Postmaster At Charlotte Will Be Indicted

Washington, June 5.—The law fell today on the Charlotte post office and caught Col. Paul R. Younts in its meshes, including the Mecklenburg political leader, in an order for immediate indictment proceedings before a Federal grand jury of several of the 14 employes on the charge of violation of Federal statutes that carry penalties of one to two years in the penitentiary, and fines of from $5,000 to $10,000. A climax came quick and fast here today in the 18-month-old political investigation which inspectors of the Civil Service commission and the Department of Justice carried on in the Charlotte post office.

Lamar Caudle, United States district attorney for the Western district of North Carolina, was summoned to Washington today by the Department of Justice from Ocean Drive, S. C., and given verbal instructions to present at once indictments to a United States grand jury in Judge Yates Webb's court for the Western district of North Carolina.

May Begin With Four It is generally understood that only four indictments will be at first presented and these against four persons who, when connected with the post office, allegedly violated the Federal corruption practices act and various other Federal statutes governing Federal employes, as to political activities.

Emerging from the Department of Justice today at noon, Mr. Caudle was asked the result of his conference with Justice department officials and made the following statement:

"I have been instructed by Wendell Berge, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, to present indictments to a Federal grand jury in connection with alleged violations of Federal laws on the part of certain employes in the Charlotte post office.

Questions Answered B. State College

Question: Is there still time to sign up in the voluntary food and feed program being conducted this year?

Answer: N. C. State College Extension Service officials have announced that the voluntary program will be held open until June 15 for farm families wishing to sign up and do their part in the food-for-defense program. Cards have been mailed to each of North Carolina's 278,000 farm families which they may sign and return to their county agent. The campaign is in no way compulsory.

Report On Draft In N. Carolina Given By Metts

Expressing pride in the smooth working machinery of the State Selective Service System, General J. Van B. Metts, State Director, today issued a statement showing the results accomplished through April 30, 1941.

Out of a total of 454,335 registrants (of whom 326,358 are white and 128,977 are negro), classification has been completed for 130,141. Of this number, 24,108 have been found available for general or limited military service; 1,963 have been deferred on account of being necessary men in their civilian occupations; 94,290 have been deferred because they have dependents; and 9,780 have been deferred for other reasons.

Of interest is the fact that 26 registrants have been found to be conscientious objectors and therefore deferred; 38 men have been deferred because they are aliens; 424 have been deferred because they are ministers or divinity students. Out of 29,226 physically examined, 5,069 have been rejected.

Out of a total of 10,570 men delivered to the induction station, 1,786 were rejected for various reasons.

A total of 9,629 men have volunteered. Of this number 5,356 were white and 4,273 negro. Men desiring to volunteer are not automatically accepted, but are required to be classified and will not be accepted unless they are finally placed in Class I-A. Of the total of 9,629 who applied for voluntary induction, 3,795 have actually been classified and only 6,196 have been placed in I-A.

The State has a pool of 6,193 men who have been physically examined and placed in Class I-A and are awaiting induction, and

Questions Answered By State College

Question: How should hay be cured?

Answer: Hay should be cured so as to preserve the leaves and the natural green color. Likewise, damage from dew, rain, and mold should be avoided. Hay should not be left long on the ground after cutting, but raked into small windrows when the leaves begin to wilt. This is usually after three to four hours of bright sunshine. Windrows of heavy crops should be turned over again with the rake later in the afternoon. The side delivery rake and the hay tedder are excellent implements for stirring and hastening the curing of heavy hay crops.

New N.Y.A. Camp To Be In Durham

Youths of Wilkes county who are rejected by the local Selective Service Board due to physical defects and the other physically sub-par youths will be given an opportunity to improve their physical condition while receiving experience for jobs in vital defense industries in the National Youth Administration's new center at Durham, which will be opened June 16.

The Durham camp will be the first of its type in the United States for the rehabilitation of men rejected by Selective Service Boards for physical reasons.

Applications for enrollment in the Durham camp are being accepted through the local NYA office.

John A. Lang, State NYA Administrator, who announced establishment of the resident center at Durham, said a second camp will be opened in about two months at Madison, Wisconsin.

The new NYA center will provide opportunities for young men between the ages of 16 and 24 inclusive, in work experience, related training, physical improvement, and supervised recreation. The major emphasis at these centers is preparation for private employment in National Defense industries.

A wage scale of $35 per month has been approved and the personnel of the first group is now being selected. Each youth will receive $12 in cash, with $23 being paid the center for board and living quarters, board, room, medical and dental services, and the opportunity to learn a skilled trade will be provided all youths enrolled in the center.

Work experience will be provided in woodwork, sheet metal, machine shop, auto mechanics, and radio repair.

Late Started Chicks Require Special Care

Contrary to a common belief, late started chicks can be raised successfully even though it is admitted that cooler weather might be more ideal, says C. F. Parrish, extension poultryman of N. C. State College.

However, to achieve this success, a few fundamental essentials must be adhered to. For instance, the grower should start with quality chicks, preferably those produced in North Carolina. If broilers are desired, U. S. Approved Pullorum Passed or Clean chicks should be bought. In purchasing layers, the poultryman should check on the chicks' parents.

Another essential is a suitable house, that is, one that can be opened up, properly ventilated, and of ample size to care for the brood. For summer, the size of the brood should be reduced 25 per cent. In other words, the grower should keep 75 chicks where he would normally brood 100.

For litter, any material will prove satisfactory if it is highly absorbent, not relished by poultry, and available locally. Crushed corn cobs, sand, shavings, straw, sawdust, and similar materials may be used. Regardless of the material selected, it should be changed when it becomes damp and dirty.

A lantern or a 15-watt bulb kept burning in the brooder house at night will make for faster growth, reduce crowding, and curtail thievery.

Any type feeder that tends to reduce waste and from which the chicks can eat readily is satisfactory. Waterers that supply an ample amount of fresh clean water at all times are also necessary for chick-raising.
