Today is no exception to that rule. The local Buick dealership is home-owned—you deal with folks you know and can trust for a square deal. Come in and get an appraisal value on your present car in exchange for a new Buick. Our liberal allowance will interest you and make it easy to trade.

We are Buick dealers in North Wilkesboro and adjoining towns not having a Buick dealer, and will be pleased to demonstrate to anyone interested either in a straight sale or trade.

Before you trade, be sure to get our figures. They have already proved worth-while to many—they will meet with your approval, too.
