

Rose Wins 500-Miles Indianapolis Speedway Classic

Driving his teammate's car from 11th place to a spectacular victory in one of the most dramatic races ever held at the historic Indianapolis Speedway, Mauri Rose won his first 500-mile race on May 30. Starting the race in the coveted pole position by reason of his highest qualifying speed of 128.691, Rose was well up with the leaders when his car developed engine trouble after 155 miles and was forced out of the race. Lou Moore, owner of the car which Rose had been driving, asked Rose to relieve Floyd Davis, who was driving another one of Moore's cars and Rose drove to victory at an average speed of 115.117 miles per hour without a tire change or tire trouble of any kind. This was the 22nd consecutive year that Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in this great race. One by one, Rose passed the other cars in the race until he had his car in 4th position. At the 380 mile mark a broken wheel eliminated Wilbur Shaw, defending champion and three-time winner, who was leading the race at that point. Driving spectacularly around the turns and brilliantly on the straightaways, Mauri Rose soon overtook the other leading cars and swept across the finish line in a final burst of speed. After completing an extra lap around the 2 1/2 mile track, Rose pulled into the pits to let Floyd Davis drive the winning car into victory lane. Davis, however, already was waiting in the winner's pen to congratulate Rose on his remarkable exhibition of driving. This is only the second time in the history of the Indianapolis Sweepstakes that two drivers have shared the championship as co-winners. Rex Mays, popular California driver, won second place money for the second consecutive year. He was followed across the finish line by Ted Horn, Halph Heppburn and Cliff Bergere, in that order, all of them riding on Firestone tires.
