

LaGuardia Gives "Foreign Correspondent" At Liberty Theatre Rated As A Great Triumph

New York.—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia announced his support of President Roosevelt last night and said Senator George W. Norris (Ind), Neb., would serve as honorary chairman of "an independent committee for Roosevelt."

The mayor disclosed his position in a broadcast over NBC-WFAP, the time for which was paid for by the Democratic national committee. A consistent supporter of new deal policies, LaGuardia recently was appointed by the President as chairman of the U. S. section of the joint American - Canadian defense board.

Norris, termed by LaGuardia "the outstanding leader of all of us independents and progressives," was chairman of the "National Progressive League for Roosevelt as President" in Mr. Roosevelt's first campaign eight years ago.

A highly colorful and dramatic event in motion picture history opens Thursday at the Liberty Theatre where Walter Wanger's latest film production, "Foreign Correspondent," was given a spectacular premiere under the auspices of United Artists. Brilliantly directed by Alfred Hitchcock, master of screen mystery and suspense, "Foreign Correspondent" must be put down by this reviewer as the thrill spectacle of the year, a motion picture which unreels gripping drama, breath-taking excitement, red-blooded romance and high-pitched intrigue.

"Foreign Correspondent" is played brilliantly by a top-notch cast headed by Joel McCrea, Laraine Day, George Sanders, Robert Benchley, Albert Basserman and Herbert Marshall. Its story, which unwinds on the screen with amazing speed and tempo, keeping the audience on tenterhooks, concerns a crime reporter on a New York daily who is dispatched to Europe to dig up facts. The reporter, played masterfully by Joel McCrea, digs up more than he bargains for, cracking open an international intrigue that has never before been matched on the screen for thrills and excitement.

Unfortunately, there is not enough space in this column to fully describe the magnificent job of direction turned in by Mr. Hitchcock, who has already electrified the screen with such previous hits as "Rebecca," "The 39 Steps," "The Lady Vanishes" and "The Man Who Knew Too Much." Too much praise cannot be given to Walter Wanger for the excellence and lavishness with which he has endowed the production of "Foreign Correspondent." Nor is it merely prediction to mention in passing that this new Hitchcock thriller will keep audiences glued to their seats as they participate in the action on the screen, until at the climax, they limp with excitement.

A movement is already on foot in North Wilkesboro to build a good armory building to replace the one destroyed in the flood and to have it ready for occupancy when the guard returns from a year's training; provided that by that time the company is not called up for actual service in defense of the country or some other part of the western hemisphere.

Lieut. Robinson said today that persons desiring to join the company should make application immediately before full strength is reached.

Extension Part State College Enrollment 3,127

Raleigh, Sept. 7.—A total of 3,127 adults enrolled during the last fiscal year in studies provided by the State College Extension Division, Director Edward W. Ruggles announced today.

Enrollment was divided as follows: extension classes, 954; correspondence courses, 1,315; and short courses, 845.

Short courses on technical subjects showed a sizeable increase over 1933's total enrollment of 691. Courses were arranged for electrical contractors, plumbing and heating contractors, gas plant operators, truck operators, street superintendents, police photographers, surveyors, coal merchants, water works operators and men working with electric meters and relays and with oil burners. Fifty engineers from every section of the State attended the Engineers' Institute held last January during the heavy snow.

The institute for gas plant operators attracted 102 men to lead short course attendance. Registration in correspondence courses approximated the 1933 enrollment, while enrollment in extension classes dropped from 1,300.

State Democrats Prepare For Fight

11-Man Committee Will Advise Executive Committee During Campaign

Raleigh, Sept. 15.—An 11-man advisory committee—including at least one man from each of the four gubernatorial primary camps in last spring's campaign—was appointed today by Chairman E. B. Deany of the State Democratic Executive committee.

Headed by Monroe M. Redden of Hendersonville, the group will advise with the executive committee during the general election campaign now getting underway. State headquarters will open here tomorrow (at Hotel Sir Walter).

On Committee In addition to Redden, the committee is composed of Richard D. Dixon, clerk of the Chowan county Superior court; D. L. Ward of New Bern, speaker of the 1933 State House of Representatives; Dr. J. Y. Joyner of La Grange; Itomous Valentine of Nashville; Gordon Gray of Winston-Salem; Victor S. Bryant of Durham; Dickson McLean of Lumberton; H. Pat Taylor of Wadesboro; Burton Bostain of Rocky Hill; and R. Gregg Liberty of Gastonia.

J. Lee Wilcox of Lexington was named secretary of the committee. In picking the group, Deany and the gubernatorial nominees, J. M. Broughton said, they sought a committee "representative of the entire party."

A rally is planned in each congressional district, though the date of only one—for the 10th, September 26 in Morganton—has been set.

The campaign opened with a rally in Hendersonville September 7 and a similar meeting is planned for Eastern North Carolina at Lillington Saturday, when Broughton and former Governor Cameron Morrison will be the principal speakers.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS READY TO JOIN IN CAMPAIGN

Raleigh, Sept. 15.—North Carolina Young Democrats, with two days of oratory and fun-making behind them, were ready today to join their elders in the State and National election campaigns.

About 500 of them, gathered here for the annual State convention of the Young Democratic clubs Friday and Saturday, heard speeches by Senator J. W. Bailey, Governor Hoey, Gubernatorial Nominee J. M. Broughton, State Democratic Chairman Emory B. Deany, Rep. Richard M. Dawson of Mississippi and other State and National leaders.

There were impressive forecasts of victory for State and National tickets, this fall. The Young Democrats elected as their new president Ralph Webb Gardner of Shelby, member of the 1933 senate, son of former Governor O. Max Gardner and nephew of Governor Hoey. He succeeds Forrest Pollard of Durham.

Earnings And Soil Show Improvement

Income improvement and conservation of natural resources have gone hand in hand in North Carolina since 1933, according to Dr. I. O. Schaub, director of the State College Extension Service.

Under the first agricultural conservation program in 1935, approximately 195,000 Tar Heel farmers participated. Of the total cropland, about 67 per cent, or 4,969,000 acres, was covered by applications for payments. A total of 605,212 acres was diverted from soil-depleting crops.

Soil-building practices were put into effect on about 1,090,000 acres as follows: New seedlings of legumes and legume mixtures, perennial grasses for pasture, and green manure crops, 372,000 acres; soybean and clover seedlings, 19,700 acres; cover crops, 12,500 acres; and other practices, 119,000 acres.

North Carolina growers continued to participate in the AAA program. There were 192,240 receiving payments under the 1935 program and 201,144 under the 1936 program. Applications for payments covered 5,375,947 acres, or 65 per cent of the cropland in the State under the 1937 program, and 556,000 acres, or 82 per cent of the cropland, under the 1938 program.

In addition to the Agriculture Conservation Program, many North Carolina farmers have signed five-year agreements with the Soil Conservation Service for complete programs of erosion control and good land management. At the first of this year, 8,460 farms, including 989,000 acres, were operating under such agreements.
