Davis Being Held For His Father-In-Law

Authorities in Kinston say Samuel Davis of Sandy Bottom, near Kinston, was being held without bond in connection with the disappearance of his father-in-law, Louis Gaylor, a plumber of Kinston. Gaylor has been missing more than a week. Sheriff Samuel Churchill said the middle-aged Kinston man was in company with Davis early Sunday and no one could be found who had seen him since. Davis, the sheriff said, refused to say where he left Gaylor. There were reports that the men had been drinking and had engaged in an affray.

Heart On Right Side Saves Youths Life

Chicago.—John Mosley, 18, was alive yesterday because his heart happens to be on the right side. Stabbed during a quarrel, Mosley was still breathing when brought to the county hospital despite a wound three inches deep in the left side where his heart should have been. Puzzled physicians put him under a fluoroscope and found that his heart was on the right instead of the left side.
